JUDGE REBUKES HARRIS TRANSIT SECURITY GROUP

Orders Vote on New Franchise Plan.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday turned down the request by powerful surface lines' interests that the city's transit unification ordinance be rejected, and asserted that the ordinance will be submitted to a vote of the 75,000 securities holders of the surface and elevated lines.

The court ordered the transit lines' representatives to reach complete agreement by Sept. 9 on a financial merger plan that will be presented to the securities holders along with the city's ordinance. If an agreement is not reached by then, Judge Igoe said, the court will take the matter into its own hands by preparing a financial plan and submitting it directly to the securities holders.

Spanking for Harris Group.

The judge's statement, prepared in advance and read at an open court hearing on the unification dispute, was regarded as a spanking for the surface lines' largest securities committee, headed by Albert W. Harris, Chicago banker.

The Harris committee, which represents $41,700,000 of first mortgage bonds, last week in a report to Judge Igoe termed the city's traction ordinance unacceptable. The group argued that combined earnings of the surface lines and the money losing elevated lines would be insufficient to raise funds to carry out the 102 million dollar modernization program set out in the city's plan.

Judge Igoe's statement recalled that Chicago's efforts since 1929 have been pointed toward unified transportation and that all securities groups of the transit lines agreed in February, 1939, upon a financial reorganization plan for a unified company—the so-called Shaw plan. On the basis of this plan, the court added, unified traction ordinance was finally adopted last month by the city council and approved by the management officials of both the surface and elevated lines.

Benefits to Bondholders.

The first mortgage bondholders of the surface lines have received benefits, including the regular payment of 5 per cent interest, on their representation that the Shaw merger plan was acceptable, the court said.

"It is difficult to see how, having accepted the benefits granted upon assurance that the [merger] plan would be accepted, these securities holders can now repudiate the plan," Judge Igoe said. "The question here presented is more than one of business policy. Essentially it is one of good faith and fair dealing with the court."

Believe Course Is Consistent.

Altho no answer to Judge Igoe's criticism was forthcoming last night, it is understood that the members of the Harris committee feel that their course has been consistent thruout. Harris for years has contended that a reorganization of the surface lines, omitting the elevated entirely, would make possible many improvements and would be in the best interests of 80 per cent of all passengers carried by the street cars.

In June he said he was not surprised when the Reconstruction Finance corporation refused to lend the proposed merged transportation company millions for modernization, holding that such an advance would be a "bad loan."

Mayor Kelly declared yesterday that in his opinion action on the elevated lines' request for a boost in fares from 10 to 12 cents should await the outcome of the unification program. The mayor said under a unified system higher fares may not be required.

BRITISH VESSELS TO USE HALF OF U. S. REPAIR YARDS

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—Admiral S. M. Robinson, chief of the bureau of ships, told the house naval committee today that as much as 50 per cent of existing naval yard repair facilities would be devoted to repair of British war vessels when the program gets under full steam.

Under questioning he said repair of British vessels was definitely slowing down ship construction in some yards because of shortage of labor and facilities. He did not say how many ships were involved.

However, he disclosed the navy had ordered 71 motor torpedo boats but after deliveries to the British would have only 28 or 30 left for America.

Thief! Shrieks Ma Bluejay to Helping Hand

New York, July 11 [Special]. — Brooklyn, where the whole populace screams "Thief!" at the umpire every time the Dodgers play ball, is a good place for a bluejay to set up housekeeping. All authors of bedtime stories agree that bluejays do nothing but shriek "Thief! Thief!"

It is suitable to report, therefore, that a mother bluejay who came to nest with her mate last spring in a maple on Wyona street h conformed to the Brooklyn tradition, with this difference: She thinks all residents of Brooklyn are thieves.

Makes Forced Landing.

Ma Jay nudged her four little ones out of the nest last evening and told them to earn their wings. Two of the fledglings negotiated a successful flight. Another crashed and fell victim to a terrier. The fourth sailed weakly to the sidewalk and lay there fluttering its wings.

Six helpful Brooklynites advanced in turn with the charitable intention of lifting the youngster back into its nest. Reverting to type, Ma Jay began screaming insinuations that they were all kidnapers. Squawking and beating her wings, she beat them back with her bitter beak.

"Like a Stuka," said Harry Nochinson, who was cut on the forehead, and everybody agreed this was fittingly descriptive.

This morning 300 more Brooklyn bourgeois gathered. Ma Jay, madder than ever, kept them at a safe distance, meanwhile feeding breakfast to the baby on 15 round trip flights to snare worms that rose betimes.

Takes on Entire Crowd.

Anthony Guarnieri, unmindful of the previous night's lesson, essayed returning the young jay to its home and got pecked for his pains. Ma Jay was now so angry she flew indiscriminately at the crowd.

Two squads of police and an ambulance from the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals arrived in the mistaken belief that the jay family was being abused. An agent for the SPCA, with a net on an eight-foot pole, eased the baby off the sidewalk, placed it in the ambulance, closed the door securely, fended off Ma Jay, and drove off to place the specimen in Prospect park zoo.

Ma Jay is still screaming "Thief!" at Brooklyn's millions. She thinks she has a good case.

PETRILLO ORDERS U. S. ANTHEM AT EVERY CONCERT

New York, July 11 (AP).—The 138,000 members of the American Federation of Musicians were instructed today to play "The Star Spangled Banner" before and after each performance at concerts, hotel, theater, and dance engagements. The instructions were sent out by James C. Petrillo, president of the federation, who estimated that the national anthem would be performed at least 20,000 times weekly in this metropolitan area alone.

FRANCE REJECTS SYRIA PEACE ON BRITAIN'S TERMS

Asserts Foe Seeks Outright Conquest.

Text of British armistice terms and map of Syrian war operations appear on page 4.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, July 11. — The French government today indignantly rejected Britain's conditions for an armistice in Syria, asserting that it not only found the terms inacceptable but would not deal with Britain's "Free French" allies, whom it branded "traitors to their country" who have been condemned to death by French military courts.

The belief was expressed here officially that London deliberately exacted unacceptable conditions because the British purpose is the outright conquest of Syria.

As Vichy rejected the peace terms, following a cabinet meeting attended by the North African commander, Gen. Maxime Weygand, who arrived here last night from Algiers, instructions were sent to Gen. Henri Dentz, high commissioner and military commander in Syria and Lebanon, to continue the struggle to the last cartridge. At the same time the French forces fell back around Beirut, besieged capital of Lebanon.

Hint Dents May Make Terms.

While Gen. Dentz was ordered to fight on, observers saw the possibility that he might be allowed to make his own terms when his military position becomes untenable. The note rejecting the British terms stated that "the French government is able to reply to the inacceptable conditions of the British note by placing confidence in Gen. Dentz that that glorious soldier will take the decisions made necessary by the situation on the spot."

It is believed the French especially resent that part of the British offer which shows the British and Gen. Charles de Gaulle's "Free French" intend to control the decisions of the Vichy soldiers as to whether they should be repatriated or join the allied forces. The British offer demanded that "as far as the French troops in Syria are concerned, full liberty must be given them to join the allied forces . . . at the same time the allies reserve the right to take proper measures to assure the liberty and sincerity of choice of each one."

Other Demands by Britain.

Further British demands were that railroads, ports, communications, and radio and gasoline installations must be turned over to the allies; all Germans or Italians must be handed over to be interned, as well as all warships in Beirut harbor, and all English prisoners must be freed. Against these demands, the British pledged they had no purpose in Syria other than to prevent its being used as an enemy base, and promised to restore the interned warships after the war "or their compensation will be guaranteed to united France."

The reference to a "United France" was seen as another barrier to acceptance of the British offer, officials here asserting Britain's espousal of the "Free French" movement is an obstacle to French unity.

From the scene of the fighting, Vichy's headquarters reported Australian units advancing northward on Beirut had been thrown back, but these later may have entered the Lebanese capital, for it was declared an open city. A British column moving westward from Palmyra was acknowledged to be about 30 miles from the strategic railhead of Homs.

[From Ankara, Turkey, came reports that German aerial transports had landed Vichy reënforcements from Greece at Aleppo, northern Syria. Authoritative Nazis in Ankara, however, denied the reënforcements were heavy and predicted Gen. Dentz's resistance would collapse "within three days."]

Vichy Forces in Retreat.

LONDON, July 11 (AP).—Reports reached here tonight that Vichy troops in northern Syria are retreating to Djerablous, on the Turkish border 80 miles northeast of Aleppo, as the British asserted they were closing in on Beirut and advancing also toward Aleppo and Homs.

[A delayed report from British held Damascus quoted a British officer as saying on Thursday that an Australian detachment had arrived in the immediate suburbs of Beirut.]

Closer to It Than You Think

(An Editorial)

One of the administration's war department bills, introduced without approval by Senator Robert R. Reynolds as chairman of the military affairs committee, provides that notwithstanding the provisions of any other law the President may "employ any and all members and units of the army of the United States . . . in such manner and in such places, either within or beyond the limits of the western hemisphere, as he shall deem necessary in the interests of defense."

No member of congress will deceive himself as to the meaning of that grant of authority. It plainly takes from the national legislature the power to preserve the nation's peace by refusing to declare war. It nullifies the constitutional prerogative of congress and removes an all important check upon a willful and ambitious chief executive.

If a President had the power to employ the American armed forces "in such manner and in such places" as he wished, the only restraint upon him would be the congressional control of the purse. Appropriations could be refused, but with an American force once engaged in a war abroad, with its fate dependent on supplies, the moral coercion to provide them would be supreme. Others of the war department bills propose to inflict upon the National Guard and the drafted men the intolerable bad faith of retaining them in service indefinitely—in spite of the previous acts of congress limiting their training to one year.

The new powers Mr. Roosevelt seeks in his quest of the military dictatorship over the country are to be exercised during any period which he proclaims one of unlimited national emergency. He has proclaimed such an emergency, altho it is meaningless in law, representing nothing more than his own edict. The already partly stupefied country did not much inquire where Mr. Roosevelt got the sanction to declare that he had more authority merely because he said he had it, and said he had it because of conditions which he said existed. His assumptions were accepted.

He has already made treaties and occupied territory with merely a nod to congress as he rode over it. He has nullified the constitutional requirement that he act upon the advice and consent of the senate. When he has done a thing he fulfills what he thinks is his full obligation to his oath of office by notifying congress that he has done so. The agreement Mr. Roosevelt negotiated with the prime minister of Iceland was submitted to the parliament of that little sovereign nation and ratified by a vote of 39 to 3, altho candor would compel the Icelanders to admit that it was only a formal action, the decision having been forced upon them by the British and the Americans, whether they liked it or not. However, it was, even as a formal recognition of parliamentary procedure, a great deal more than Mr. Roosevelt thought necessary.

Congress is committing suicide. It is not only killing itself, but it is killing the American system of government. It is going down the path taken by every legislative assembly in the countries which submitted to a Fuehrer and found itself his slave. There are disloyal Americans who are trying to put the nation in the British empire and make it a dominion in that monarchial system of government. There are other disloyal Americans who would add the United States to the communist union of sovietized subjects. The question of what the American republic will be under the military dictatorship which Mr. Roosevelt has established and seeks to extend will be decided by the 77th congress, and very soon.

If this congress abdicates, it will never regain its powers. The issue is very grave and is made graver because of the confusion in which so many of the people have been thrown and by the synthetic war hysteria produced by artful manipulation of emotions and fears. The propaganda which is driving the country to war and to the destruction of its free political and economic system is powerfully organized, with subsidized and purchased newspapers, and with access, under covert threat, to all the various chains of communications—all willingly or unwillingly playing their part to execute the great conspiracy.

Our polls show 80 per cent of the people against war and against dictatorship. At times they must think their form of government is utterly failing them when their opinions and their wishes, their good judgment and their common sense, prevail so little against Mr. Roosevelt's drive to accomplish his ends and impose his will. He rides down the good judgment of the people and by undermining and by direct assault he storms congress. The issue is with the congressmen. If they leave the American system of representative government an empty shell on Capitol hill, they will have destroyed this republic.

Icelanders See U. S. Armada Put July 7 in History Books

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, July 11 (AP).—Icelanders and the British garrison which has been here since May, 1940, caught their breaths today and agreed unanimously that they had witnessed history in the making—the arrival four days ago of United States forces.

On July 5 rumors first went around Reykjavik that the Americans were coming. The rumors drew no response for two days. Then, at 5 p. m. on Monday, July 7, a mighty convoy of warships, transports, and planes appeared on the horizon. It was the largest body of ships this ancient island ever had seen, and crowds quickly collected along shore to stare and comment.

Stay on Ships Overnight.

Americans with beaming faces crowded the ships' rails to shout cheerfully down at the watchers ashore. Excitement ran thru the British troops and they eagerly waited for a glimpse of the American equipment.

That night, however, the Americans remained on their ships.

On Tuesday morning, a British general with a guard of honor and a military band greeted the American general as he came ashore. Debarkation started at once.

Within an hour after the generals had clasped hands, the Americans were driving big trucks down the streets. British troops gathered to watch.

Troops Become Chummy.

The Americans moved to prepare quarters and after the two forces met informally in camps, canteens, offices, on the streets—anywhere that chance brought an American and a Briton face to face. The British commented with interest on the number of Americans who wore badges for superior marksmanship.

Now British soldiers can be seen guiding Americans thruout the shops or teaching them the scraps of Icelandic speech they have acquired.

Big Blow to Nazis, Says Red.

MOSCOW, July 11 (AP).—S. A. Lozovsky, vice commissar of foreign affairs, said today that the sending of United States forces to Iceland was "a painful blow" to Germany.

"It means that Mr. Roosevelt has dealt not his first and by far not his last blow," he said.

SENATORS QUIZ KNOX ON ACTION BY NAVY PATROL

Denies All Reports of Other Clashes.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox admitted at a closed session of the senate naval affairs committee today that an American destroyer has dropped depth charges over what its commander believed to be a German submarine.

The navy secretary denied all other reported incidents of shooting by the American naval and air forces in patroling the shipping lanes of the Atlantic ocean. When pressed for an unequivocal answer, Knox also denied that the navy has orders to shoot if necessary to clear the sea lanes of German war craft.

He emphasized, however, that President Roosevelt's order for the navy to insure open communications to Iceland and to all other "strategic outposts" on the other side of the Atlantic means just that, and intimated belligerently that the navy would know what to do if shooting should be necessary to accomplish its mission.

Wheeler Demands Information.

Knox testified in response to a resolution by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] calling upon the naval affairs committee to ascertain the truth of published charges that the navy already has been engaged in shooting warfare.

The only "shooting" incident acknowledged by Knox was related by Joseph Alsop and Robert Kintner, former New Deal newspaper columnists, in an article published on June 9, 1941. As set forth in the resolution, the article stated that an attack on what was believed to be a German submarine was actually made by an American destroyer.

"The destroyer, the name of which cannot be ascertained, was picking up survivors from a British vessel sunk not far from the coast of Greenland," the article continued. "While the operation was in progress the destroyer's detecting device announced the approach of a submarine. The submarine could only have been German. It was virtually certain to use its torpedoes, as semidarkness concealed the nationality of the American ship. And the commander of the destroyer accordingly dropped three depth charges."

Knox Substantiates Story.

Knox related the incident in substantially the same manner but emphasized that it was not known whether the depth charges sank the submarine.

Since the publication of an article reporting the attack on the submarine, Alsop, a distant cousin of President Roosevelt, has been commissioned a lieutenant, junior grade, in the naval intelligence—by Secretary Knox personally—and sent to Bombay as a naval observer. Kinter has been commissioned a lieutenant in the army and assigned to intelligence duty.

Knox emphatically denied a story by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen, two other New Deal columnists, that three American aircraft carriers, six destroyers, and three cruisers accompanied a British convoy across the Atlantic and that a destroyer dropped depth charges over a submarine which refused, when signaled by an aircraft carrier, to come to the surface.

Knox denied the truth of a statement by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson that "there can be small doubt . . . that we have already sunk Nazi submarines."

Denies Part in Bismarck Chase.

The secretary also denied unpublished reports that the American aircraft carrier Ranger participated and was damaged by German war planes in the naval action that resulted in the sinking of the German battleship Bismarck. The Bismarck eluded British warships after sinking the battle cruiser Hood, but was located by aircraft and disabled by an aerial torpedo. The reports denied by Knox were that the Ranger participated in the chase of the Bismarck, was damaged by a German bomb, and now is being repaired at the Norfolk navy yard.

Knox conceded that a naval air base is being constructed in Northern Ireland by American contractors, with American skilled workmen and with materials provided by the United States government under the so-called lend-lease program. He insisted, however, that the base is being constructed for the British government and is not intended for the use of the American navy.

Senators Robert A. Taft [R., O.] and John A. Danaher [R., Conn.] revealed in the senate yesterday that the base is being constructed. Senator Taft charged that it is intended for use eventually by the United States navy.

Senator Wheeler, leader of the senate noninterventionists, charged today that an officer or employé of the navy department was sent to Ireland ostensibly as a naval attaché to the American embassy in London but actually to help supervise construction of the base.

Members Pledged to Secrecy.

Members of the naval affairs committee pledged themselves to secrecy concerning Knox's testimony pending their approval of a public report to be drafted by Chairman David I. Walsh [D., Mass.]. The important details of Knox's testimony were revealed by committee members to other senators, however, and thus became known to reporters.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Senator Burton K. Wheeler (left) and Senator Robert A. Taft consult a globe showing North Atlantic sea lanes after the former asserted yesterday that a naval employe had been sent to oversee building of a base in Northern Ireland. Senator Taft first gave information of the construction in senate debate.

Questioned for Three Hours.

The navy secretary was accompanied by Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, who undertook at times to soften Knox's bellicosity and acquitted himself in a manner that won the commendation of committee members. Most of the questions, however, were directed to Secretary Knox, who was cross examined and lectured thruout a three hour session. Veteran senators told their colleagues that no cabinet officer has received such a hostile reception within their experience.

Not a member of the committee came to Knox's defense and at least two members who have consistently supported the administration's war policies questioned him adversely. These were Senators Allen J. Ellender [D., La.] and Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.].

Senator Lucas protested that British troops should be removed from Iceland, lest their presence invite attacks by German bombing planes and endanger the lives of the American troops on the island.

Knox told Lucas he would report his suggestion to the President.

Various members of the committee denounced Knox's activities, particularly his speech in Boston 10 days ago demanding that the United States "strike now" with its navy to "clear the Atlantic" of German war craft. Asked whether such views accorded with those of President Roosevelt, he said he did not know.

Knox Reported Evasive.

Members of the committee found it exceedingly difficult, they reported to colleagues, to get specific and unequivocal answers from Knox. He reiterated his own opinion that all necessary steps should be taken to insure the unmolested delivery of war munitions to Great Britain and interpreted President Roosevelt's message to congress of last Monday as meaning that the navy has such orders.

Knox apparently was somewhat less positive about shooting, however, than he was at a press conference two days ago, when he told reporters that President Roosevelt's orders certainly did call for shooting if necessary.

OPM OFFICIAL PREDICTS FOOD, STEEL SHORTAGE

Los Angeles, Cal., July 11 [Special].—Donald M. Nelson, director of purchases of the Office of Production Management, predicted today that there will be shortages of food as well as necessary rearmament materials before the arms program reaches a peak.

"We have been accustomed to thinking of abundance," Nelson said. "That supposed abundance does not exist nearly as broadly as we fondly thought. We are finding shortages in many important lines. Steel is one of the more important, and before this effort is over there will be shortages of food."

[Walter S. Tower, president of the American Iron and Steel institute, said Thursday the steel industry can produce considerably more steel than is needed for the American and British armament program.]

CRASHES STOLEN TRUCK.

Firemen worked for more than an hour yesterday to free Frank De Lucas, 32 years old, from the stolen truck he smashed into a trolley pole at 39th street and Wolcott avenue. He lives at 2554 West 45th street. He was taken to the Bridewell hospital.

ADMIT AMERICAN BUILDERS ARE AT WORK IN ULSTER

Discount Air Base Reports, but Keep Jobs Secret.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 11 (AP).—United States technicians and laborers are in Northern Ireland, building what officials merely term "certain works."

Authorities in Belfast and London allowed the cabling of this much information today. Hence it may now be told that these men are the idols of Ulster, altho it cannot be stated how long they have been here.

[It recently was announced that a New York contracting company, Merritt, Chapman and Scott, had been employed by the British government to do construction work in the British Isles.]

Bands Blare U. S. Anthem.

Belfast's bands are blaring "The Star Spangled Banner." The Americans reciprocate by spending money freely, sometimes handing out pound notes for tips under the impression that they are the equivalent of dollar bills. [The pound is pegged at about $4.] They celebrated the Fourth of July with a mass excursion to neutral Dublin, capital of Ireland.

The meager official statements about these men were issued here and in London today after London afternoon papers had splashed on their front pages stories that a naval air base is being constructed by 400 American technicians. The papers datelined these stories "New York."

The London foreign office statement began, however, with the assertion that reports of the establishment of an American air base in Northern Ireland "are not borne out by information available in London."

Called "British Employés."

It went on: "Some technicians and laborers from the United States are engaged in connection with certain works that are proceeding in Northern Ireland. All these, however, are direct employés of the British government."

Some persons mentioned the presence in Ulster of United States built Catalina [Consolidated] flying boats, which were bought by Britain. Belfast officials generally declined to discuss the subject.

Establishment of United States bases in this part of Britain "may be nearer than is realized," the Northern Whig and Belfast Post said today in an editorial, but added, "It is unfortunate that such premature revelations, whether true or not, should be made across the Atlantic."

[Wendell L. Willkie, after a conference with President Roosevelt Wednesday, suggested establishment of American bases in Northern Ireland and Scotland, but said he was speaking on his own responsibility. Thursday Senator Taft of Ohio asserted the United States was constructing air bases in both countries, and Senator Wheeler of Montana said cargoes of materials already had been sent to Northern Ireland and Scotland to build United States naval bases.]

PUSH USO DRIVE TOWARD $400,000 MARK IN CHICAGO

The United Service organizations, campaigning to collect $679,500 in the Chicago area to be used in providing recreational facilities for the armed forces, yesterday were concentrating on efforts to boost total contributions to $400,000 by this week-end. It was announced that 11 of the 40 suburban communities in the metropolitan area have passed their full quotas.

Britain Prepares to Draft Miners in Coal Shortage

LONDON, July 11.—Failure of coal miners to answer the government's appeal to go back to the pits has resulted in the introduction of compulsory legislation to carry thru the increased production program. By compelling the return of miners between 20 and 60 years old who were employed in industry for six months or more since Jan. 1, 1935, it is hoped to get 25,000 men back to the pits to push production to 250,000 or 300,000 tons weekly.

N. Y. NEIGHBORS OF F. D. R. VOTE AGAINST WAR

New York, July 11 [Special].—President Roosevelt's nearest neighbors in Dutchess county joined in the state-wide anti-war chorus to the tune of 167 to 80 today as ballots cast in the New York News poll reached and passed the 100,000 mark—a 10 per cent sample showing the opinion of more than 1,000,000 of the state's voters.

Out of 103,244 postcard ballots tallied up to tonight, 71,390 were marked "No," and 31,854 "Yes" on the question: "Shall the United States enter the war to help Britain defeat Hitler?" During the day the anti-war share of the ballots crept up from 69.0 per cent to 69.1 per cent, with the pro-war percentage at 30.9.

Following are the state-wide results to date:

	YES Votes.	Per cent.	NO Votes.	Per cent.
Upstate totals	6,960	27.5	18,320	72.5
City totals	24,894	31.9	53,070	68.1
State-wide totals	31,854	30.9	71,390	69.1

Initial returns from the President's home county gave the interventionists only 32.4 per cent. The President's home village of Hyde Park split, 7 to 3, against war. "Some people don't keep their campaign promises," was the comment of one "No" voter there.

FIGHTING FOR PEACE

In a speech last Nov. 1, President Roosevelt said:

"I am fighting to keep this nation prosperous and at peace. I am fighting to keep our people out of foreign wars, and to keep foreign conceptions of government out of our United States."

Last Nov. 4, on the eve of his third term re-election, the President said:

"Across the seas life has gone underground. I think I speak the minds of all of you when I say that we thank God that we live in the sunlight and the starlight of peace—that we are not in war, and that we propose and expect to continue to live our lives in peace—under the peaceful light of heaven."

POLL GIVES WAR AN EDGE IN ONLY 2 ILLINOIS CITIES

80.66% Are Opposed in State-Wide Tally.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Slight majorities for intervention were cast yesterday in two southern Illinois cities—Cairo and East St. Louis—in The Chicago Tribune's war poll, establishing a trend which was apparent in earlier but scant returns.

The seven other downstate cities included in the poll turned in a 3 to 1 vote for peace, while Cook county again produced a 4 to 1 noninterventionist vote. A total of 257,484 ballots were mailed thruout the state, asking: "Shall the United States enter the war to help Britain defeat Hitler?"

Seven Cities Firm for Peace.

Substantial majorities for peace were tabulated from Aurora, Bloomington, Danville, Galesburg, Peoria, Rockford, and Springfield.

In Cairo, a city of 13,500 population at the southernmost point in Illinois, the count to date is 47 for war and 42 for peace. East St. Louis, an industrial city of 75,000 across the Mississippi river from St. Louis, Mo., has sent in 160 ballots marked for intervention and 150 against it.

With 48,032 ballots returned, the state-wide percentages last night were as follows:

Yes [for war]: 8,879, or 18.49 per cent.

No [against war]: 38,742, or 80.66 per cent.

Spoiled ballots totaled 411, or .85 per cent.

3,081 Downstate Votes.

Downstate percentages in The Tribune's poll, computed from a total of 3,081 ballots, follow:

Yes: 738, or 23.95 per cent.
No: 2,324, or 75.43 per cent.
Spoiled ballots totaled 19, or .62 per cent.

From the Cook county country towns, 1,541 more ballots were received, raising the total returned to 7,476, which showed:

Yes: 1,000, or 13.38 per cent.
No: 6,454, or 86.33 per cent.
Spoiled ballots totaled 22, or .29 per cent.

The "Yes" and "No" vote in the 50 Chicago wards remained practically static yesterday. The 37,475 ballots received so far are divided as follows:

Yes: 7,141, or 19.06 per cent.
No: 29,964, or 79.96 per cent.

U. S. FRIENDS OF IRISH' HIT WILLKIE PLAN FOR BASES IN HOMELAND

New York, July 11 [Special].—The American Friends of Irish Neutrality, in a statement issued today by its executive council, charged that Wendell L. Willkie's proposal for United States bases in northern Ireland, if carried out, would constitute a violation of Ireland's neutrality and of the spirit of President Roosevelt's "four freedoms."

The council urged all units to call public meetings "for the purpose of denouncing Willkie's proposal and to demand that their congressmen thwart this outrageous plan."

The statement declared "the sentiment of the American people is overwhelmingly opposed to this outrageous proposal advanced by the repudiated Presidential nominee, and feels that, far from enacting the rôle of aggressor against friendly Ireland, the people of America favor aid to Ireland in her determination to remain neutral."

CARTER HARRISON DENIES A REPORT HE IS TO RETIRE

A report yesterday that Carter H. Harrison plans to retire was denied last night by the 81 year old collector of internal revenue.

"It's the first I've heard about it," Harrison said.

It was said Harrison was to retire and be succeeded by former Senator James Slattery, who was to be recommended by Senator Scott Lucas. In Washington, D. C., Lucas told inquirers that he had not heard Harrison was to retire, and that he had not discussed the recommendation of a new collector with any one.

Harrison has been collector of internal revenue in Chicago since 1933.

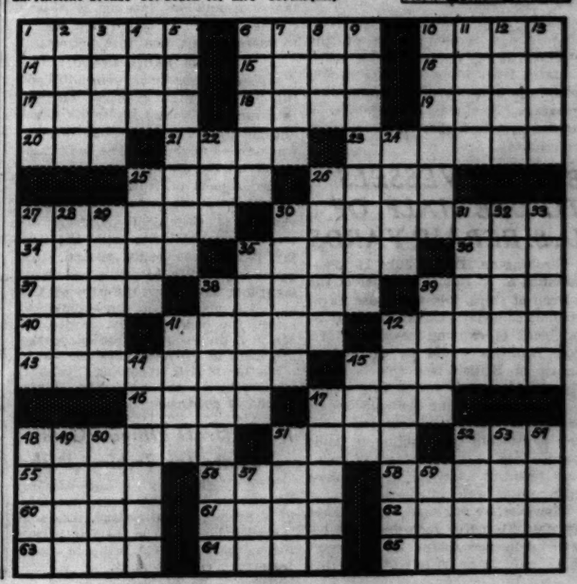
PUZZLE OF FRIDAY, JULY 11, SOLVED.



REHEARSE FINAL TIME TODAY FOR THRILL PAGEANT

Guns to Blaze; Fire Trucks Roar.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

Guns will blaze and fire trucks will thunder today in the full dress rehearsal of the fourth annual Chicago Police and Fire Thrill show, to be held in Soldiers' field at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

A preview of the great fire and police drama will be broadcast at 11:45 this morning, during the rehearsal, by W-G-N. The rehearsal will bring out the city and park police in the modern crime thriller, "The Midnight Gang's Last Stand." Capt. David Flynn and his traffic division mounted policemen will ride in "The Stagecoach Robbery."

Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan's water towers and great aerial ladder trucks will rumble into the field for their final rehearsals of fire fighting at the six story fire tower. Chief Frank C. McAuliffe will bring the swiftest trucks of his fire insurance patrol. Chief Roger Shanahan's park police, some of the busiest men in the show, will speed out upon the field for their life saving and first aid exhibition, and then race off to prepare for the crime fight.

Children to See Rehearsal.

The only spectators at the rehearsal will be boys and girls who would not otherwise get to see the thrill show. They are the youngsters from the Home for Destitute Crippled Children and the Erie Community house. They will be seated down in front in the center section, where they can get a closeup view of Lieut. William A. Gainer's motorcycle clowns and the rest of the wonders of the show.

Chief John L. Sullivan and Lieut. Kyran Phelan of the detective bureau disclosed yesterday that Eddie the Clock, the chief of the mythical Midnight gang, will be played by Arthur Pruefer. Terrence Loftus will be Machine Gun Mike, and Detective James Doherty, Desperate Desmond. Emil Smickles will be Two Gun Hank. Sergt. Phil Breitzke, one of the veterans of the show, will be stage manager.

Mounted Policeman Ed Smith, riding his horse, Snapper, will be the sheriff in the stagecoach robbery. Bandits will be Jack Kramer, Charles Sauers, Dave Mill, John Bobb, Dave Neiligan, and Almon Specht.

Radio Actors in Speaking Parts.

Rupert La Belle, who plays the part of Rufus Kain in the radio program, "The Story of Mary Martin," will again head the radio actors who take the speaking parts. He will appear with Leo Curley, Harry Elders, Finney Briggs, and Kathleen Fitzgerald.

Philip Maxwell of The Tribune editorial staff will be master of ceremonies.

The Chicago Police Post American Legion Drum and Bugle corps, established by Lieut. John T. O'Malley of the Sheffield avenue police, will be one of the outstanding marching units in the grand parade. The corps will be led by Post Commander Patrick O'Shea, Lieut. John O'Malley, and Sergt. James Fleming, with Jeanne Vincens as drum majorette. Adolph Avery is the corps commander, Ernest Leeson, musical director; Dan Mangan, drill master, and Robert Casey, manager. The organization, long a favorite with thrill show crowds, will give one of the show's exhibition drills.

Play During Show.

The Board of Trade post American Legion band, directed by Armin Hand, will parade into the field to play during the show.

The rehearsal will give show officials their first opportunity to see the firemen on dress parade in their aerial ladder feats, their pompier ladder wall scaling, and their alarm responses with their mighty trucks. The fire fighting exhibitions will be directed by Anthony J. Mullaney, first deputy chief fire marshal, Michael A. Cody, second deputy, Inspector Edward F. Green, Division Marshal Thomas J. Scanlon, and Battalion Chief Thomas J. Cannavan.

Chief John Prendergast of the uniformed police will be in general charge of the city police in the show.

Chief Prendergast will tell of some of the marvels of the show on Miss June Baker's Home Management program from W-G-N at 9:45 this morning.

Capt. Flynn will ride his chestnut mount, Silver, when he leads his mounties into the field for their final rehearsal drill, which he and Sergt. William Kubiak will direct. Policeman John Doherty will be there with Bessie, who mooches sugar lumps from friends on South State street. Tommy, who has the sugar concession on West Madison street, will be ridden by Edward Slattery. Arthur West will ride Jerry, the Madison street apple cadger.

They Work Very Fast.

The children invited to the rehearsal will find out for themselves that the firemen really do slide down the brass pole to go to fires. Battalion Chief James S. Furlong's fire department All-Stars—the volunteers who do all the hard work—will roll a portable fire station with its walls removed out upon the field. Sleepy firemen will go to bed. And then will come the alarm.

The firemen will roll out of bed into their bunkers—their trousers and boots—make a jump for the pole, slide down to their trucks, and be off in the twinkling of an eye. The time required for the fire laddies to bounce from their beds and roll away on their trucks is measured in seconds.

The commanders of these exhibitions will be Chiefs Furlong, Thomas Canavan, and Walter Evans; Captains Frank Tinney, Thomas Powers, and Albert Heightman, and Lieutenants Oliver Patton, Jerry Healy, Walter Meyers, Patrick Shea, William Nicola, Martin Furlong, Michael Kinsch, William Walsh, and Harry Hughes.

Display New Cars.

Two of the fire department's new battalion chief's cars—built with a stretcher for rushing injured firemen to the hospital—will be seen in the department's part of the first aid exhibition under the direction of Harry Wolff of the training school.

Chief Harry K. [Smoky] Rogers of the Western Actuarial bureau, who conducts fire fighting schools in many of the nation's colleges, will take the microphone when the fire trucks rumble out on alarm responses. He will explain fire fighting methods and the life saving and first aid exhibitions.

Chief Joseph J. Graham of the fire department and Capt. Harry Fulmer of the police, the two drill masters, will present their streamlined military drill in full uniform. Graham's platoon leaders will be Capt. Albert Petersen, Lieut. Lawrence Felker, Capt. Joseph Flahive, and Lieut. Clarence Schar. Lieut. Michael Ahern will be company commander of the police, with Lieuts. Harry Penzin, Joseph McNamara, Albert Anderson, and Daniel Collins as platoon leaders.

The advance ticket sale will continue until 5 p. m. today at Gate O, the south entrance to Soldiers' field, and at The Tribune public service office at Madison and Dearborn streets. Tickets are 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. They may be bought tomorrow at the gates to Soldiers' field.

Actor Duncan Renaldo Granted U. S. Citizenship

Los Angeles, Cal., July 11 (AP).—Film Actor Duncan Renaldo, who once served two years in prison for violating immigration laws, was granted American citizenship today. He was charged in 1930 with giving false information when he claimed American nativity upon his return from Africa after making the film "Trader Horn." The government contended he was a native of Rumania. President Roosevelt pardoned him in 1936.

SET UP NEW BODY IN WIDENED DRIVE ON YOUNG CRIME

Plan Psychiatric Clinic at St. Charles.

A plan to intensify corrective measures of juvenile delinquency was announced last night by Rodney H. Brandon, state director of public welfare. At the same time, it was learned that William T. Harmon will retire on Sept. 1 as managing officer of the Illinois Training School for Boys at St. Charles.

The corrective plan, which goes into effect next week, will create a new welfare department body to be known provisionally as the division for juvenile social adjustment. In effect it will coördinate five other divisions of the department.

A complete psychiatric clinic will be established at the St. Charles school. The state field service, which supervises St. Charles parolees, will be broadened. Brandon said the plan will seek to prevent delinquency at the source. If it fails there, it will follow the offenders thru the St. Charles school and back into the community again.

Recall Sawicki Slayings.

It will work to rehabilitate, and to prevent such tragedies as the quadruple murders committed by Bernard [Knifey] Sawicki, a St. Charles alumnus, two weeks ago.

The first phase of the work will be handled by the division for delinquency prevention and the Chicago area project. These groups will make contact with children guilty of or suspected of anti-social tendencies and seek their adjustment, Brandon said.

The Institute for Juvenile Research will supplement the facilities of the other two divisions with clinical service. The two preventive divisions will make the contacts and the institute's facilities will be made available thru them.

Complete Records to Be Kept.

The treatment will be physical as well as social and mental. Certain children will be given beds in the Neuropsychiatric institute. Complete records will be kept of the cases and these will follow the individual to the St. Charles school if he should be committed there for some offense.

A second phase of the plan covers supervision of the boys in the school by the clinic to be established there.

Under Brandon's plan, the superintendents of the five divisions and the managing officer will decide eligibility for parole, but will be guided by the technical advice of the school clinic. When the division of supervision concludes that a parolee should be returned to the school, it will make its recommendation to the board of five.

Transfer to New Prison.

The board also will decide when an inmate of St. Charles is to be transferred to the new Sheridan prison, which is nearing completion in La Salle county.

The broadened scope of juvenile delinquency work in the state is partly responsible for Harmon's coming retirement from St. Charles, it is understood. He has been in poor health and his decision is in line with Brandon's plan, announced Monday, to inject new energies and ideas into the school management. It is expected that Harmon will continue with the welfare department in an advisory capacity.

FIFTH COLUMN 'TAKES' CITY AND EVERYBODY AGREES IT'S TERRIBLE

Anderson, S. C., July 11 (AP).—Fifth columnists and supporting troops, 1,300 strong, shoved civilians aside and commandeered governmental and public facilities here tonight to show an industrial American city what blitzkrieg tactics are. Spectators agreed that the whole thing looked terrible.

Smoke boiled up from smoke pots, simulating burning buildings. Whistles of textile mills sounded the approach of bombing planes. An airplane, spotted earlier by air raid precaution squads, dropped handbills warning the 20,000 citizens of the futility of resisting the overthrow of government. Fireworks represented exploding bombs.

While fifth columnists, who had come as "tourists," captured vital points, two motorized columns of uniformed troops entered the city to strengthen the seizure.

Officials soon were gazing on the scene from concentration camps. The mayor and his staff, fireman, and police, postoffice, newspaper, railroad, telephone, power, and water works plants and radio station employés surrendered as the subversive elements took control at the zero hour.

HERE ARE WAYS TO GO TO POLICE AND FIRE SHOW

To facilitate easy movement to and from the Police and Fire Thrill show in Soldiers' field tomorrow—an event which is expected to draw 80,000 spectators—Chicago park district officials yesterday made the following suggestions:

MOTORISTS—Start early. If from north and west sides, park in Columbus drive or in the area adjacent to Field museum; if from south side, park south and east of the field, or on Northerly Island. Parking space for more than 13,000 cars will be available. Obey No Parking signs.

STREET CAR RIDERS—Take Cermak road or Roosevelt road surface lines cars terminating in Grant park or Burnham park.

BUS RIDERS—Special buses will operate from north, west, and south sides. In addition shuttle service will be provided between the field and Randolph street and Michigan avenue. Passengers on regular north side buses may transfer to No. 26 buses at Jackson boulevard and Michigan avenue; passengers on regular south side buses may transfer to No. 26 buses at Balbo drive and Michigan avenue.

ELEVATED RIDERS — Take any Rapid Transit line train to the Roosevelt road station, and transfer to eastbound Roosevelt road street car.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL — Get off at either Roosevelt road or 18th street stations, and walk east to the field.

Otto K. Jelinek, park traffic engineer, said that if the crowds follow the plans mapped out there will be a minimum of traffic delays. In event of tieups, northbound traffic on the Outer drive will be detoured to Michigan avenue via 23d and 31st streets, and southbound traffic on the Outer drive will be switched to Michigan avenue via Oak street.

LINCOLN LETTER, OLD DOCUMENTS TO GO AT AUCTION

Accumulate for 70 Years in Deposit Boxes.

Yellowed documents reflecting historical events in the growth of Chicago and the nation, among them a letter signed by Abraham Lincoln, will be sold under an auctioneer's hammer at 11 a. m. next Wednesday in the office of Referee in Bankruptcy Archie H. Cohen, 7 South Dearborn street.

The sale was announced yesterday after appraisers had completed a search thru papers which have been collecting for more than 70 years in the safety deposit boxes of the American Trust and Safety Deposit company, 79 West Monroe street. They will be sold to satisfy part of the $200,000 in rental owed on the boxes.

Lincoln Letter Dated 1864.

The Lincoln letter confirms the appointment of one W. C. Daniels as a surgeon in the army volunteers. It is dated June 30, 1864, shortly after Lincoln began his second term. Also preserved among the Daniels papers is a commission promoting him to the rank of lieutenant colonel. This was signed by President Andrew Johnson, Lincoln's successor.

The collection also contains papers signed by Robert Todd Lincoln when he was secretary of war; others signed by Gen. William T. Sherman; and an appointment signed by DeWitt Clinton, governor of New York. This was dated July 8, 1819.

Other interesting documents are the incorporation papers of the Metropolitan Elevated company of Chicago, now a part of the Rapid Transit company, and a single share of stock in the Chicago White Stockings of 1876. The certificate bears the signatures of A. G. Spaulding, who was manager, pitcher, and secretary of the club, and Charles Schwartz, the president. The club later was known as the Orphans when Spaulding retired and ultimately assumed its present name, "Cubs."

Old Plan to Beat Bookies.

Another letter written by a man named Ed Wells in Cincinnati, O., and delivered to C. Hummel in Chicago by Western Union outlines a plan to beat pool room bookies in Chicago on horse race bets. Accompanying the letter in the box is a newspaper clipping dated 1906. This tells how a telegraph operator held up racing results and tipped off accomplices who placed bets on races already run.

An ivory bound French Bible 75 years old, a baby's shoe, jewelry, coins, deeds, and family letters are other items in the collection.

$50,000 STOCKYARDS FIRE.

St. Joseph, Mo., July 11 (AP).—A stockyards fire killed 50 sheep and burned an area 300 by 100 yards today. Damage was estimated at $50,000. Firemen said sparks from a tar pot caused the blaze.

NEAR EAST PORTS UNLOAD SUPPLIES OF WAR FROM U. S.

Empty Ships of Cargoes 24 Hours a Day.

BY HAROLD DENNY.

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

A NEAR EAST SEAPORT, July 11.—This and other ports of this region have become the real war front of the near east. American war materials of every description are arriving in this theater in sufficient volume to promise an appreciable effect.

The first ship to arrive here after President Roosevelt removed the legal barriers against American vessels' voyages to the Red sea docked July 4 after a voyage from an American port. Her captain was a husky Irish-American. While a group of correspondents watched the unloading of his ship, another vessel with the Stars and Stripes nosed into port.

Unload Ship at Top Speed.

The quay, a narrow strip of solid ground with the blue sea on one side and a fringe of stringy palms cutting off the desert on the other, was a scene of great animation, for war materials were being unloaded at top speed 24 hours a day. British freighters also were unloading.

British officers and soldiers were supervising, while American technical experts stood by to advise on the uncrating and assembling. The stevedores were Egyptian Arabs, who, with dirty cotton bournouses rolled up around their waists, perspired and shouted as they pried out the cargo.

The dock was already a jungle of crates containing Tomahawk engines, fuselages, and wing sections ready to be assembled; motor trucks, tires, and spare parts for autos and planes.

War Machines in Hold.

The ship appeared packed to capacity. Deep in the hold lay squat, ugly war machines. As they were hoisted by derricks and deposited on land, one by one they received a few gallons of gasoline and chugged off under their own power.

The spaces between the heavy items were filled with coils of wire, tires, medical stores, shoe polish, and ordinary civil goods, including American canned beer that has appeared in Cairo cafés at 40 cents a pint.

600 NAZIS HURLED IN SEA AS MINES DESTROY 3 SHIPS

New York, July 11 (AP).—Three German ships in a convoy bound from Finland to Germany were blasted to pieces by mines near the Island of Oeland off eastern Sweden yesterday and more than 600 men were thrown into the sea, the American Swedish News exchange said today.

Swedish vessels from the nearby city of Kalmar rescued 24 men but eight of them died before they could be taken to a hospital, the exchange said in a report from Stockholm.

Survivors said they thought that Nazi torpedo boats escorting the convoy probably saved some of the men thrown into the sea.

[An Associated Press dispatch from Stockholm Thursday said that three foreign ships had been sunk by mines near Kalmar.]

The newspaper Stockholms-Tidningen said about 50 severe detonations followed the first explosion and that parts from the ships were thrown over a wide area.

Swedish Liner Torpedoed.

New York, July 11 (AP).—The Swedish-American Mexican Line freighter Rydboholm, 3,197 tons, has been torpedoed and sunk in the north Atlantic, the American Swedish News exchange said today.

F B I AGENTS FLY TO BERMUDA TO HUNT FOR SLAYER

HAMILTON, Bermuda, July 11.—Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation arrived by plane tonight in response to a request from Hamilton police for aid in solving the murder of Miss Margaret Alianora Stapleton, 43 years old, an English woman and a member of the imperial censorship staff here.

Miss Stapleton was found dead Sunday night and police say they have little to assist them in their investigation except a sawed-off softball bat. The investigation, they said, calls for a scientific approach, and the police have no men qualified for such work. The Bermuda police commissioner radiophoned J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, to enlist his aid.

The murder is believed to be the work of a sex maniac.

FRENCH CHARGE BRITISH SANK 2 FISHING BOATS

VICHY, France, July 11 (AP).—The French reported from Bordeaux today that a British submarine had sunk two ships of a French tuna fishing fleet, and newspapers of unoccupied France were ordered to print the story with this headline:

"British Savageness Against French Fishermen to Prevent French Food Supply."

The French said that two tuna fishers out of a Bordeaux fleet of 30 were stopped by a British submarine on July 8 and that the crews were ordered to take to their lifeboats and their vessels were sunk.

French Troops Flown to Syrian War

German planes from Greece are believed to have brought French reinforcements to northern Syria. Route is shown by broken line. Farther south, British and "Free French" forces were reported advancing against stiff resistance.

Britain's Terms to France

VICHY, France, July 11 (AP).—The text of the British armistice conditions on the Syrian war were as follows:

"The embassy of Great Britain in Washington, D. C., has just informed the state department that the message of Gen. Dentz has been communicated to the British government and that the British government desires that the following conditions be communicated to Gen. Dentz as soon as possible:

"1. The allies [Britain and the 'Free French'] have no other aim in Syria except to prevent its being used as a base for enemy land and air forces against their military positions in the middle east. They are equally pledged as far as the Arab population is concerned, having given it a guaranty of independence before entering Syria. Great Britain supported the declaration of Gen. Catroux. The French representation in the Levant will be assured by 'Free French' authorities in the framework of the promise of independence which was given Syria and the Lebanon and with which Great Britain is associated.

[Gen. Dentz is Gen. Henri Dentz, French high commissioner to Syria and Lebanon and military commander there. Gen. Catroux is Gen. Georges Catroux (French), second in command of the allied forces in Syria under Britain's Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson.]

Propose Complete Amnesty.

"2. The allies feel no resentment of any sort against the French in Syria and are disposed to grant a complete amnesty immediately as far as the recent combat is concerned. They have no complaints to make against any of the leaders, ally authorities, or troops in Syria. Gen. [Charles] De Gaulle [leader of the 'Free French'] who has never illtreated any of his army comrades who fought against him in carrying out the orders they received has not the intention of doing so under the present circumstances.

"3. They must, however, take precautions to prevent the war material in Syria being used against them. This material consequently must be delivered to them.

"4. As far as the French troops in Syria are concerned full liberty must be given them to join the allied forces in their fight against the axis powers. At the same time the allies reserve the right to take proper measures to assure the liberty and sincerety of choice of each one.

"5. Every facility must be made available so that each individual be completely informed of the situation and the choice which is offered him. Members of the combatant forces which are not disposed to join the allied cause will be repatriated with their families if circumstances permit and these facilities are available.

Offer "Honorable Conditions."

"6. Honorable conditions will be offered to all those who wish to join the allied forces. Those who are found fit for service will be offered an opportunity to continue their functions with a grade which will be held during the investigation. Others will be treated honorably while waiting repatriation. All officers disposed to aid the allied cause will be given as far as possible work corresponding to their position and their grade and their grade will be guaranteed. Other ranks will be treated in the same manner as army officers. Those who are not disposed to aid the allied cause will be repatriated with their families.

"7. Railroads, ports, communications, radio installations, gasoline installations, etc., must not be damaged or destroyed but must be turned over to the allies for their use. The allied forces have the right of military occupation in Syria for the duration of the war.

"8. All Germans or Italians in Syria must be handed over to be interned.

Demand All Warships.

"9. All warships must be handed over intact to be interned and consequently be brought to and kept at Beirut as a base; they may be eventually directed elsewhere on the order of the commander in chief of the Mediterranean if it is necessary for reason of security. The restitution of vessels after the war or their compensation will be guaranteed to united France.

"10. The blockade will be raised and Syria and Lebanon will be immediately put in relationship with the sterling bloc.

"11. All Englishmen taken as prisoners in Syria and Lebanon will be set free.

"The British government desire you to make known clearly to Gen. Dentz in communicating these conditions to him that according to certain information that British officers having been sent to France will be interned there, British authorities, of necessity, for as long as it will take to set these British prisoners free, will have to intern a sufficient number of Vichy partisans in Syria to take care of the case should English prisoners of war not be returned but remain interned in France.

"The British government desires equally that you explain that if Gen. Dentz accept the condition contained in the present memorandum as a basis of negotiation and replies to that effect, British military authorities will be ready to halt hostilities and meet representatives of Gen. Dentz without further delay."

RAF DELIVERS 2 HARD SMASHES AT NAZIS IN FRANCE

LONDON, July 11 (AP).—Several German dive bombers were destroyed on the ground and nine Nazi fighters were shot down today in two hard daylight smashes at German railway and shipyard facilities in northern France, the RAF announced tonight.

Four British fighters were acknowledged missing from this continuation of the gigantic day and night aerial offensive which the British started three weeks ago. Primary objectives of the day's raids were the shipyards of Le Trait on the Seine river near Rouen, and the railway yards at Hazebrouck.

German raiders late tonight attacked a British convoy off the northeast British coast, but enemy activity over England was on a small scale. A German bomber was shot down off Scotland.

Berlin Admits Casualties.

BERLIN, July 12 [Saturday]—(AP).—Some civilians were killed and wounded last night, DNB, official German news agency, said today when "weak British air forces" attempted a raid on the north German coastal area. Twelve British planes were reported shot down.

ROOSEVELT SAYS U. S. PEOPLE HAIL SOVIET STRUGGLE

MOSCOW, July 11 (AP).—President Roosevelt, in a message to Michael Kalinin, president of the supreme soviet, said to day that the American people "are observing with sympathy and admiration the valiant struggle which the Russian people are waging at the present time in self-defense."

The President's message said:

"I have received your kind telegram extending congratulations and best wishes on the occasion of the anniversary of the independence of the United States.

"Your thoughtfulness in sending this message at a time when the Russian people are combatting so heroically a ruthless invader is deeply appreciated. The American people abhor armed aggression. They are bound with strong ties of historic friendship to the Russian people. It is, therefore, only natural that they are observing with sympathy and admiration the valiant struggle which the Russian people are waging at the present time in self-defense.

"On behalf of the government and people of the United States, as well as on my own behalf, I thank you for your friendly greetings. I extend best wishes for yourself and for the welfare and success of the Russian people."

The tablets will be included in regular rations as a safeguard against nutritional diseases in regions where fresh meats, vegetables, and dairy products are not readily available. They will contain nicotinic acid as well as vitamins A, B-1, B-2, C, and D.

WARNS CANADA DELAY IN DRAFT MAY BE FATAL

CALGARY, Alta., July 11 (AP).—R. B. Hanson, Conservative leader in the house of commons, said in an interview here today there will be conscription in Canada, but the "trouble is it may come too late."

Hanson, on a western Canadian tour, said the Liberal government of Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King had already accepted the principle of conscription in the national mobilization act.

[Recruiting of Canadian troops for duty in war zones is on a volunteer basis. There is compulsion, however, in the dominion military training set-up.]

"If the welfare and the safety of the nation demand that conscription should be implemented, then it must be brought in," said the Conservative leader. "The responsibility rests squarely upon the shoulders of the government, and it is up to it to shoulder that responsibility and to face the issue squarely.

"The public has seen the results of the national recruiting campaign, and the public is going to realize more and more clearly that Canada's war effort must be an all-out effort."

ITALIANS ASSURE AMERICANS THEY CAN QUIT NATION

ROME, July 11 (AP).—A United States embassy official said tonight that Italian authorites had virtually assured Americans in Italy that they would be permitted to leave the country, but that formal notification had not yet been received.

An authoritative Italian source said that new regulations for Americans leaving Italy were expected to be issued shortly.

On June 24 Italy announced special authorization would be required for Americans to leave this country, in reprisal for action of the United States in holding Italians. Two days ago the embassy requested the Italian foreign office to lift the ban, pointing out that all Italians who demonstrated their intention to leave the United States for Italy were given permission to leave.

BIG NEW HITLER PUSH HITS REDS, LONDON REPORTS

Claim Offensive Aims at a Great Victory.

BULLETIN.

STOCKHOLM, July 12 [Saturday]—(AP)—Reports from Helsingfors, Finland, today said the German airforce had delivered a powerful attack on Leningrad, second city of soviet Russia, and that huge fires were started.

LONDON, July 11 (AP).—A mighty new German offensive, aimed at overwhelming results, is underway in Russia, it was reported reliably today.

An offensive pointed at Moscow, Leningrad, and Kiev is to be backed with the full might of Adolf Hitler's mechanized divisions, according to these reports.

One neutral source said that if the Germans push as far in the next 10 days as they did in the first seven of the vast campaign on the eastern front "they will have gone a long way toward winning the initial campaign of the Russian war."

Drive Ahead 120 Miles.

The depth of their drives in the first thrusts toward Moscow and Kiev, the Russian Ukraine capital, was estimated by observers here at about 120 miles.

A rest period for the German forces after 14 days of very hard fighting now has ended, this source said.

The halt came because of two reasons, he added, difficulty of supply and exhaustion of tank troops, but now "the Nazis will throw everything in the way of mobile troops, armored, mechanized, and motorized divisions into the offensive."

Wreckage Blocks Roads.

BERLIN, July 11 (AP).—Masses of wrecked and abandoned Russian war materials have blocked the roads ahead of the German drive eastward from Bialystok and Minsk, to such an extent that it has "in several places come to a standstill briefly," DNB, German official news agency, said today.

The high command itself remained silent on current operations against the Stalin line. Elsewhere there were suggestions of new operations to come.

The "progress according to plan" of which the high command so frequently speaks seemed hampered by the necessity of clearing the roads of soviet equipment.

Planes Bomb Railways.

DNB said the interruptions were due to the congestion of roads filled with "the mass of abandoned, shot-to-pieces and burned out tanks and vehicles" left after the Bialystok-Minsk battle.

It was reported that the Nazi air force has been blasting destructively at the Zhitomir-Kiev railway, in the Ukraine; the Leningrad-Moscow line in the northern central sector; and the Leningrad-Murmansk line of the far north.

German aerial bombs were credited with destroying several Russian artillery positions on the Fischer Peninsula in the far north.

WOMEN AID FINLAND

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 11.—Finnish women have taken over the tasks of their men folk and, with their children, are working day and night to harvest the hay crop.

The harvesting of winter grains begins within two weeks. The government has called upon women between 18 and 59 years of age who are without permanent work, or who are on vacation, to enlist for this special war duty. All men capable of working already have been ordered to participate in the harvesting. Farmers have been instructed to pay extra help. Employers also are obliged to pay workers for time lost during air raids up to two hours a day.

Finnish Transport Centralized.

All Finnish transport has been centralized and private transport must be conducted on a special license basis.

Insurance companies have announced that no extra premiums will be required for men and women serving in the defense forces. The 50 per cent premium charged during the last war is to be refunded by a 50 per cent reduction in this year's payment.

Favorable weather is helping the advance of German columns north thru the Baltic states toward Tallinn, Estonia, and to the northeast in the Lake Peipus region toward Leningrad, Russia's second largest city.

Latvians Form Regiments.

In Latvia two regiments of volunteers have been formed to fight the Russians. Other detachments are being equipped with the enormous supply of arms which were captured from the Russians. Some of the Latvians already are in action in Estonia.

Many Estonians, who fled to Finland to escape bolshevik rule when Russia absorbed the Baltic states, have returned to their country. They are harrying the Russians at many points.

Finland Bans Sale of Pure Gasoline to Save on Fuel

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 11 (AP).—The fuel shortage has become so acute in Finland that the government today decreed no more pure gasoline may be sold as motor fuel after July 14.

ROBBED OF $500 BY YOUNG WOMAN. William Hanlin, a jewelry salesman from Rock Island, Ill., reported to central police yesterday that an attractive young woman whom he had just met and taken to a loop hotel disappeared with $500 of his money when he fell asleep.

Command Russian Defense Areas

Developments of the day in the war between Germany and the soviets are shown on the map. Altho the fighting covers a front hundreds of miles in length the communiques of both sides have mentioned the relatively few points where the principal battles have been in progress. Thus it seems certain that a front line, as it was known in 1914-'18, has not yet been established. The Nazi invasion of Russian territory has been in the form of motorized spearheads moving along roads and railroads and leaving on the flanks territory in which guerrillas and saboteurs are still operating, according to the Russians. The Germans are now presumed to be engaged in mopping up these areas.

ORDERS FORMAL U. S. SEIZURE OF 16 AXIS VESSELS

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau today ordered formal confiscation proceedings against 15 Italian and 1 German merchant ships which were alleged to have been sabotaged in American harbors in March.

Morgenthau said that he had been advised by the justice department that there was "probable cause" for forfeiting the ships to the United States without compensation because of violation of the espionage act of 1917, which forbids sabotage in American harbors.

The 16 ships were among 28 Italian and 2 German ships taken into custody by the coast guard on March 30. Morgenthau did not explain what would happen to the rest of the ships, but they are expected to be taken over by the United States under one legal procedure or another.

The British government announced today that it had waived its belligerent rights concerning the axis ships seized by the United States, thus opening the way for their use by the United States without danger of seizure by Britain.

RUSSIA PREPARES FOR NEW BLOWS BY HITLER ARMY

3 Topmost Military Men Direct Red Troops.

MOSCOW, July 12 [Saturday]—(AP).—The Red army, now fighting under the active command of Russia's three top-most military men, today claimed it had stalled the German offensive all along the line for the second successive day.

Defense Commissar Semeon K. Timoshenko, who took personal command of the vital central sector defending Moscow, was rushing new defense preparations in anticipation of a renewed German onslaught as soon as Nazis, "worn out by three weeks of unceasing battle," can be replaced by reserves.

During this delay, described as the longest the armies of Adolf Hitler ever have had in the course of a blitzkrieg, the soviet information bureau charged that the Germans were fortifying the Bulgarian border facing Turkey, and had designs on the Turkish controled Strait of the Bosporus. The strait connects the Black sea with the Mediterranean.

Remove Moscow Children.

In anticipation of further German blows, children, aged persons, and unemployed women were being removed from Moscow.

Marshal Klementi Voroshilov, former defense commissar, was given command of the Russian right wing, defending the Leningrad front, and Vice Commissar Semeon Budyenny was placed in charge of the vital Ukrainian defenses to the south.

The Red army was strengthening its positions at Ostrov, Polotzk, Lepel, Borizov, Bobruisk, and Novograd Volynski—where the German drives were declared checked.

The Russian rivers appeared to be playing a major part in blocking German plans. The Dvina in the north, the Dnieper in the center, and the Dniester in the south stood as obstacles to further German penetration.

"No Significant Changes."

The soviet communique today said, "No significant changes took place on the front" during Friday, and passed on to a long enumeration of minor clashes and of defense activities on the home front and sabotage behind the German lines.

[A Moscow radio announcement heard in London said that the German offensive had come to a standstill and that Russian troops had started an offensive movement at certain points. London also heard a Turkish radio announcer relay a Moscow report that 8,000,000 Russian troops recently mobilized were now being moved up toward the war fronts.]

The communique said that the soviet air force had destroyed German motorized and mechanized units in concentrated attacks and had bombed Ploesti in Rumania's oil fields.

During Wednesday and Thursday the Red air force "destroyed 179 enemy planes."

A statement that "the Germans at certain points used poisonous substances" was made by Foreign Vice Commissar S. A. Lozovsky. He told a press conference that Russia had "not yet replied with the same weapons." He said Germany is bringing troops from France, the Balkans, and other conquered regions to muster all men available for the "final effort."

Marion Plomteaux, 24 years old, American volunteer with the royal Canadian air force, was killed in an airplane accident in England, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred V. Defenses Prepared Against U. S.

The French are reported strengthening Dakar in Africa against a threat of American occupation, and Portugal is said to be determined to keep the Azores neutral. These strategic points and other islands in the Atlantic which might be sought for American defense purposes are located on the map.

French Fortify Dakar as Fear of Occupation by U. S. Grows

VICHY, France, July 11 (AP).—Informed sources reported tonight that the Vichy French, uneasy at possible extension of United States control over Atlantic outposts, have repaired the damaged 35,000 ton battleship Richelieu and made her ready with other warships to bolster the strategic West African base of Dakar.

Dakar's land defenses also have been strengthened to repel any new landing attempt, these sources said.

Damaged in De Gaulle Attack.

The Richelieu, damaged by the British before and during the abortive De Gaullist, British backed attempt to seize Dakar from the sea last September, has been completely repaired and recommissioned, with the remainder of the Dakar squadron. Three cruisers also are at Dakar, with several destroyers.

Details of the strengthening of the Dakar land fortifications were not disclosed.

French colonial authorities said flatly that they did not like the looks of possible further implications of the United States occupation of Iceland. They expressed conviction that American control of other Atlantic outposts would be a "big political mistake for the moment."

New Coast Guns Installed.

LISBON, July 11 (AP).—Military observers reaching Lisbon from Africa said tonight their information indicated that the French are busily strengthening defenses at Dakar, French West African port of great strategic importance to the south Atlantic, against a threat of American occupation.

Modern long-range coastal batteries have been installed since last year, they said, and newly constructed airports ringing the town provide bases for an estimated 200 fighters and bombers. Naval units described as "adequate to meet anything except a full dress attack" are based there.

Observers reported, however, that the garrison of several thousand troops, mostly natives, is badly disciplined and not enthusiastic about fighting.

Plan to Seek German Aid.

Vichy authorities at Dakar are reported to have said they would ask the Germans for help if attacked by British or United States forces. German experts are said to be giving technical advice on the fortification of Dakar and other bases in French Africa.

While there is no evidence that German submarines are based at Dakar British sources said they believed the Germans are using other ports along Africa's west coast.

Meanwhile, Portugal is determined to keep the Azores neutral in this war. United States occupation of Iceland has drawn attention anew to the situation of these Atlantic islands.

President to Visit Isles.

Portuguese spokesmen said the forthcoming official visit by President Carmona and his navy and interior ministers to the Azores would produce proof that the strategic islands themselves, want to stay out of the war. Carmona is due to sail on July 20, "by request of the population."

The Portuguese press joined official spokesmen in reiterating displeasure over hints that the United States may desire to establish control over the Azores.

"The fact that the United States navy was granted permission to establish a naval base in the Azores during the world war does not necessarily place Portugal in obligation for a similar concession in this war," authoritative sources said. "Portugal will remain absolutely neutral."

The fourth contingent of troops in three months—the largest yet—sailed from Portugal today for the Azores.

Portugal protested to the United States after President Roosevelt, in his May 27 fireside chat, mentioned the Azores as a potential foothold for German operations.

13 More Japanese Leave Moscow in Third Exodus

MOSCOW, July 11 (AP).—Thirteen members of the Japanese colony, including 12 members of the embassy staff, left Moscow by train today en route to Tokio. It was the third such group to leave Moscow since the start of the Russian-German war.

Halifax Plans Three Week London Visit in August

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—Lord Halifax, British ambassador, hopes to return to London for a short visit in August. He said his purpose would be to discuss the international situation with his foreign office. He added that he plans to return in three weeks.

THE WAR FOR EMPIRE.

The "grievous bloodshed," as the French government describes the conflict in Syria, has been a fight between allies sworn to defend each other. Frenchmen have been killing Frenchmen, and British, Australian, and native troops have been shooting their late comrades in arms for the possession of Arab territory given to France under mandate after the other war.

The combatants, at first reluctant, if not shamefaced, gradually warmed to something like a war anger as the casualties multiplied. Fellow countrymen and former allies as they were, they couldn't be burying their dead and carrying off their wounded without beginning to hate each other.

Syria is one of the subject lands in which the Arabs fell somewhat short of the freedom for which they had been fighting in the other war and in which self-determination did not make the grade. The grievous war started there—and this was not the only place—because the Germans were supposed to be using Syrian fields as a base of air operations against the British in Iraq, another Arab state with oil resources of great value to the British.

Syria is important as a part of the complex imperial arrangements. Its possession is a key to the control of Iraq and Iran. The masters of this section of the Mediterranean coast will have influence on Turkey. The whole region commands the approaches to India, another land of subject peoples, and it is hooked up with the problem of Egypt and the canal. Egypt is in the war, whether it wants to be or not—and it does not want to be—because it is a strategic point in the structure of empire.

India, in the other war, was promised a great deal more freedom and self-government than it was able to obtain after the fighting stopped when new liberties were to be the rewards for the war activities of the Hindus and Moslems. The native patriots have never been satisfied with what they were granted, and they have been severely punished, as at Amritsar, for their passive resistance and their civil disobedience, mild revolutionary measures, but ones adopted by people who thought that moral force was a higher instrument for their purposes than physical force.

Many Americans have made a distinction in the present war. They think this distinction is just. They have been willing that Great Britain should receive virtually unlimited aid in materials from this country to protect itself from invasion and to defend the liberties of its people. They have not confused the defense of British liberties and the protection of the island from the Nazi invasion, which has subdued continental Europe, with the defense of imperial possessions where British rule is imposed on other people who want their own freedom.

Some people may be able to reconcile the defense of what they call democracy in one spot with what they must be forced to call imperial dominance in others. A majority of Americans giving any thought to such inconsistencies could not bring themselves to make great sacrifices to determine what part of Europe should dominate other parts of the world. If Europe must have wars to uphold this flag or that flag in Africa and Asia and the islands of all the seas, America should not be persuaded to have any part of it.

Apart from the new Russo-German war, the fighting now is in Africa and the near east. It is in Syria and Libya. It is a struggle for the keys to world dominion. In these aspects this is not a fight for the four freedoms, and it is not a fight for anything that could be called democracy. It is the old struggle for empire, to have and to hold, and that is the war into which our war party is trying to send an American expeditionary force, which has already taken flight to Iceland.

RE-ENTER MAX.

Max Litvinov, former Russian commissar for foreign affairs, has reappeared on the scene to address the British people, urging them to strike Hitler now. Here's an illustration of the value of moderation—a virtue not greatly admired or applied in the soviet union. If Stalin had followed his usual practices, Litvinov would have been shot two years ago.

When Red Joe began his switch from the French and Polish to the Nazi line, he got rid of his foreign affairs commissar. That was in May, 1939, and the great stroke of perfidy, the agreement with the Nazis, which released the war, was late the following August. Prior to this, Stalin had been shooting Litvinov's ambassadors and ministers. Several who were called home had their suspicions that it was not for consultation and made narrow escapes. But when Litvinov was removed to clear the way for the Hitler compact he wasn't executed.

Here is where moderation proved to have an unexpected value. The deposed commissar disappeared and his fate was unknown. But he was merely put on the shelf, and there he was, ready to be unwrapped and still serviceable when Stalin's switch to Hitler ended in the present war. Litvinov's old policy of coöperation with the opponents of Nazism is now, perforce, Stalin's policy, and it is handy to have around a serviceable man accustomed to the former line.

To Max, Red Josef is still "Our dear Stalin," and to the so-called liberal powers Max himself is the nearest approach to a fellow club member the soviets have produced in international affairs. He is the best front Russia can put up in the turn of events, which have proved that Joe made a very bad guess. Max is an exceptional man. No one else has ever made a comeback under Stalin.

THE CENSORS AT WORK.

Senator Taft scooped every newspaper in the United States when he announced in the course of a speech in the senate that Americans were engaged in constructing an air base in Northern Ireland. It was big news but the newspapers didn't give it to their readers until after Senator Taft had made the facts public.

Already we have a censorship in this country. It is a highly irregular and irresponsible censorship. It has no legal authorization in congressional legislation. It operates at the whim of cabinet members who forbid the publication of important news for no better reason than that they don't want it published. Newspaper editors, with few exceptions, have accepted the restrictions; but the feeling is growing and will continue to grow that the readers' trust is being betrayed. Every newspaper editor worthy of his calling recognizes a duty to tell his readers what their government is doing and why. If the newspapers fail to do their part, they must expect to lose the confidence of their subscribers.

Some kind of censorship is probably inescapable in war. Every editor and every reader will recognize that in such a time of national peril news of the movement of troops, news of battle plans, and of strategic and tactical innovations cannot be published. If war comes, that kind of censorship would be accepted voluntarily as it was in the last war, but it would be better to impose it as a law, with the prohibitions clearly stated and the time limit fixed to coincide with the duration of hostilities.

The censorship we now have is arbitrary and unrestrained by law. It is admirably adjusted to the desires of those who wish to ease this country into a position from which war will seem to be the only escape. It is a war monger's censorship, calculated to encourage the publication of incitements to war such as the loss of American lives at sea and to prevent the public from learning what its government is doing to involve the nation in war until after the provocative steps have been taken. By the time congress and the people learn what has happened, the time to raise objections has passed.

Thus far, the sending of American reporters to Iceland to describe the life our soldiers are leading there has been forbidden. There have been intimations that the British had no objections to the presence of correspondents; American newspaper men were on their way from England to Iceland with the blessing of the British government when the permissions were withdrawn, presumably at the request of the Washington burocracy.

All of the means of communication in Iceland are under military control. There could be little danger then that any military secrets would be made available to the enemy either deliberately or inadvertently. The people of this country know only that their government is trying to hide something. Americans will wonder if our troops are adequately armed and supplied; if our force is operating under its own or British command; if the presence of our soldiers is resented by the Icelanders. In the absence of reliable information, the public can be expected to assume the worst.

THE SAWICKI CASE.

The courts are taking their course with Bernard Sawicki, the "all out" murderer who took four lives in a span of four days. The proper disposition of his case may be left to them; but for its own future protection the public would like to learn more about his release from the St. Charles School for Boys.

He served 19 months in the school, following which he was paroled. Officials of the school said that his conduct there was good. They insist that he showed no indications of the traits that marked him, after his arrest, as one of the most callous murderers who has fallen into the hands of Chicago police in years.

This statement may be true or it may be a convenient amnesia that set in after Sawicki committed his crimes. It seems improbable that his attitude could have changed so completely after his release that conscientious officials would not have had a better idea of his dangerous character.

The school officials say that a psychiatric staff at St. Charles would prevent repetitions of the Sawicki case, and such a staff is to be provided. Psychiatrists may help, but they cannot be made a substitute for common sense and alertness in handling a group, many of whose members, in spite of their age, are already hardened criminals. The release of Sawicki was an indication of carelessness, if nothing worse.

LONDON ADMONISHES A SENATOR.

Senator Wheeler was rebuked by British government spokesmen because before the planting of American troops in Iceland he said he understood it was to take place. The American senator is curtly informed that he overstepped his privileges when he gave information to the enemy and exposed British troops to danger. Mr. Wheeler replies that the British troops are still there and that the news of the expedition came from Mr. Roosevelt.

The senator did not disclose information given him officially. Mr. Roosevelt does not ask the advice of congress confidentially or otherwise. He tells the congressmen. And that is the dangerous part of it. Mr. Wheeler heard from the parents of boys sent to Iceland. The parents had been given a new postoffice address for their sons, and they did not know what to make of it. How could they if they remembered Mr. Roosevelt's campaign promises?

An American senator concerned for his country's welfare and aware of the duplicity of his country's executive department is rebuked in London as if he were a member of parliament carrying his opposition or his questions too far to suit the government.

Has something happened to convince Mr. Churchill and his ministers that we already have union now?

A QUESTION ANSWERED.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

William Shakespeare's famous question, "What's in a name?" has been answered at last, but with no great credit, we fear, to the mentality of the modern college student.

A vote on the handsomest man at Long Island university resulted in a victory for a student named Robert Taylor. At Columbia university a poll was taken to determine the most athletic and energetic engineer on the campus. The victor: a student named Robert Taylor.

Maybe it was just a coincidence, but we have a suspicion that these roses by any other name would not have smelt so sweet.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

AMERICA ON SAFARI.

Motor courts, often called "motels" in western states, seem to have become one of the nation's major industries. The story of their sudden evolution out of the primitive "cabins" of the highways is worthy of a magazine article.

* * *

The hotels, of course, are greatly annoyed by this invasion of their field of customers. You see signs along the road this year which read: "Try a hotel tonight, and travel first class." Yet many of the motor courts are furnished in first class hotel style, with touches that reveal the work of professional interior decorators.

* * *

In small towns, where the only hotel is a battered caravansary of the frontier period, the motor court is a blessing and almost a luxury. It is likely to provide that lofty ideal of suburban housewives—a fancy-tiled bathroom and shower-stall.

* * *

In Placerville, Cal., you can find a happy compromise in the economic war of hotel vs. motor court. The old man of the family, who remembers the gold rush, still operates his hotel, and beside it the young folks of the family, college graduates, have built a motor court bearing the same name.

* * *

Large motor court concessions would solve a housing problem in the national parks which, taken by and large, contain certain difficulties for the middle class. In general, they offer internment camp tents and cabins, without running water, and elaborate hotels where the rate is from $10 to $20 a day. The theory in Uncle Sam's playgrounds appears to be that if you want to take a bath you are an aristocrat who should pay thru the nose.

ON PUBLISHING A BOOK.

"A book?" You smile with winsome dimple,
"That's fine—and really rather simple!"

Perhaps. But wait! The dreary goof
Who writes a book must read the proof.
For days he lives in mortal terror
That he may overlook an error.
(A worry justified, becus
He quite inevitably does.)

And then, of course, one gets a printer;
Too slow, spring, summer, fall, or winter;
He's interested; sure, and eager,
But once he starts, his action's meager.

At last it's done, and you go rounter
See it on the bookstore counter;
The clerk approaches, and you daren't
At once confess that you're its parent;
You hem, and haw, and squirm, and cough
Until she thinks you're slightly off;
And finally she learns the facts—
Says, "That's how each new author acts!"

Casual.

A Voice from Schuyler County.

You know, I feel sorry for these city kids. They ain't got no roots—not deep ones in the soil, anyways. Now, me, I've got roots. I had six uncles, down in Schuyler county, all as big and wild as grandpaw was, an' ever once in a while he'd get mad an' roar, "Git off the place, you young hellions! Git!" Then they'd each harness up his drivin' horse and light out for the bottoms.

If they crossed the river into Cass county there was sure to be a scrap. Then you'd hear the old battle cry, "Schuyler agin' the world!" an' here'd come the Rittenhouses, or maybe some of the Logsdons, an' maybe some of the Thompson boys.

Funny, I heard it one black night in France. I was settin' on my horse at a fork in the roads watchin' my miles-long column of escort wagons an' caissons roll by. The 2d division was movin' out an' we were movin' in. All of a sudden some yahoo in the 2d yips out, "Schuyler agin' the world!"

Bless his heart, I never did find that guy.

MOON AT THE WELL.

O, thin new moon, thin as the print of a fingernail,
Lend me your light when I walk with my pail
Down the orchard row to the wishing well—
Are you moon or blossoms, no mortal can tell.
I'll fill the pail 'til it drips and swings
Brimming with stars and with thin gold rings,
While the tremulous water seems to hold
The minnow's arrowy dart of gold;
Blossom of apple and plum will float,
A fragrant star or a petaled boat.
There's a ripple of light, a star-pricked name,
Gone like the flick of a candle flame.

How Old Are Boys and Girls?

The "boys" and "girls" who wrangle "copy" in THE TRIBUNE'S Sunday department got into an argument over the age limits for the use of "boy" and "girl," and so the Linemaster drew up for their guidance a formula covering the various ages of both sexes. Here it is:

Boy, to 14 years; girl to 12 years; youth, 14 to 21 years; maiden, 12 years to early matrimony; young man, 21 to 30 years; young woman, 18 to 30 years; middle-aged man, woman, 30 to 50 years; spinster, 30 to 50 years; old maid, man, woman, 50 years and upward.

The "boys" and "girls" returned the document with the notation, "Pfui for the Collins Formula!"

People who walk dogs in pairs might be interested to know that a boy in La Grange has a team of Scotties named Scotch and Soda whose offspring are named Port and Sherry. Guido.

Undesirable immigrants that shouldn't have been permitted to land in America:

Hessian flies, Canadian thistles, Japanese beetles, English starlings, Scotch jokes, German measles, French leaves, Dutch treats, Chinese checkers.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT THUMBSUCKING.

THERE was a time when thumbsucking was blamed for every ill that could befall our little ones. Mothers were cautioned to break the habit at all costs otherwise malformed jaws, protruding teeth, and all sorts of oral difficulties would result.

But times change and the more we study the growth and development of children, the more we realize that, under the age of 5 or 6, attempting to devour a finger or toe will do no harm. Any deformity that may be brought about, nature will correct in due course.

Some of us can recall the group of alarmists who held that there was a sexual basis for the practice and that it must be discouraged if we would anticipate normal mentality. Apparently this theory, too, has been exploded.

As most of us realize, the primary urge of every infant is food. All of his being is devoted to the hunt for nourishment. He will cry, his face will flush, and he will present a picture of vigorous animation—until satisfied. Thereafter he will quiet down and fall asleep—happy in the possession of a well filled stomach. These episodes are repeated over and over again.

In all probability, the next most important longing is for comfort. He doesn't like to be wet, to endure an open safety pin, or to be frightened by noises or strange surroundings. Neither does he wish to be disturbed by too much handling. In the presence of discomfort, however, he may find solace in a thumb, or a finger—to offset his dampness or pain. With a fist in his mouth he may forget a disagreeable half hour. As soon as he is able to crawl about the house and pick up objects he will endeavor to chew them because he wants to find out whether they taste as good as they look.

Who can blame the baby who gets most of his sensations via the mouth from overworking that part of his anatomy—even to the introduction of a set of toes? It is the routine wherein he finds complete relaxation.

The modern viewpoint, then, is that thumbsucking is a normal response and there is not the slightest sense in stopping it or devising mechanical impediments to thwart the tendency. Neither is it considered wise to snatch the fingers away. In fact, some authorities will go as far as to point out that disapproval should never be exhibited.

Playthings that make a noise or that go round and round will serve to distract him. Supply more than one object [all too large to be swallowed] within easy reach. He will soon learn to operate his toys and be so busy with them that he will forget all about his need for a "pacifier."

But, of course, the habit must not continue forever—or be allowed to become a prime characteristic in a 4 or 5 year old. Sporadically it may occur, however, as embarrassment may cause a youngster, even in kindergarten, to try to make amends for a strange environment.

This point of view, altho not new, has been accepted by those who have studied the problem intensively as offering a sensible explanation and plan of management. Certain it is that direct interference — scoldings and punishments—will do more harm than good. While we need not reprove the child, we can provide him with so many substitutes—starting with good nutrition—that he will not feel the need of a powerful compensating factor.

KEEP YOUR EARS DRY.

M. D. writes: Is soap lather harmful to the ear canal?

REPLY.

Soap and water will dislodge germs. But all excess must be removed — not allowed to dry on the skin. Careful cleansing of the face after shaving should be the rule. This applies to the ears also. Expert brush wielders will have no trouble.

AMEBIC DYSENTERY.

Mrs. E. J. L. writes: I would like to get some details about amebic dysentery and its treatment.

REPLY.

In diarrhea which is persistent and intermittent, one should make certain that ameba are not present. If the dangerous type [entameba histolytica] is discovered, your physician will know what to do.

DARKENED LASHES.

N. E. writes: I have light eyelashes and use coloring every day. Would it be dangerous to have them dyed?

RERLY.

Before applying any chemical, have your skin tested for possible sensitivity. If no reaction occurs—go ahead and dye.

OUR GOODS GOING TO JAPAN.

Chicago, July 9.—THE TRIBUNE has called attention lately to the fact that while our declared policy is to give all-out aid to free China, we at the same time sell plenty of materials and products to the Japanese. It is not my purpose to discuss the wisdom of this policy, but I would like to call your attention to the fact that the data on our exports to Japan and her possessions [including Korea, Manchukuo, etc.] do not give the full picture of our actual—undeclared—aid to Japan.

Japan gets a great deal more from us than appears at first sight, because most of our exports addressed to China really go to the Japanese who occupy or control the receiving ports, especially Shanghai. In 1939 not less than 87.2 per cent of China's imports from the United States were actually received thru Japanese controled ports, and certainly used for Japanese purposes. The percentage has risen in 1940 to 89.3. In other words, about 90 per cent of the goods nominally directed to China supply in reality her conqueror; much of them may even be reëxported to Japan. They undoubtedly are serving the purposes of the Nipponese, such as by providing the occupation army.

The amounts in question are by no means negligible. In 1939 Japan imported from the United States, via Chinese ports, some 58 million dollars' worth of goods, and almost double that amount in 1940. More than one-fifth of these totals consisted of cotton and cotton products, metals, foodstuffs, chemicals, and other by no means unimportant things making up the rest. In addition, the unoccupied Chinese ports which get roughly 10 per cent of China's total [nominal] imports from the United States have been at one time or another also occupied by the Japanese, and there is no way of knowing how much of our exports thru these ports got to the "wrong man."

It may be assumed that the major part of free China's imports from us go thru the Burma road and do not appear at all in the China statistics of the American customs. But the remarkable fact is that, when Japan's direct imports from this side decline, she helps herself by buying more American goods via China. It is remarkable, too, that this fact is barely noticed by the public, which might do well to pay a little attention to such an extraordinary case of inconsistency in our international relations.

WANTS FRAMED CARTOONS.

Glencoe, Ill., July 9.—THE TRIBUNE offers framed prints of Sunday rotogravure supplement pictures at a nominal price; a nice practice.

Why not offer prints of McCutcheon's and Orr's cartoons in a size suitable for framing? For instance, take the McCutcheon cartoon in this morning's issue —"Why Americans are not stampeded into war by high sounding war slogans."

I would like a clean enlarged print of this on enameled stock which I could frame and hang in my office.

There must be a lot of folks like myself who would like to let the world know where we stand on this and all foreign war issues. Once a thing of this kind gained enough momentum we would have a couple of these cartoons hanging in the White House.

MORE ABOUT GEN. LEAR.

Chicago, July 10.—My congratulations to Gen. Ben Lear. Discipline begins at home and any person's conduct is judged accordingly in their later years.

E. M. M.

Buckley, Ill., July 10.—So the boys in uniform are being severely "disciplined," because they were male enough to notice a few pairs of good looking feminine legs! Of course, the army exists only thru its discipline, but it can't expect to remove, or even cover up a man's instincts. Any girl who wears shorts at a roadside golf course lays herself open to any comments—subtle or otherwise.

As for the officers who are asked to resign because they cannot keep discipline, must they paste adhesive over every man's mouth? I'm sure that would be practically necessary in a case of that sort.

AN ILLINI CO-ED.

Evanston, Ill., July 9.—Since when is it a crime for young fellows in this man's army to wave or hello at a pretty girl while riding up the road in an army truck? No doubt thousands of young American girls waved at them while passing, shouting words of praise.

Just because a general happened to be around when a bevy of pretty girls was on the golf course with their bare legs sticking out of their shorts is no reason to crucify the men to satisfy some general's "show" of authority. What kind of a man's army is this? How do you expect to make men hard, and then suddenly expect them to be a bunch of panty waists? G. A. R.,

World War [Tank corps] Veteran.

[Numerous other letters discussing Gen. Lear have been received.]

A PIONEER SUCKER.

Odell, Ill., July 10.—In 1858 we moved on the raw prairies in Livingston county, Nevada township, Ill. When I was 15, 16, and 17 years old I herded my father's cattle on the prairie. And in July and August it got mighty hot. And I got mighty thirsty. But I always carried my hollow weed and sucked the water out of crawfish holes. And the water was clear and cool because the hole was shaded by the tall grass. I was born in Illinois and am a genuine Sucker.

ALFRED GUTEL.

A LITTLE ROLYPOLY BEAR.

Chicago, July 9.—In Lincoln park zoo there is a little rolypoly clown waiting to delight the youngsters and grownups with his amusing antics. If he only had a bigger cage and a few sturdy playthings, such as a metal barrel and basket, a large wooden ball, I'll wager he would be as much fun as a circus [or a panda].

Give the black Malayan bear a chance to entertain his public.

A JULY VISITOR.

MISERY FOR MANY.

Chicago, July 9.—We are fast approaching the hay fever season with all of the misery, loss of work, etc., that this almost unnecessary malady causes.

It is an undeniable fact that 90 per cent of the suffering from this trouble is brought on by ragweed, and yet almost no effort at all is made to rid the city of this weed. The south and west sides of the city, along the streets and on the vacant lots are a mass of weeds as high as your head. These weeds harbor rats and are a great menace in may ways.

I think a little less money spent on the parks and the lake front and a little more spent on the streets would be of the greatest benefit. We have tag days and those seeking charity for almost every purpose, but no one seems to give a damn how much thousands of people in the city suffer. I cannot understand why some of the reliefers cannot be put to this work.

This is a beautiful city along the lake front, but we sadly need a little washing behind the ears. WALTER L. EULASS.

DEPOSIT PAYMENT.

Chicago, July 2.—[Legal Friend of the People]—1. I deposited $10 on a bedroom suite. My husband objected to the purchase and asked me to get my deposit back.

2. The manager of the store claimed I could not get my money and also would have to take the set or buy some article for or near the approximate amount for which I signed. My husband did not sign altho he was to go into the store as his signature was required.

3. I signed my given name and marriage last name.

4. I have no job.

5. Can they hold me to the agreement?

6. Can I get my deposit back? C. F.

1. Ordinarily the purpose of such deposit is to protect the dealer against the buyer's changing his mind and we see no reason why such procedure should not be given legal effect.

2. This would be within his rights.

3. Any name by which you can be identified would be enough to bind you.

4. If you have no assets or income then the creditor cannot collect from you and if the furniture is not received so as to constitute a family expense then we see no basis for them to hold your husband.

5. They can get a judgment but we see no way for them to collect it.

6. As a practical matter, no.

ROOSEVELT ASKS 3⅓ BILLIONS FOR SHIPS AND NAVY

566 Cargo Vessels to Be Built Under Program.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—Congress today received another new request from President Roosevelt for armament funds—3 billion 323 million dollars for the navy and maritime commission, making a total of more than 8 billion dollars requested within a 24 hour period. A new lend-lease request, estimated at another 7 billions, is still to come.

Of today's request, 1 billion 625 millions is a supplemental appropriation for the navy—needed, Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference, to provide materials and equipment to keep up with the expanding navy program.

The other 1 billion 698 millions is for the maritime commission to construct 566 merchant vessels as part of the rearmament ship construction program.

39 to Be Built on Lakes.

Of this total 39 of the C-2 type ships are slated for construction in Great Lakes yards.

The maritime commission request is divided into 698 millions in cash for new ships and 1 billion in contract authorizations.

Mr. Roosevelt's request was contained in a letter to Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas. Yesterday, in a similar letter, the President requested 4 billion 800 millions for the army.

With the new funds, the maritime commission announced it will reach an average production of two vessels daily during 1942 and 1943.

In addition to those to be built on the Great Lakes, the program calls for 418 vessels of the new EC-3 type, totaling 4,389,000 deadweight tons; 24 cargo ships of the C-3 design; 42 ships of C-2 type; 18 vessels of C-1 type, and 25 ocean going tugs of 150 to 200 gross tons each.

705 Ships on Program.

The maritime commission's present goal is 705 merchant vessels delivered by Dec. 31, 1943, of which 422 are of emergency designation.

The president has aimed at a 2 million ton shipping pool, from which vessels can be drawn for transfer to the British to be used in hauling war supplies. This pool includes privately owned and foreign held vessels recently requisitioned. The maritime commission soon will begin delivery of repaired German and Italian vessels seized by the government.

The request for the navy was divided as follows: 400 millions for maintenance and repair of defense installations in merchant ships — not arming, said the President, but degaussing, a protection against magnetic mines; 249 millions for ordnance and stores; 300 millions for pay, subsistence, clothing, etc; 300 millions for navy public works; 90 millions for naval aviation, including new planes; 90 millions for marine corps; 160 millions for repairs.

The President said none of these funds are for repairs on British warships.

INVITE 'RED' DEAN OF CANTERBURY TO SPEAK IN U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 11.—The dean of Canterbury, the Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, whose Red leanings frequently have gotten him into hot water, has received a message from "an important American source" inviting him to make a nation-wide lecture tour of the United States to explain his views on Russia, it was learned today.

He already has asked the government for permission to go, arguing that a sympathetic account of the soviet union by an English churchman might reassure Americans who are hesitating in allying themselves with Russia because they consider it "Godless."

The dean had hoped to go to America three months ago in an effort to overcome American isolationism.

Altho the archbishop of Canterbury has not yet accepted a suggestion that prayers for Russia should become part of the Church of England services, Dean Johnson says he has prayed for the Russians and intends to repeat the prayer whenever he has the opportunity. He does not mention Russia by name, but prays for "those fighting in the east."

JACKSON SWORN IN AS JUSTICE OF SUPREME COURT

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—Robert H. Jackson took the oath of office today as an associate justice of the Supreme court at a ceremony in President Roosevelt's office.

Just before the ceremony Jackson had attended his last cabinet meeting as attorney general. The cabinet remained to look on and more than 60 additional guests also were present, including Solicitor General Francis Biddle, who has been mentioned as a likely successor to Jackson as attorney general.

The oath was administered by Charles Elmore Cropley, Supreme court clerk. Jackson became the seventh Roosevelt appointee to the highest tribunal, the membership of which again is complete.

BRITISH PREPARE TO STANDARDIZE MEN'S FASHIONS

Plan $13 Work Suits, $15 'Sunday Bests.'

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 11.—Standard suits for workingmen — "off the peg," they're called here—costing 65 shillings [about $13] and "Sunday suits" at 75 shillings [about $15] are planned by Metford Watkins, new director general of civilian clothing, it was announced today. They will be manufactured from tweed and worsted cloth of guaranteed minimum standard quality.

Watkins told the public he hoped that the suits would be on the market by autumn and promised a large variety of patterns. A similar scheme may be adopted later, he said, for children's clothes and women's underwear, dresses, and costumes.

Aim: Simplify Rationing.

The standard suits are expected to help simplify the clothes rationing problem. Newspapers report that the people are bewildered by the complications of filling in the new two volume coupon books for all rationed goods.

To help housewives prevent mistakes, some store owners, despite the extra work and the shortage of staffs, display notices announcing their willingness to fill in the books on behalf of their customers.

The technicalities of the egg marketing scheme also have many poultry keepers puzzled, especially those operating on a small scale. One poultry keeper reported that he took eggs to two packing stations and both refused to accept them.

Ministry Puts Stop to That.

The food ministry today advised egg producers to apply immediately to their local food offices for the addresses of the nearest packing stations and warned the packers that they must accept all the eggs offered to them.

Thirsty Britons learned from the newspapers today that the beer shortage is likely to become worse within the next few months.

Pubs in London and the country districts, it was stated, soon may have to choose between closing down entirely one or more days a week or curtailing their daily licensed hours. In London bottled beer now is unofficially rationed.

WOMEN WARNED: GO SLOW IN YOUR HAIR DONATIONS

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—The manufacturers division of the Washington Institute of Technology today reported a nation-wide, voluntary flood of offerings of women's blonde hair for national defense.

Institute officials cautioned women against surrendering their crowning glory before determining that it is satisfactory for the purpose for which it is needed — delicate scientific instruments.

Officials explained that the institute makes meteorological instruments for the United States weather bureau and other federal agencies and the hair is needed for testing relative humidity. Artificially blond or hair that has been permanently waved or otherwise treated is no good, they said.

The war department has been deluged with offers of hair, but it repeated today an earlier announcement that "human hair is not being purchased by the army" and that it never has asked for any.

1,700 SOLDIERS BEGIN DELAYED HOLIDAY TODAY

Approximately 1,700 members of the Illinois 33d division will arrive home this morning from Camp Forrest, Tenn., for a delayed July 4 holiday. About 2,500 men from Illinois serving with the National Guard unit in the regular army will see the home folks this week, and 2,500 more will come next week. Only 3,500 came home over July 4 because of limited transportation facilities. Of those arriving in Chicago today, 600 will arrive at 5:30 a. m. on Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad, 700 more will arrive at 6:05 on the same railroad, and 400 more will arrive at 8:45 a. m. on the Illinois Central system.

Douglas Sutherland Heads Survey of School Board

New York, July 11 [Special].—Constance Binney, stage and screen actress, and Flight Lieutenant Geoffrey Leonard Cheshire of the royal air force will be married soon, it was announced at an engagement party yesterday.

Miss Binny said it was necessary to keep the date a secret because her husband would leave immediately after the ceremony to fly a bomber from Canada to England. She will fly to England via Lisbon after her marriage and take up residence near her husband's air base at York.

Miss Binney was divorced from Charles E. Cotting of Boston in 1932. She later married Henry Wharton Jr., Philadelphia attorney.

NAVY ACQUIRES NEW EXPLOSIVE; DETAILS SECRET

Plans 70 Million Dollar Factory.

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—Rear Admiral W. H. P. Blandy disclosed to the house naval committee today that the navy has a new type of explosive and plans to construct a complete, new 70 million dollar plant for its manufacture.

The chief of the navy's bureau of ordnance would not describe the explosive in open session of the committee, but said "it is brand new."

535 Millions Sought.

Blandy testified on a request by the navy for authority to contract for 585 million dollars' worth of additional shipbuilding and ordnance facilities. Of this sum 125 millions would be for ordnance.

He said the site for the new explosive plant had not been selected. "This plant would not have large capacity," he continued. "It would not have very great personnel, probably under 1,000. The equipment is extremely expensive but largely automatic."

For Army; British, Too.

Asked if it would supply the army and navy, Blandy replied:

"Production would begin in 12 to 18 months. It would serve both the army and the navy and possibly the British."

The most serious bottleneck in construction of war vessels now, Blandy said, is a shortage of armor. He added that it was planned to spend 10 million dollars for expansion of armor plants of the Bethlehem Steel company and the government owned plant at South Charleston, W. Va.

2 Chicago Area Negroes to Become Army Flyers

Two young men from the Chicago area are among the first 10 Negroes ordered yesterday by the war department to report for training as army air pilots next week at Tuskegee institute, Tuskegee, Ala. They are Roderick C. Williams, 3556 South Park way, and Theodore Edward Brown, 1819 Ashland avenue, Evanston, who will be members of the 95th pursuit squadron.

FORREST TROOPS SHORT WEAPONS FOR MANEUVERS

Supplies Come Slowly to Training Units.

Camp Forrest, Tenn., July 11 (AP).—Commanders expressed hope today that they would have their full quota of weapons and sighting equipment in time for the 2d army maneuvers next month, but there was little indication that any regiment would be fully equipped then.

It appeared certain that the 33d [Illinois] division and other troops here would have virtually no anti-tank guns — 37 mm. guns and .50 caliber machine guns—during the war games in Arkansas and Louisiana. All artillery regiments have their full complement of heavy weapons—155 mm. howitzers and guns.

Take Turns Using Weapons.

The infantry regiments of the 33d division are the only units here with either of the anti-tank weapons, but they have only enough for instruction purposes. The units take turns using them for classes.

The two Tennessee regiments, the 181st and 191st field artillery, both have their allotted 24 155 mm. howitzers, altho there is a scarcity of sighting equipment, which won't be essential in the war games since actual shells aren't used.

The 191st has only four of its quota of 12 75 mm. guns, altho the 181st has its full dozen. Neither regiment had a 37 mm. gun or a .50 caliber machine gun, the anti-tank weapons.

Some officers said the army did not plan to use either weapon with the corps artillery units when the tables of organization are revised. They attributed the shortage to this.

Blame Shipments to Europe.

Informed sources said the shortage was due to shipments to Europe and to the use of guns on new tanks now being manufactured.

The 168th field artillery from Colorado has its full quota of 24 155 mm. guns, having received 18 this week. Each is pulled by a mammoth tractor. The Coloradoans, however, have no anti-tank weapons.

Officers said there was little indication that any of the new guns—37 and 105 mm.—would be received soon.

Infantry units have received some of the new 60 mm. and 81 mm. mortars, but are far short of the 36 60's and 12 81's allotted to each regiment.

Garand Supply Increased.

Commanders said they had twice as many Garand semiautomatic rifles as when they came here in March, but they declined to give exact figures. This would indicate that the infantry has approximately half of its required 7,000 Garands to replace the old Springfield rifles.

The Illinois division field artillery regiments and the 107th cavalry have all their heavy weapons, but are without the anti-tank equipment.

Commanders said they have virtually their full complement of heavy and light .30 caliber machine guns, Browning automatic, and automatic rifles.

There is a general shortage of motor vehicles in Camp Forrest, running about 50 per cent in most regiments and as low as 30 per cent in the Tennessee outfits.

MINE PLANTING INTENSIFIED IN HARBOR OF N. Y.

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—The navy today published notice of intensive mine planting operations at the entrance to New York harbor in an area northwest of Sandy Hook light station.

A navy hydrographic report warned shipping to avoid the area in which mine planters were placing loaded mines, marked by four spherical buoys painted red, in New York's lower bay.

The operation began June 18 and will continue until September 30, the report stated. The mined area will be kept under constant surveillance by boats as long as the mines are in position, it was said.

CHICAGO TROOPS ENGAGE IN SOME PRACTICE FIRING

But 202d Is Short of Anti-Aircraft Guns.

BY JACK THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Bliss, Tex., July 11.—Since reaching camp last September, Chicago's 202d coast artillery [anti-aircraft] National Guard regiment, has engaged in some practice firing and fired the course once for record. Each of the six anti-aircraft regiments here should fire two record courses a year.

The last time the 202d fired out on the three big ranges on the 71,000 acre camp site was early April. July was to have been the month for the second record firing. But there has been no firing, and probably will be none, because the regiment has been issued no ammunition.

This situation is typical of the shortage of ammunition, ordnance, and motor equipment, facing the six anti-aircraft regiments, four of which are National Guard units. It is similar to the shortage existing in other training camps.

Transfer 8 Machine Guns.

Where the regiment should have 24 37 mm. rapid fire guns, suitable either for anti-aircraft or anti-tank defense, it has two. Where it should have 24 heavy machine guns [.50 caliber], for defense against low flying or hedge-hopping planes, it has four. It did have 12 at one time, but while on maneuvers recently near Camp Bowie, Brownwood, Tex., eight were taken to help outfit a regiment leaving for active duty.

Every man in the regiment who is supposed to carry a rifle has one, a full compliment of 1,531. All are the old bolt action Springfield, many of which reached camp covered with rust from long disuse. None of the men has seen the new Garand semi-automatic rifle which is to replace the Springfield.

In its heaviest armament, the three inch anti-aircraft gun, the regiment has full strength, 12. These guns are said to be slated to be replaced by the new 90 mm. gun, not yet ready.

139 Browning Rifles.

The batteries also have their required 139 Browning automatic rifles, but only two of the 16 control sets for automatic weapons. They are up to full strength on sound locators [15], searchlights [15], height finders [4], and directors [4], but are short 29 pistols.

In the motor transport department the 1,700 men of the regiment have neither their 20 motorcycles nor the alternative, the bantam car.

Despite its shortage of guns, the regiment managed to get in its first record course [some 40 .30 caliber light machine guns have been substituted for the missing 37 mms. and the .50 caliber machine guns.

Its record on the firing range, particularly with the big 3 inch guns, was reported to have been one of the most efficient in the service.

For some time after the unit first came down here it fired according to table of fire, drawn up in Fort Monroe, the anti-aircraft headquarters. This was based on an altitude of 2,000 feet and didn't work at Fort Bliss, where the altitude is 4,000 feet.

Firing according to the prescribed table, the men could not come near a target. So they experimented, figured out their own computations, fired again, and made high scores.

2 SPECIAL MUSIC TREATS TONIGHT ON CHICAGO HOUR

'Scene in Vienna' and a Tribute to Gershwin.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The Chicagoland Hour will present two special features—a musical dramatic production titled "A Scene in Vienna" and a tribute to the memory of George Gershwin—over WGN and the Mutual network from 9 to 10 o'clock tonight.

Igor Gorin.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, is to be the speaker.

The Chicagoland Hour and other public broadcasts in studio 1 are to be aired henceforth thru loud speakers into the Nathan Hale court between W-G-N and Tribune tower, offering a pleasant evening diversion to Michigan avenue strollers. Benches and chairs to accommodate several hundred persons will be set up in the court each evening except Sunday. Tickets are required, however, for admission to studio 1 except by soldiers and sailors in uniform.

Romance in Vienna.

"A Scene in Vienna," a musical vignette, portrays the romance of Carl and Katya, a young couple entranced by the beauty and melody of Vienna. The dramatic rôles will be taken by John Larkin and Genelle Gibbs.

Igor Gorin, famous concert and radio baritone, and Marion Claire will take the singing rôles. Michael Wilkomirski will depict Carl as a violinist when he plays "Caprice Viennois." Other rôles in the play: Bess McCammon as Katy's aunt, and Marvin Mueller as Ludwig, Carl's uncle. William Bacher wrote the sketch and will produce the entire show.

Tribute to Gershwin.

The tribute to George Gershwin comes one day after the fourth anniversary of his death. The salute to Gershwin will include his "Rapsody in Blue," by the orchestra, and songs from his folk opera, "Porgy and Bess." Gorin and Miss Claire will sing "Summertime," "I Got Plenty of Nuthin'" and "It Ain't Necessarily So." Henry Weber will direct the W-G-N orchestra.

Mrs. Catherine McTigue, 82 years old, 8011 Wood street, was fatally injured last night when she was struck by an automobile near her home. She died in St. George's hospital early today. The driver was Howard Paulin, 19, of 8005 Throop street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 493 persons had been killed in traffic accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 352 were killed in Chicago, where 12,701 were injured in the same period.

SWINDLE VICTIMS IDENTIFY GYPSY TRIO AT SHOWUP

Three gypsies, arrested on suspicion yesterday in River Forest, were identified at a showup in the suburb's police station by 10 persons who have reported themselves swindled of a total of $115 by gypsies in recent months. The gypsies identified themselves as Annie Miller, 28 years old, 606 Maxwell street; Amelia Johns, 52, of the same address, and Eli John, 28, of 652 14th street.

They were arrested by Policeman Bernard Gerard, who saw them talking to a colored man near Lathrop and Central avenues, River Forest. The gypsies drove away, but Gerard followed them to Franklin avenue and Washington boulevard, where he seized them.

All were charged with disorderly conduct. John also was charged with speeding, driving thru a red light, and using a fictitious license plate.

A Pawn Broker Lends $75 on $20 Ring! Smiles It Off

After a clerk in the Chicago State Pawners, Ltd., pawn brokers at 29 North Clark street, had lent a man $75 on a diamond ring yesterday, I. Raymer, the owner, found that the stones in the ring were zircons. He told police sadly that the ring was worth only $20. Detectives Charles Lindstrom and Roy Kindt promised to search for the confidence man. Raymer, noting their smiles, smiled back. "I know," he said, "when it happens to a pawn broker it's news."

CHILDREN STAND UP IN BOAT; UPSET IT; THREE DROWN

Two Others Saved Off Fort Sheridan.

Three children were drowned yesterday when two of them, frightened by rough water, stood up in a rowboat and caused it to capsize in five feet of water 50 yards off Fort Sheridan. Life guards rescued two other children in the boat.

Those drowned were Patricia Nowakowski, 3 years old, daughter of Capt. Felix Nowakowski, post adjutant; Hedwig Zieleniewski, 15, and her sister, Elfreda, 13, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zieleniewski of Detroit. The Zieleniewski children were nieces of Capt. and Mrs. Nowakowski and were visiting at the fort.

Take Life Guard's Boat.

Those rescued were Philip Nowakowski, 6, a brother of Patricia, and Edmund Graham, 15, son of Lieut. Col. Robert Graham of Frankfort, Ky., commander of the 103d coast artillery [anti-aircraft] battalion, which is in training at the fort.

The children were playing on the beach when they discovered a life guard's rowboat and took it out into the lake. They had rowed about for 10 or 15 minutes when the waves became rough and the boat began to ship water.

The Zieleniewski sisters, sitting in the rear seat, became frightened and stood up on the seat. The boat tipped to one side and capsized, throwing all the children into the water.

Revived After Half Hour.

Fred Van Duzee, a civilian life guard, came on duty at the beach just after the accident. He plunged into the water and brought out the Graham boy. Another life guard, Corp. James Engles of the 61st coast artillery [anti-aircraft], dragged Philip Nowakowski from the water and revived him after working over him for half an hour.

Bodies of the three girls were recovered and soldiers attempted without success to revive them.

Testifying at an inquest, at which a verdict of accidental death was returned, young Graham said that he was the only one of the five in the boat who could swim. Dr. John L. Taylor, coroner of Lake county, said that oars were supposed to be removed from the boat each night, but that the life guards had neglected to do so Thursday evening.

2 SURVIVE CAPSIZING

One youth presumably was drowned, another was rescued, and a third swam to safety in a five hour lake drama which ended early today. The supposed victim was John Lochner, 21 years old, 2313 Addison street. His more fortunate companions were Edwin Jolly, 20, of 5137 North Oakley avenue, and Wilbur Finkler, also 20, of 1227 Wellington avenue.

The three were in Finkler's 15 foot sailboat, the Ayesha, when it was capsized by a wind gust a mile southeast of Montrose avenue. Jolly volunteered to swim to shore for help. He put on a life jacket, and for the next hour and a half battled his way thru heavy seas, reached shore, and notified Cecil Burwell, Belmont harbor master.

A dozen coast guard, park district, private boats, and Sea Scout boats then began a search for Lochner and Finkler. Shortly before 2 a. m. Park Policemen Robert Oman and Thomas Dunleavy, playing their squad car searchlight along the lake, spotted Finkler standing on the pier off 999 Lake Shore drive. With their two-wave radio they notified the park police boat, commanded by Burwell, and Finkler was quickly rescued and taken to Passavant hospital. He said that Lochner sank an hour earlier. Finkler clung to the boat until it washed against the pier.

The building occupies a plot 100 by 240 feet at Madison avenue and 46th street. The city has assessed the property at $3,675,000.

BOAT WASHES UP ON SHORE; SEARCH FOR BODY IN LAKE

After a drifting boat, containing a man's clothing and a dog, floated ashore yesterday in Maple lake, in the forest preserve south of Willow Springs, police from the Willow Springs station began dragging the lake in the belief a man had been drowned.

Papers found in the clothing, and tracing of the license on an automobile parked near the lake, led police to believe that the man was John P. Hyde, 21 years old, of 8721 South Michigan avenue. Hyde's relatives confirmed that he had not returned home. The dragging, abandoned after several hours of futile work last night, will be resumed today.

GIVE GIRL PILOT WHO TOOK POISON A 50-50 CHANCE TO RECOVER

Miss Dorothy Powell, pretty amateur aviatrix, who swallowed poison in her room in the Allerton hotel, 701 North Michigan avenue, Thursday night, was given an even chance to recover by physicians in Passavant hospital yesterday. Miss Powell, 24 years old, was voted Wisconsin's best amateur flyer in 1939. Her home is in La Crosse, Wis.

Before taking the poison the young woman penned a farewell love letter to a friend, named "Don." In the letter she said that because of an illness she could not live longer than three months and did not want to make any one unhappy.

The young woman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Powell, who came to Chicago, told Sergt. R. J. McCarthy and Detective William Shroll of the Chicago Avenue station that they did not know of any illness their daughter had.

Miss Powell's father said she had been employed until two weeks ago at the Ellsworth Pipe and Supply company in Milwaukee. He also said that Donald Ellsworth of the Milwaukee Supply company was her former employer.

Winter Club Holds Annual Swim Today

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE pool of the Winter club never is a particularly quiet spot but this afternoon when the club's annual swimming meet is held the splashings and squealings, the applause and the excitement will resound for blocks around. The events will get under way at 3:30 o'clock with races for 10 and 11 year old girls and boys and then will shift to the beginners, who will be judged on how well they have mastered their strokes.

Harold Sweeney, who will award medals to the first three winners in each event, has asked some of the Winter club "graduates," to help with the judging. Subdeb Olive Robbins will be the head girl judge, assisted by subdebs Virginia Washburne and Diana Prosser. Hixon Glore heads the boy judges. No one remembers much who wins from year to year for the main point of the afternoon is that every one, contestants and parents alike, has a good time and goes home happy.

Diving Contests Follow Races for Beginners.

After the beginners' races there will be races for boys and girls from 7 to 14, followed by the diving contests, divided by ages into three groups.

A back stroke free for all for both boys and girls will be followed by novelty races. These include a balloon race for girls, a pants and shirt race for boys—it involves getting in the pool, dressing, swimming to the opposite end and undressing—and a potato race for girls, in which the contestants swim to the deep end, spear a potato on the floor of the pool, and swim back. A handcuff race for boys also is on the program, and then a relay race, girls against boys, will close the program. Punch and cookies will be served in the clubhouse.

Some of the divers in the senior group are "Friskie" Broeksmit, Joan Hill, Betty Swift, Pamela Kelley, Barbara Priebe, Nora Chandler, Alice Jean Fleming, and Harriet Stuart. Among the boy divers are John McDonald, Wesley Dixon, David Bryan, Charles Searles, Milton Traer, Tom Washburne, Dewey Mead, and Botsford Young.

Lull in Debutante Parties After This Week-end.

This week-end brings the last of the debutante parties in Lake Forest for several weeks to come so the buds and their beaux will be making the most of the gayety. A tea and a dinner-dance are on today's program, followed by two parties tomorrow, Miss Mary Cornelia Aldis' 18th birthday party in the evening, and a buffet luncheon the Champ Carrys are giving for Miss Lana Jelke and Miss Dudley Winston at noon.

The entertaining will carry over until Tuesday night when the Paul V. Harpers are giving a small barn dinner for Miss Aldis. Farmers' dress will be in order, of course, and dinner will be served beforehand.

Today's debutantes are Miss Louise Strawn and Miss Bessie Cowles. Miss Strawn and her mother, Mrs. Taylor Strawn, will be receiving from 4 until 7 o'clock this afternoon in the Milton Morse home in Lake Forest, which they are occupying this summer. Miss Cowles is to be introduced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Knight C. Cowles, at a dinner-dance in their Lake Forest residence.

Former Classmate Among Miss Strawn's Assistants.

Assisting Miss Strawn, who was graduated last June from Mount Vernon, will be a former classmate, Miss Mary Fitts of Wellesley, Mass., who is visiting the Strawns; Miss Jean Guilbert of Racine, Wis., Miss Mary Hoyt Cowles, Mrs. Chester Shepard's daughter of Neenah, Wis., who is a guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Cowles; Miss Lana Jelke, Miss Dudley Winston, Miss Frances Clow, Miss Sally Robbins, Miss Anne Boswell, Miss Modrea Mullen, Miss Shirley Strotz, and Miss Mary Lew Pope. Miss Mary Cowles and Miss Strawn were at the Brownmoor school together.

Mr. and Mrs. Cowles have invited a few of their own friends to the party tonight, but the guests will be mostly contemporaries of their daughter. Miss Bessie Cowles attended Miss Hall's school.

Miss Aldis' party will be a buffet supper in the garden of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Aldis. A magician will provide the after supper entertainment.

Miss Evelyn Bouscaren Being Married Today.

There's a wedding on today's calendar, too, that of Miss Evelyn Bouscaren and Lieut. J. Munroe McNulty, which will take place at noon in the Church of SS. Faith, Hope, and Charity, in Winnetka. A breakfast will follow at the Winnetka home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. G. Bouscaren.

The Rev. Timothy Bouscaren has come from Detroit to read the service for his niece and Lieut. McNulty. Miss Bouscaren will wear a lace dress belonging to her grandaunt, Mrs. Frederick W. Horne of New York, who was unable to come for the wedding. Another greataunt and an aunt are here, however, Miss Bouscaren and Miss Lincoln of Cincinnati.

Miss Bouscaren will have her subdebutante sister, Anne, for her only attendant. Lieut. McNulty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. McNulty, will have his father as best man. This wedding will be the second between the McNulty and Bouscaren families as the former Katherine McNulty is married to Henri Bouscaren. They are here from Dallas for the ceremony, and another brother of the bride, Pierre Bouscaren, has come from Greenwich, Conn.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, July 11.—Not since the days of Mack Sennett has one studio sheltered so many screwballs as happen now to be working at Universal. Among those employed in various comedies are such noted wacks as W. C. Fields, Abbott and Costello, Olsen and Johnson, Mischa Auer, Martha Raye, Hugh Herbert, Andy Devine, and Walter Catlett. Over the main gate of the studio has been placed a big sign, "Esoteric Pictures." This is no gag even tho a dictionary definition of the word is apt enough: "Communicated to, or intelligible by, the initiated only." It happens that Bill Fields' movie, "The Great Man," is a picture within a picture, and Esoteric is supposed to be the studio he's working for. . . . Universal's production department is not so quietly going mad trying to maintain schedules, for the comedians are great visitors. Given half a chance, Abbott and Costello will sneak off their own set to see how Olsen and Johnson work, and so on.

Fields, of course, has provided the basis for his own script. In "The Bank Dick" he credited the plot to "Mahatma Kane Jeeves." The new one will be "from an original story by Otis Criblecobles. . . . Reminds me of the years-old story of the time when Bill, after weeks of mountainous laboring, brought into a studio the script of his projected picture. It was only 30 pages long. Studio heads, wanting to see what they were shooting their dough on, opined that it was pretty short and slim to start a big production on. So Bill retired for several more weeks, came back with a script 60 pages long. This still looked short but the bosses allowed it would do. Later they discovered it was Fields' original 30 pager. He had merely double-spaced it.

"Almost an Angel" is right. Charles Laughton, working with Deanna Durbin in a picture of that title, entertained 50 young RAF training pilots at his home the other night. Deanna was there—and before the evening was over she had danced with every one of the 50. . . . Bob Stack is playing a gunman in Universal's western, "Bad Lands of Dakota," and for once an actor has been properly cast. Bob is one of the most noted marksmen in the country.

The Hays office may have banned sweater girls, but we still have our Gene Tierney. Gene, playing a half caste siren in Walter Wanger's east African picture, "Sundown," wears a filmy black veil costume that permits pleasant revelations and a bare midriff. "What," I asked her on the set yesterday, "are you supposed to be? A princess?" "This costume is authentic African," she replied, "but I think it makes me look more like a Petty girl."

Good Morning!

We critics used to do a heap of raving about Ernst Lubitsch's canny way with a comedy. . . . In "That Uncertain Feeling" he demonstrates that he retains the master's touch.

This gay piece, featuring the exquisite Oberon, the dashing Douglas, and the mighty Meredith [he is, you know], makes cool, frothy seeing for a summer's day.

Not that it has much to offer in the way of originality—for the plot is ye whiskered one dealing with the busy business man, his adoring but resentful wife, and the "other man" who happens on the scene at a psychological moment.

In the present case the last named is seen as a temperamental pianist with a surrealist art complex and no inhibitions re fortune hunting. But, above lack duly disposed of, this production has much to contribute to general enjoyment in matters of speedy action, smart dialog—in one bit of which Mr. Douglas adroitly manages to insert a soupcon of interventionist propaganda—and mighty good playing on the part of everybody on deck.

Just to look at Merle Oberon should be worth $5 of any man's money. What clothes she wears! And HOW she wears them. . . . Here is the charm lent by perfect grooming, daintiness, utter femininity, and the unobtrusive cleverness which would make you swear that she's beautiful.

Mr. Douglas is sweet-sour, hard-soft, and serio-comical in his customary engaging fashion. . . . Burgess Meredith gives a lusty, tongue in cheek account of The Genius. [Who ain't.]

The film is richly staged, splendidly photographed, and, thruout, commands your amused interest.

See you tomorrow.

William Baker frequently goes to see his daughter, Mrs. Charles R. Crane, who lives at the Churchill, and usually his black spaniel, Chesney, accompanies him. When a lady enters the elevator, as they ascend to Mrs. Crane's apartment, Chesney always moves to the back of the elevator and gets up politely on his hind legs, in respectful recognition. The other day when Mr. Baker and Chesney were in the elevator and a young woman entered, Chesney did not stand up on his hind legs. He declined to, even when his master reminded him. The young woman was wearing slacks.

Edge of the Wedge.

Raconteurs Orson Welles and Ernest Byfield exchanged stories during a session while Welles was in town recently. One of Welles' stories was an English club story:

The most conservative club in London had been debating if perhaps there should not be some provision for women at the club, wives and families of the members. After several generations of debate, the club decided there should be, and a small ladies' wing was built, with its own entrance, well-withdrawn and walled off from the men's quarters. When the women's wing was opened, Queen Mary came to inspect. After she had seen it, she electrified members by saying she would like to see the men's quarters also into which no woman had ever set foot. The doors were perforce, unlocked and the queen swept into the main room where members were sitting in customary dignity. All of them stood up, for after all she was the queen, except one old diehard, who sat in a chair by the window. He threw down his Post and stamped out of the room. "The thin edge of the wedge," he was heard to mutter.

All Ages Have Fun at Benefit for Ridge Farm

BY HARRIETT PRIBBLE.

There was no age limit to the guests yesterday at the 400 acre Walter Murphy estate in Lake Forest, or to the diversions offered for their entertainment. The all-day party, a benefit for the Ridge Farm Preventorium, was definitely a family affair. Grandmothers, mothers, and youngsters arrived early in the morning to have luncheon, picnic style, at little tables on the lawn, watch an outdoor fashion show, play bridge on the porches of the huge English stucco house, and stroll thru the gardens, partitioned into flower bordered paths by high privet hedges.

"All these proud grandmothers," Mrs. George A. Ranney called to a friend as she arrived at the morning children's fiesta with her grandson and his nurse. The fiesta was enchanting alike to the wide eyed tots watching the Punch and Judy show and to the grownups watching the children. The refreshment booths, skirted in red cellophane fringe and shaded by a red and white striped awning, did a rushing business in pop and ice cream cones.

Mrs. W. Irving Osborne Jr. and her daughters, Adrienne and Gwendolyn, took up a young "barker's" challenge to "break a plate and get an ice cream cone."

Young Johnny Adams, who was with his mother, Mrs. Charles T. Adams, broke two of the plates with the balls he threw.

Mrs. Ray Prescott Johnson Jr., in a powder blue pinafore with scalloped sleeves over a peasant blouse, brought her young son, Ray III., whose red, white, and blue balloon matched his sailor suit. Mrs. Gair Tourtellot Jr. and her daughters, Janet Lynn and Wendy Lee, were a mother and daughter trio in identical yellow dirndls banded in red poinsettia embroidery.

The Henry N. Rowleys' daughter, Andria, and Jane Dennehy were with Mrs. Thomas C. Dennehy Jr. Mrs. C. Daggett Harvey had her daughter, Jean, by the hand, and Dickie Bentley was with his mother, Mrs. Richard Bentley. Mrs. Alanson J. Donald, in a striking gray, white, and flamingo striped dress, Mrs. Clarence Boyd, in a yellow chintz dirndl, Mrs. James H. Douglas, and Mrs. Gordon P. Kelly were among others who enjoyed the fun.

Just before 1 o'clock, 300 box lunches were given out at the entrance to the formal garden, and while guests opened their attractive packages models came down the central grassy path which served as a runway. Mrs. Ronald P. Boardman, the benefit chairman, in a cool, green shantung gown and necklace of twisted shells, introduced the models.

Starting off the fashion show, Mrs. C. Morse Ely, Mrs. Uri B. Grannis, Mrs. Jay Morse Ely, and 2 year old Angela Ely represented four generations in the same family. Especially applauded were Miss Edith Cowles' svelte black crêpe gown sprayed in red flowers, subdeb Kyle Adams' white piqué dance dress with red quilted poppies appliqued on the skirt, Miss Marie Louise Hulburd's romantic white tulle ball gown with a drove of magenta feathered birds in flight across the skirt, Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin's white net hostess gown with a garden of silk flowers at the waist, and the mother and daughter blouses, print skirts, and monogrammed socks worn by Mrs. John T. Pirie Jr. and Sharon.

One of the loveliest dresses in the show was Mrs. Eugene du Pont III.'s white piqué evening gown with large net leaves underlaid in silver floating over the skirt. Another favorite was Miss Joan Reid's white marquisette debut gown. For yachting Miss Diana Hill introduced a sou'wester jacket, fisherman's cap of blue denim, and a bright red coat lined with blue and white print.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

The mothers of those small children whose skin is very fair, very thin and always prone to burn will probably be glad to know that last year some experiments with a sunburn cream used on tots were most successful.

The natural blonde thin skinned children can be protected effectively with this preparation and if it's properly applied it won't leave the skin uncomfortably coated. It's one of the best of the sunfiltering products, and you can regulate a tan with it quite easily.

Babies need sun, of course, but because their skin is so delicate it's important to see that they are not over exposed and that they have some protection. This white liquid cream applied to face, neck, and shoulders will prevent burning. If you want the child's skin to remain fair apply the cream frequently while the child is sunning. If you want to lead up slowly and safely to a coat of tan, the degree of tan can be controled by applying the cream less often.

Incidentally, children shouldn't be in the sun during the hottest part of the day, and it's wise to remember, too, that a wet skin burns much faster than a dry one. If the child is playing in water in the hot sun, dry him off frequently and be more careful than ever to apply a protective.

If the child tans naturally and you want that tan to be deeper, there is a suntan lotion that dries on application. This doesn't have the emollient qualities of the cream and is better adapted to childish skins that are not overly delicate.

Sally Reveals Party Guests in Sunday Tribune

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Tomorrow's TRIBUNE will tell the tale, boys and girls!

The suspense will be over for all the hundreds of youngsters who wrote me to ask for invitations to our big party at the Hotel Sherman next Thursday. The list of winners will be printed in my column, and the 50 boys and 50 girls who have been selected will rceive personal invitations by mail a day or two later.

Great preparations are going on in the Panther room, and Carl Marx the clown, Coleman Clark, the table tennis champion, and Helen O'Connell and Bob Eberly of Jimmy Dorsey's crew are all set to put on a grand show for us.

I know that all the boys and girls who find their names listed will be delighted, and I'm sorry I couldn't select every child who wrote in, but many of you forgot to include details I requested and your letters had to be discarded.

However, I know that any of you who have been disappointed will buck up immediately when you see the second portion of good news I have for you.

It's the announcement of our next party—and I'm sure there's not a boy or girl in the country who won't jump at the chance to attend it. Let me know if I'm not right when you write next week!

Park Concert Pays Tribute to Paderewski

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Last night's Grant park concert, which was presented amid bleak winds and under sorrowful skies, honored the memory of Ignace Jan Paderewski, the great Polish pianist, statesman, and humanitarian who died last June 29.

The orchestra was conducted by Jerzy Bojanowski, Polish-American musician who knew Paderewski personally. The soloist was the Polish-American soprano, Valerie Glowacki. The Filareci Singing society, a Chicago group composed of persons of Polish extraction, assisted on the program.

Despite the bitter weather, thousands of persons turned out to honor a man who was far from being the idol of a small group or even a single nation but who had won the respect of the entire world for his musicianship, his statesmanship, and his almost unexampled generosity. Chicago's vast Polish-American population doubtless provided the bulk of last night's audience, but augmenting it were men and women whose interest in and love for Paderewski have nothing to do with national or racial considerations.

The orchestra played the celebrated Paderewski minuet in an arrangement which preserved the piece's delicacy and grace and its peculiarly patrician beauty. There was other Polish music on the program—notably the works of the renowned operatic composer, Moniuszko. Both Miss Glowacki and the Filareci Singing society were heard in Moniuszko excerpts.

Mayor Kelly was to have spoken, but a suddenly scheduled trip to Washington for a conference made it impossible for him to come.

This was the fourth concert in the lake front series which is presented free to the public and is sponsored by the Chicago park district and the Chicago Federation of Musicians.

Famed Old Princess Theater Yields to the Ax of Wreckers

Wreckers will start in a few days razing the Princess theater, 317-21 South Clark street, at one time famous for its Chicago productions of musical comedies, and later the home of many well known dramas and stars. V. O'Brien took title for an undisclosed syndicate from the estate of Jacob Franks. It will be used for a parking lot.

The Princess theater was opened in 1908 by Herman Fehr and Mort H. Singer, who for three years had been producing original musical comedies at the La Salle theater. Will Singer was manager.

The opening attraction was "A Stubborn Cinderella," a musical comedy by Adams and Hough, famous writers of La Salle theater comedies, with music by Joe E. Howard. John Barrymore was leading man. It ran for 10 months.

The second Chicago production was Henry Woodruff in "The Prince of Tonight," a musical comedy in which the famous song, "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now?" was first sung.

Later the Shuberts leased the theater and many dramas were given, including several nationally known mystery plays, notably "The Bat." During the last few years pictures have been shown intermittently.

The Princess will be the fourth famous Chicago playhouse to be turned over to wreckers in recent years. Others were the Powers, the Illinois, and the Cort.

SYNOPSIS.

Orphaned since childhood, Celia Ames, 22, has no one to whom she can turn when she loses her job. In her loneliness she has fallen in love with ingratiating Val Quentin, a fellow boarder, who is always borrowing money from her. She runs into Felicity Stanmore, four years her junior, whom she mothered in convent days. Felicity's mother is dead and her father, Sir Martin, is 39, handsome and rich. Felicity invites Celia to their home for the week-end and confides to her that she is in love. The man turns out to be Val, and Celia finds that he has bought Felicity a ring with money he got from pawning Celia's jewelry. Sir Martin does not like Val and asks Celia to come live with them as Felicity's companion and help run the household during Felicity's Aunt May Allison's absence. Celia accepts. Miss Allison, jealous of Felicity's love for Celia, has made things as difficult for Celia as possible. Then, too, altho Celia is now cured of her love for Val, she is forced to warn Felicity against him, and Felicity thinks Celia is just jealous. Celia finds herself falling in love with Sir Martin and wanting to live up to his trust in her but at the same time she does not want to tell tales on Felicity. At a cabaret party Sir Martin learns that Val is divorced and living on money from his ex-wife. He forbids Val his house and is furious at Celia for not telling him. Felicity, rebellious, disappears, and Celia frantically follows and finds her on board a train en route to meet Val in Paris. But just as she finds her, Celia stumbles and sprains her ankle badly. As a last desperate effort to stop the elopement Celia tells Felicity about Val pawning her jewelry. Felicity, convinced he is no good, throws his ring away and goes home. Felicity bars Celia not to tell her father, but Sir Martin suspects that something is wrong and quarrels with Celia for not telling him what it is. Miss Allison returns home and tells Celia they all think she would be better off in a nursing home where her ankle could be looked after properly. Celia leaves but goes back to her former boarding house instead of going to the nursing home. A small windfall from some supposedly worthless stock helps pay her board and buy her clothes. She learns that Val has remarried his ex-wife.

INSTALMENT XXX.

CONFESSION OF LOVE.

Miss Allison had said how glad she was that Celia was so much better, altho in her opinion it seemed a little unwise not to have taken advantage of their arranging for her to go to the nursing home. And she said she supposed they would not be seeing Celia for some time, as Felicity was going shortly to Rome with friends and would be away until after Easter.

She made no mention of Martin, nor—to Celia's relief—of the little heap of one pound notes that Jenkins would have returned to her.

Miss Allison was a diplomat to her fingers' ends.

It did not occur to Celia that even the cleverest diplomacy may break down.

* * * * *

Everything was settled now with Mrs. Ismalian, who came to London for the purpose of interviewing Celia Ames and brought photographs of her two little girls. She was a large, wealthy looking person of benevolent aspect, and not so particular about previous experience as the Helpful Ladies had feared she might be.

After all, perhaps it was just as well Celia had been moderately extravagant in the matter of new clothes. The Rookery sounded as tho it might be a little like Leighton House. Mrs. Ismalian was sending her car on Friday, the 13th, to fetch Miss Ames, unless she was superstitious, which Miss Ames said she wasn't.

Celia bought a smart little wardrobe trunk, a dressing case and a hat box to hold her new clothes. She would have committed a sentimental extravagance, too, if Felicity had not retained possession of those pawn tickets. Later on, when time had got in its healing work, she would write to Felicity and ask her to return them.

Well, life can start again at 22. And it probably would be starting again and again and again.

This time she must be very careful and save money as never before, and shun love like the plague.

She began her campaign of economy by giving a new wrist watch to Miss Best, whose old one had met with an accident, and by a lavish distribution of tips all around at Alanbrook to make up for stinginess in the past. There was something quite regal about the manner in which Celia Ames was leaving Alanbrook this time.

Mrs. Ismalian's car was coming for her at 5 o'clock, but long before then she was ready. Indeed, she was ready shortly after lunch, and that was terrible because she didn't want just to sit down and think about things. It was all right so long as she had plenty to do, and sorting out and packing her belongings, distributing largesse, making Lyddy happy with the gift of old clothes and being kissed by Miss Best for the gift of the wrist watch, had given her a glow that passed for happiness.

No, she didn't want to sit down and think about anything.

It was Miss Best's idea that she might kill time at the local cinema. And as an idea it could not have been worse. Of all people, who were they showing that week but Clive Brook!

Celia sat thru 10 minutes of the picture and then had to come out.

Of course, Martin Stanmore was not the spitting image of the film star, but he was enough so to wring her heart all over again.

She had a cup of tea to steady her nerves and walked back thru a stinging March wind, gritting her teeth and lashing herself with all the hard names she could call to mind.

They didn't help much, and Celia was glad when she slipped thru the hall that Miss Best wasn't on the lookout. Because as sure as shooting she was going to have one last good cry. That would help more than all the tea and hard names in the world. She hadn't cried for nearly 10 days now. This was going to be a real riot!

And then on the threshold of the luxury suite, now all nicely put in order for the next customer, Celia Ames was brought up short with the bitter realization that she was going to be defrauded of her orgie.

There was the double of the man she had just run away from, pacing like a caged tiger, with a dark scowl in his eyes and his mouth screwed sidewise as tho he was biting on hard steel. No less than Martin Stanmore, himself.

"O," he exlaimed—"O, here you are. The woman said she didn't expect you back much before 5."

* * * * *

There was not the least hope, now, of having a good cry.

In fact, the impulse dried up of its own accord.

Martin Stanmore looked so angry that Celia reacted at once with a little of her own.

She felt almost calm as she greeted him.

"What a pleasant surprise," she said.

Well, it was a surprise all right, and one must be courteous, if only to remind other people of their manners.

She shook hands with him in a firm, jerky way, and then turned on the gas fire.

"They ought to have lit this for you. It's terrible cold today."

She didn't need a match for the fire. It lighted with a flint.

"How's Felicity?"

"Very well. I saw her off to Rome this morning with Sandy and Myra Sturgis and Myra's children. She told me to give you her love. O, all sorts of messages."

"Miss Allison wrote me that Felicity was going to Rome with some friends."

"O, she did? She wrote you?"

"She answered the letter I wrote her. I didn't go to the nursing home, altho it was very kind of you to offer to send me. I really did not need to. My ankle wasn't nearly as bad as we thought."

"I didn't offer to send you to any nursing home," Martin said. "We'd better clear the air a little. I had no idea you had left Leighton House until I got back yesterday. I was called up north suddenly the day after you and Felicity took a joy ride to Dover. The day May returned. There wasn't any time to say good-by or anything."

"O?" Celia looked as bewildered as she felt.

"And I understood that Felicity had some date with Sandy that afternoon so she wasn't home either. It was Sandy who told me about the frustrated elopement. May told Felicity that you had gone to a nursing home, but wished to be quiet and not see anybody. Felicity smelt a rat, of course, but decided to do nothing at all until I came back. She didn't even write me about it, because she didn't want to worry me."

"Didn't you get the letter I wrote you?"

"No, I didn't." Martin's mouth looked grim.

"I wrote to Felicity, too!"

"I'll swear she didn't hear from you, either."

"Then—?"

"Yes, I expect my sister-in-law held them back.' He cleared his throat and fixed his gaze on the fluted plaster centerpiece from which the ceiling light depended.

"Celia—perhaps it's too late now to do anything, but just thank you for all you've done for me. I had a rotten bad time. First, because I was falling in love with you, and then because I somehow got it into my head that you were double crossing me with Felicity. I mean, when I asked you what it was all about, and you wouldn't tell me.

"God knows what I thought. It wouldn't make sense to you—and it didn't make sense to me, either. So often the simplest things don't when you get a fixed idea in your head. I got it fixed in my head that you were still potty over Quentin. Felicity says she'll stake her living oath—whatever that may mean—that you're not. And that's what I came here to find out."

[Concluded Monday.]

Washburne Trade School Holds Annual Outing

Several hundred pupils of Washburne Trade school romped thru an outing yesterday in Lincoln park, where the school's second annual picnic was held. Lillian Leibl, 435 Sullivan street, elected "Miss Washburne" by popular vote, headed a parade of the pupils from the school at 1225 Sedgwick street to the park. The costumes she and her four attendants wore were, except for shoes and stockings, entirely handmade. Prizes for competitive games were awarded by Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools.

Fresh fruit belongs somewhere in every summer party menu. Many hostesses place it first, others like it better as dessert. And fresh fruit salads are refreshing summer eatments, too.

July is a wonderful month for melons, honeydews, honeyballs, cantaloupe, and watermelon, all of which make appealing fruit cups, salads, and desserts. Peaches, pears, plums, cherries, figs, loganberries, huckleberries, green grapes, blueberries, even those rare and gorgeous aromatic mangoes [if you're lucky enough to find them in your market] are other choices among July's fresh fruits. Any combination of them is sure to be delicious when served cold unadorned as first course or last at a breakfast, lunch, or dinner. When you serve these fresh fruits as salad, serve the dressing separately.

Surveys often don't prove anything of much importance, but sometimes they're interesting anyway, such as one conducted by Hotel Management magazine to determine what the American man likes to eat. Steak and pie, of course, but salads, too! The mixed green or raw vegetable salads, if you please, just the ones which supply him with a lot of vitamins. He has a weakness for fried onions, does on corned beef and cabbage, and really goes for a good hash. He likes hot biscuits with his meal, too, as you've no doubt observed for yourself.

I was surprised, during a little amateurish survey of my own, to discover that there are some men who like the cake type of strawberry shortcake much better than the old fashioned biscuit variety, which always has seemed to me the only genuine article. A large percentage of women want cake instead of biscuit holding up their strawberries, while most of the men I queried held out for the buttery biscuit. But a few, including a policeman, if you please, wanted a light, sweet cake under those mashed berries!

Try a scoop, a little one, of caramel or butterscotch ice cream in your next party glass of iced coffee. No nuts in it, of course. Put some fresh blueberries in your next gingerbread and serve it as dessert, with or without whipped cream.

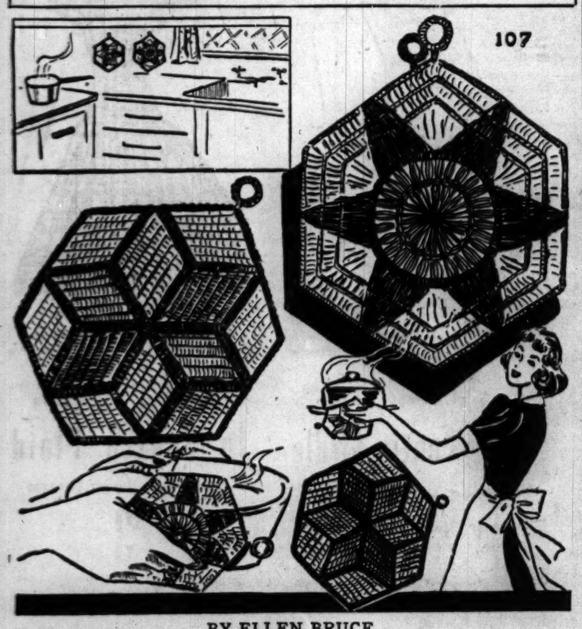
Crocheted Pot Holders



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Every well appointed kitchen has a variety of potholders and, regardless of the number, there never seem to be enough. Crocheted holders are an ideal choice, because they utilize scraps of thread, and one can have any number of color schemes harmonious with the kitchen decor. The two hexagonal potholders are easily made in simple stitches, and half a dozen may be created in a short time. These are excellent suggestions for shower gifts or presents in general.

For instructions in crocheting the potholders, No. 107, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Calls Hollywood City of Home-Loving, Hard-Working Folk

Atlantic City, N. J., July 11 (AP).—The International Christian Endeavor society—2,000,000 Sunday school boys and girls in the United States and Canada—was informed by a New York minister tonight that Hollywood is "just a nice, hard working little city" after all.

The Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, pastor of the Marble Collegiate church [Dutch Reformed] on New York's Fifth avenue, who had just returned from the scintillating capital of filmdom, told 6,000 delegates at the society's convention:

"Why, Hollywood is the hardest working place I ever saw.

"The people there are not blasé and sophisticated. They're just wholesome, friendly, home loving folks.

Charm of Fire Is Serious in Older Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

A boy of 11 is, at present, a source of great worry to his parents because he is constantly playing with fire. He burns things in the cellar. He makes small fires in the garage. His mother and father are afraid he will injure himself or burn up the house, or both. This situation is a real problem.

Somewhat younger boys, around 8, frequently will show a tendency to start fires. Here, again, we have a different kind of interest operating from the one which actuates a very little boy or girl.

Several motives may be at work at either 8 or 11. Adventure, camping, being cast on a desert isle, Indian warfare, all these imaginary experiences absolutely require a fire! If parents don't permit them to be built, they're likely to be started surreptitiously. So it's wise to arrange for them to have some legitimate way of gratifying this longing. If they achieve that satisfaction, then you can make rules against fires and they will be obeyed. An outdoor fireplace, if you live out of town, or camping trips to the beach or country, if you're a city dweller, are suggestions toward this aim.

When the habit of playing with fire seems to have become chronic and a source of danger, two other sorts of remedy might be resorted to. One is to drive home the destructiveness that results by some graphic means, such as witnessing a fire and seeing the charred and gutted building afterward. The other is to look for a psychological origin for this compensation a child seeks: some unhappiness in his life, a hurt, a failure.

West opened the club jack. East won with the ace and laid down the diamond queen. Declarer, whose attention was monopolized by his own diamond holding of K-J, promptly covered and, in so doing, lost a beautiful opportunity. West captured the king with the ace and returned a diamond. East ruffed for the setting trick.

It may startle many of my readers for me to say that declarer should not have covered the diamond queen, but the fact remains that his proper play was a low diamond. The proposition, reduced to its simplest form, was this:

East could not have the diamond ace, since he surely would not have led the queen from the A-Q. The only question, then, was whether he had held the guarded queen or the queen singleton. The answer was equally simple. Unless East had held the blank queen he would not have dreamed of leading that card. With the queen and one or more small diamonds, the obviously correct play would be to make declarer "guess"; there would be no point whatever in laying down the queen itself. Thus, since declarer knew East to be the sort of player who does not freely give away information, he should have realized that the play of the diamond queen was a FORCED play.

Failure to cover on declarer's part would have made matters very difficult for West. True, he could overtake his own partner's trick with the ace and return a diamond for a ruff, but this would require a degree of clairvoyance not seen at many bridge tables.

Norris Marks 80th Birthday with 'Business as Usual'

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—It was just an ordinary working day for Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska today on his 80th birthday. The white haired Independent, erect, and looking physically fit, planned to work as usual at his office, where, as one of his aids put it, "there always are plenty of things the senator insists on attending to personally." Norris is in his 39th consecutive year of service in congress.

DROPS SHOOTING CHARGE AGAINST EX-UNION AGENT

Victim Is Held After He Changes His Story.

Judge Julius H. Miner in Criminal court yesterday dismissed a charge of assault with intent to murder against Tom Devero, hoodlum and former union organizer, after the complaining witness who previously had named Devero as the man who shot him changed his story on the witness stand and refused to identify the former union agent.

Julian E. Sereik [top] and Tom Devero.

The witness was Julian E. Sereik, 28 years old, 3814 Lowe avenue, a union meat cutter. He previously had identified Devero from a hospital bed as the man who shot him in the face without provocation at 40th street and Normal boulevard on May 13.

Ordered Held as Perjurer.

In court yesterday Sereik said he didn't know who shot him nor did he remember naming Devero as his assailant. He said he had been drunk and dizzy at the time. After the hearing, Sereik was taken into custody on the order of Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney. Crowley directed that Sereik be held overnight and that a charge of perjury be placed against him today.

Policeman Nicholas Ready, who arrested Devero, and Ralph Von Berner, who operated a filling station near the shooting scene, testified yesterday that Sereik had named Devero as his assailant.

Denies Knowing Gunman.

Then Sereik was called to the witness stand. When Assistant State's Attorney Francis McCurrie asked him who shot him, he replied: "I don't know."

Devero has served two terms in the Bridewell for larceny and one for robbery. He was business agent for the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America but was discharged following the shooting.

5 STENOGRAPHERS DROPPED FROM BARRETT STAFF

Five civil service stenographers in the Chicago office of Attorney General George F. Barrett have been discharged in what Barrett described as an economy move, it was learned yesterday. The five, all women, have been employés from 12 to 28 years. They were notified of their discharge early this week in letters which explained the legislature made no appropriation for their salaries for this biennium.

Barrett said yesterday it was deemed more economical to hire court reporters on a part time basis to take transcripts of testimony at state inheritance tax hearings — the work the women were doing. The 1941 appropriation carries a sum of $8,550 for court reporting, which covers exactly the salaries of the five discharged stenographers whose annual pay was $1,710 each. Barrett said it was hoped part of the appropriation could be saved.

Miss Frances Fregd, 5452 Berteau avenue, one of those discharged, made a formal request that all five be restored to the pay roll. Officials explained that the women will retain their civil service status and may apply to have their names put back on the list of senior stenographers for certification when openings appear.

INDICT EX-FELON IDENTIFIED AS ONE OF ROBBER TRIO

Harvey Rogers, 39 years old, an ex-convict, was indicted in Criminal court yesterday for the $300 robbery last May 27 of James [Big Jim] Martin, Negro policy king, and his wife. The Martins, who operate the Airplane Inn, 1900 Lake street, identified Rogers as one of three bandits who curbed their car near their home at 155 South 15th avenue, Maywood, and took their money after demanding $50,000. Rogers will be taken to the state's attorney's office today to be viewed by witnesses to the slaying April 25 of Joseph Todd, 56, also an ex-convict.

Suspect in Double Slaying Held for Grand Jury Action

A coroner's jury recommended yesterday that Theodore Jagiello, 23 years old, of 1317 Haddon avenue, former inmate of St. Charles School for Boys, be held to the grand jury for the murder of two men found shot to death last Sunday morning at Thomas and Throop streets. The victims were Frank Poblacki, 22, of 1012 North Ashland avenue, and Joseph Gogowski, 21, 1308 North Hoyne avenue. Altho Jagiello confessed to Assistant State's Attorney Clement Cody that he shot the men, he refused to testify at the inquest.

FOUND SLAIN; THROAT SLASHED.

Randall Crowder, 27 years old, colored, of 4007 South Michigan avenue, was found slain yesterday, his throat slashed, on a little used gravel road near 126th place and Perry avenue. Crowder, who served a day in the Bridewell in 1939 for larceny, was identified thru finger prints.

15 ALIMONY ROW PRISONERS FREE; ONE REGRETS IT

Tells Judge He Wants to Finish Term.

BY JUANITA DALY.

Judge Rudolph F. Desort yesterday in the Superior court released all 15 of his alimony row prisoners after hearing their promises to go back to work and support their children and estranged or divorced wives. This is the first time a judge has carried leniency the full way and released every alimony prisoner before leaving on his summer vacation.

Walter L. Eaton, 39 years old, begged the court to send him back to the county jail. Almost reciting, he said: "The prisoner humbly begs the court not to release the prisoner."

Made Ill by Remarriage.

Judge Desort smiled. "You worked in a hospital, didn't you?" he recalled. "And your wife remarried, which made you unhappy."

"Yes, your honor, it made me sort of sick," he admitted.

In response to the question, "Are there any other children?" he said, unhappily, "I suspect so; I have that feeling."

Judge Desort said, "You don't know what's good for you. I believe I'll grant your wish in reverse."

Eaton murmured, "I beg you to reconsider, your honor."

He'd Rather Serve Term.

When the judge asked why he insisted on returning to jail, Eaton explained, "I don't have much to finish the sentence. I've been in jail five of the six months, and maybe I'd get a better settlement after the six months."

The judge laughed.

"That won't do in my court," he said. "No, I'll have to release you."

The prisoner, now a free man, was led reluctantly away.

In most of the other cases, Judge Desort heard a short review by the lawyer, then inquired directly of the prisoner if he could get a job and if he would support his children. As each begged for a chance, the judge released him, in some cases ordering reports next week on employment.

Two Women Speak Up.

Two women stepped up when Lawrence Abeling, 47, of 6828 South Oakley avenue, was called. Abeling had served his six months for nonpayment of alimony, but his divorced wife's lawyer had demanded that he post a $1,000 bond to assure future payments.

Norman Becker, Abeling's lawyer, contended a man could be held in jail forever if the judge insisted that the bond be posted.

Abeling's second wife pleaded for her husband and offered her engagement and wedding rings as bond.

First Wife Doesn't Care.

When Judge Desort asked the first wife whether she wanted Abeling freed, she retorted. "It doesn't make any difference; he's no good either way."

Judge Desort released him, but continued the case until next Friday. In the meantime Abeling was ordered to find a job.

Others released were Wenzel Dunka, Theodore Ciszewski, Edmund Manikowski, Harry Karalewski, Anton Sostarich, Wallace Soraporu, Edgar Robinson, Joseph Filus, Peter A. Huhn, Marienus Ridderhoff, Raymond Horn, Henry McCann, and Francis Gambony.

RED EX-TEACHER SENT TO PRISON IN N. Y. INQUIRY

Gets Term for Perjury During School Quiz.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 11.—Morris U. Schappes, a suspended communist English tutor at City college, today was sentended to 18 months to two years in the state penitentiary for perjury.

The charge arose from his false testimony in a legislative investigation of subversive activities in New York schools. He was accused of testifying falsely about the number of communists in the Teachers' union and on the staff of the Teacher Worker, a communist publication at City college. He was accused of lying when he said he did not know the identity of other teacher-communists.

Schappes, wearing a red tie, delivered a futile half hour plea for a suspended sentence. The sentence was imposd by Judge Jonah J. Goldstein.

Judge Blasts Martyr's Stand.

"You have been pictured as a martyr for academic freedom," the judge said. "I think that is a false picture. Perjury is not yet a characteristic of martyrdom. And I find nothing noble in your efforts to thwart the purposes of a legislative committee performing a public duty. Such a practice is not uncommon among the basest gangsters and criminals."

Schappes, who is 34 years old and was born in Russia, told the court an "intellectual pall" had fallen on City college. He said he had helped some 4,000 students he had taught and several hundred colleagues in the teachers' union to "see the light."

"I have had an opportunity during the two weeks I have spent in the Tombs [city prison] to do a lot of reading, listening, and talking with men confined there," Schappes said in making his plea. "I asked myself a question—am I an enemy of the people? Am I an enemy of the courts, the institutions of my country? I arrived at an answer only thru my own thinking. I am not an enemy of the people. I have done nothing against their interests."

Tells Drive on ROTC.

William Martin Canning, history instructor at the college and a former communist, who was the chief witness against Schappes, testified the Reds laid emphasis on planting their doctrines in the minds of members of the Reserve Officers' Training corps.

Seymour A. Copstein, another tutor in the English department at the college, went on trial today before a committee of the board of higher education accused of active communism. He is one of 30 suspended faculty members who are to be tried as a result of findings of the legislative committee.

John Kenneth Ackley, City college registrar, was found guilty on the communist charges at a similar trial three weeks ago and was dismissed from his job.

HUNT 2 BANDITS WHO TOOK $6,000 IN CASH, JEWELS

Police yesterday were searching for two armed and masked bandits who earlier in the day held up a party of five persons on the north side and obtained jewelry and cash worth more than $6,000. The victims were robbed after their car had been curbed in front of 4915 North Kimball avenue.

Those held up were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Sanke of 6113 North Karlov avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kiener of 6452 North Fairfield avenue, and Mrs. Roger Park of Grand Rapids, Mich. The Sankes surrendered jewelry totaling $5,000 and $140 in currency; the Kieners turned over $100 in cash and a dinner ring worth $500, and Mrs. Park lost a watch worth $600.

According to police, the bandits carried a shotgun and a revolver and answered the description of robbers who earlier had committed several holdups in Melrose Park and Oak Park.

3 Guilty in Holdup Slaying; One Faces Death in Chair

New York, July 11 (AP).—Three men were convicted today of first degree murder in the holdup slaying of Harry Vance Maxwell, 41 years old, advertising executive. One faces death in the electric chair and the others life imprisonment. The jury recommended life sentences for Vincent Morgano, 23, and Frank Alascia, 22. Failure to make such recommendation for Morris Mardavich, 23, who testified he shot Maxwell May 4 as he sat in an automobile with a pretty blonde model, Mary Jane Cassidy, 24, makes the death sentence mandatory.

Paid for Waiting

ELSIE RICARDO.

New York, July 11 (AP).—There's a pretty blonde in town who gets $75 a week for just waiting. Three hours daily, Elsie [Bubbles] Ricardo, aerialist, sits in an office waiting for the phone to ring. If it does, it means she'll dash right out to pinch hit for an injured trapeze artist. The phone hasn't buzzed since she took the doubling job three months ago.

"As soon as some one in the business gets hurt or killed, I will make more money as the fill-in," the understudy to death said. "I get good money doing nothing and I'm scared. Not scared of the trapeze, but knowing that when I go on it's only because some one fell."

FREE TEACHER IN CASE RISING OUT OF GIRL'S DEATH

William J. Branz, a lawyer and teacher of German at Lane Technical High school, was acquitted of a disorderly conduct charge yesterday by a jury in the Municipal court of Judge Oscar Caplan. The jury deliberated only 15 minutes. Branz, 36 years old, lives at 3325 Lincoln avenue.

The charge had been placed against him after Miss Elsa Hafner, 25, of 102L Oakdale avenue, died April 10 of an overdose of sleeping medicine. Testimony at the inquest showed she had been out with Branz on the evening before she was found unconscious in her home. Branz denied he gave her any potion.

During the course of the trial Judge Caplan set a precedent here when he allowed a lie detector test admitted into evidence.

ATTORNEYS MAP AN APPEAL FROM HANDBOOK WRIT

Lawrence E. Dowd and John H. Lyle, Chicago lawyers, were studying records yesterday in the St. Clair county Circuit court of Judge Maurice V. Joyce in Belleville in preparation for an appeal from his state-wide injunction against handbooks.

Last Monday Judge Joyce denied all motions attacking the injunction and set hearing for Aug. 7 on the question of whether to make it permanent. Lyle and Dowd said they already had discovered 15 reversible errors in the case. They represent 54 Chicago bookmakers.

Lyle, a former Municipal court judge, said that one of the main issues in the appeal will be the question of jurisdiction.

Find Blue Eyed, 9½ Pound Baby Boy in a Hallway

A new born, blue-eyed boy, weighing 9½ pounds, was found yesterday in a hallway at 2409 Prairie avenue, wrapped in part of a bath towel and part of a sheet. Sergt. William J. Hoffman of the Pekin station first took the baby to Mercy hospital, then to St. Vincent's orphanage. A representative of the orphanage said the boy was in perfect health. No information has been obtained about the parents.

PROBE MYSTERY OF CHARRED BODY IN BLAZING AUTO

Illinois Farmer Holdup Victim, Officers Say.

Sullivan, Ind., July 11 [Special].—The charred body of a man found in a burning automobile on a lonely road near here was identified tonight as that of Lewis Fulte, 38 years old, a farmer of near Marissa, Ill. Authorities said he undoubtedly had been slain during a holdup and his body placed in the burning automobile.

Arrow indicates where victim's body was found.

Quarrels with Wife.

Fulte left his farm home Tuesday after a quarrel with his wife, his brother, Carl Fulte of Marissa, said. He drove away in his 1929 Ford, taking with him an extra suit of clothes. He withdrew his savings of $144 and a $234 bond from a bank in Marissa.

Only a dollar bill, some small change and a watch were found in his pockets.

The flaming car and the body were found last night on a road 10 miles southeast of Sullivan. Loren Hollingsworth, a nearby farmer, said he heard a man's cries and saw flames leaping high in the air.

Hollingsworth and his son, Harold, hurried to the scene and found a car enveloped in flames. The fire was so hot they were unable to approach it for half an hour. When the flames died down the two opened the front door of the car and discovered the body.

Empty Oil Can on Seat.

Sheriff Hubert Sevier said blood found on weeds near the car indicated the victim probably had been attacked there before his body had been placed in the burning car. In the front seat was a kerosene can, the contents of which were believed to have been poured over the man's body and set afire. Coroner Hubert Wagner said he found a wound on Fulte's head and blood clots which could have been caused by a blow.

The car was without license plates. Altho an attempt had been made to obliterate the engine number, Sheriff Sevier was able to decipher it and learned from records in Springfield, Ill., that Fulte owned a car bearing that number. The story of Fulte's disappearance then was disclosed.

EXHAUST JURY VENIRE; ADJOURN MORIARITY TRIAL

The murder trial of Daniel Moriarity, suspended policeman of the state's attorney's office, was adjourned yesterday until Monday when a venire of 67 prospective jurors was exhausted, most of them being excused because of their aversion to the death penalty.

The jurors to try Moriarity for the slaying April 29 of Miss Jennie Martin are being qualified to inflict the death penalty. Judge John A. Sbarbaro ordered a special venire of prospective jurors to be in court on Monday. At the end of yesterday's court session only three of the second panel of four jurors had been tentatively agreed upon. The first panel was agreed upon Thursday.

Since the trial began Wednesday, 109 men and women have been excused in the questioning by Defense Counsel James M. Burke and Assistant State's Attorneys Alex Napoli and Richard Austin. Moriarity confessed he shot the young woman in the mistaken belief he was killing her mother, Mrs. Ada Martin, who is under indictment as head of an abortion ring.

2 YOUNG PIGEON MERCHANTS GET A DESIST ORDER

Two young business men whom police found on the roof of the Oriental theater, 20 West Randolph street, were warned last night to cease plying their trade in the loop. They are John Mahoney, 16 years old, of 2122 Flournoy street, and Louis Young, 15, of 2155 Harrison street.

When police found the boys, they also found a gunny sack containing 11 pigeons. The boys said they had been catching pigeons for the last four years, and selling them at 10 cents each.

No, they didn't put salt on their tails. They lured the birds with peanuts.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Albert Lachman, 1758 Wabansia avenue, yesterday denied that Miss Georgia Free, 15 years old, who was mentioned in a story of the slaying of two men, lived at that address. Assistant State's Attorney Samual Papanek said that altho the girl had given the Wabansia avenue address, investigation showed that she did not live there.

DEATH PENALTY PASSED OVER IN WATSEKA TRIAL

Watseka, Ill., July 11 (AP).—The jury in the Robert Fiester murder trial, which took 4½ days to impanel, heard no mention of the death penalty when State's Attorney A. Fred Kendall made his opening statement today.

The trial opened Monday, but not until noon today was the jury of eight women and four men completed. Circuit Judge Roscoe C. South is presiding.

Earlier questioning of veniremen by Kendall had indicated that he might ask for the death penalty for Fiester, 55, who is charged with murdering his niece, Royalene Hinkle, in her farm home near Woodland last March. He also had been indicted for the death of her fiancé, Lloyd Gray, 25, found shot to death in her bedroom. The prosecutor said he would prove that the only fingerprints on the fatal rifle were those of Fiester.

Mother Claims Baby Girl Abandoned to Spite Father

The mystery of the abandonment of a baby girl outside the Salvation Army Women's home at 5040 North Pulaski road was solved yesterday when the mother claimed the infant at St. Vincent's orphanage, where she had been taken. The mother told authorities she had abandoned the child to spite her husband after a quarrel. Her name was not given out.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Bill Knickerbocker's fifth inning home run with Mike Tresh on base yesterday was the smack that counted in the White Sox's 3 to 1 victory over the Washington Senators in the second game of the series in Comiskey park.

Edgar Smith and Sid Hudson, the two charter members of the Arky Vaughan All-Star Homer club, went all the way. Smitty was not true to the new club's ritual, for he didn't pitch anything that looked like a homer. Hudson wasn't very generous either, except for his toss to Knickerbocker. The Senators made only six hits off Smitty; the Sox only seven off Sid.

Senators Score First.

The Senators got their run in the fourth inning, before the Sox were able to develop much of a threat, tho the Chicagoans did have singles by Mike Kreevich in the first, by Taft Wright in the second, and by Joe Kuhel in the third.

Doc Cramer opened the fourth with a single, paused while Buddy Lewis struck out, and stopped at third on Cecil Travis' double. Doc scored on Mickey Vernon's fly to Kreevich.

The Sox were retired in order in their end of the fourth and Bob Kennedy opened the fifth with a fly to Lewis, the first putout of the game by a Washington outfielder. Tresh bunted and was safe when Hudson juggled the ball. Mike moved over on Smith's sacrifice, then Knickerbocker drove his seventh 1941 homer into the lower deck of the left field stand, trotting home behind Tresh with the ball game. Kuhel followed with his second hit, and the second stolen base but for the second time Kreevich stranded Joe on second.

They Didn't Need This One.

The Sox's superfluous run was produced in the eighth, and might have caused Hudson great sorrow if it had been the deciding run. Kuhel walked and, after Kreevich had flied out, went to third on Luke Appling's single. Wright tapped to Hudson and Sid had a cinch play on Kuhel at the plate but fiddled around thinking about a double play, until it was too late to head off Kuhel, and too late to launch a double play thru second base. He wound up by getting Wright at first. The Sox offensive ended with Julius Solters' strikeout.

The Sox advanced to within a game of third place and remained two games out of fifth place as the Tigers beat the Red Sox in Detroit.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., July 11—The sixth place Cubs today were just a gang of dressed up boys who didn't seem to know whether they were afoot or on horseback. They didn't hit, their fielding was on the funny side, as evidenced by five errors, and Boston's seventh place Brayes refused to concede there was anything mystifying about Larry French's southpawing. The locals, who don't profess to be batting wizards, laid the veteran Larry out cold in a hurry to capture the second of the series, 7 to 2.

The Cubs' attack, as carried on against Jim Tobin, the ex-Pirate, was limited to five safe blows but this wasn't the worst feature. Their feebleness in trying to figure out just what sort of a diet was being served by the enemy moundman is shown by the fact that for six innings, Billy Nicholson, who singled, was the only Chicagoan to reach base. Thereafter they produced their other hits, one a triple by Nicholson, but this belated pecking meant nothing because the Braves already had six runs, four of which caused French to seek the comfort of the bath department in the fourth inning. Tot Pressnell relieved him.

Phil Drops a Fly.

In another lineup shift Phil Cavarretta was restored to center field, much to his regret. Phil dropped an easy fly to give the Braves a third inning run, the second off French. Later he dropped another but the scorer was kindly and still later got tangled in a play that produced another unwarranted double. But in cold figures, Clyde McCullough was the No. 1 offender. He was given an error for interfering with a batter. He dropped a tall foul a few feet behind home plate and erred for the third time with a long distance throw in the eighth when Vance Page, who succeeded Pressnell, was toiling. The other mistake was Bob Sturgeon's. Only two of the miscues figured in the run production.

Three Braves reached base on French in the first inning so the Cubs figured that they did right well by limiting the damage to one run. Grandpa John Cooney singled to right with one out and skipped to third on Sibby Sisti's two bagger to right., Chet Ross was complimented with an intentional pass, after which Eddie Miller slapped a fly to Galan to score Cooney.

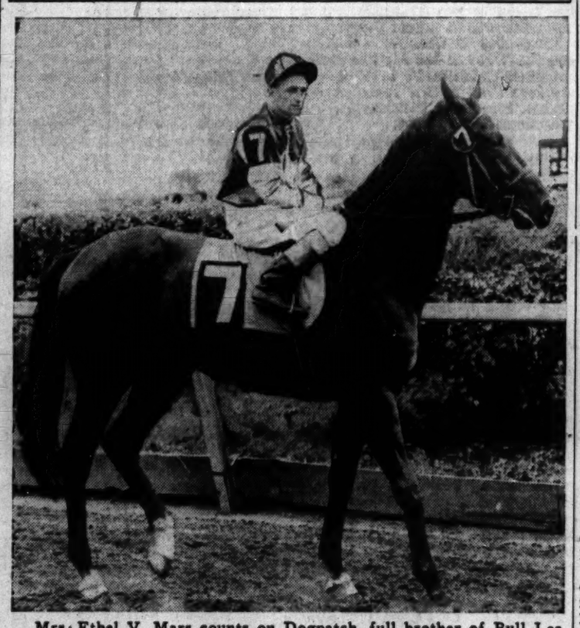
Seeks No. 3 for Mrs. Mars



Mrs. Ethel V. Mars counts on Dogpatch, full brother of Bull Lea, a leading stake horse of recent years, in the $50,000 Futurity which will be run at Arlington Park today. Two other juveniles have won this event for Mrs. Mars. In 1936 Case Ace triumphed, and in 1937 her Tiger ran a dead heat with Teddy's Comet in this fixture.

13 Juveniles Named for $50,000 Futurity at Arlington Today

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Contenders for the national juvenile championship will meet today in one of their major engagements of the season—Arlington Park's $50,000 Futurity. This event marks the beginning of the more significant stage of the title competition. Quite a number of likely looking youngsters have come up during spring and early summer racing, but now distances are being increased and contenders are maturing. From today until late fall there will be a series of stakes which will put the juveniles to one severe test after another.

Sun Again and Some Chance, the Calumet horses which dominated their division during Belmont Park's spring meeting, will take up today where Whirlaway left off last season. Their illustrious stablemate ran third to Swain and Valdina Groom in the Futurity, but he went on to become the nation's leading money winning juvenile, and he followed up with a 3 year old campaign which has carried him to the top in that division.

Wright Would Cherish Victory.

A victory in the Arlington Futurity would be highly cherished by Warren Wright, master of Calumet farm. Enjoying his most successful year, he has watched Whirlaway win the stakes which are the goal of all owners—the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, and Belmont.

The other Calumet horses, Col. Teddy and Wishbone, are among the 13 overnight entries for the 6 furlongs of the Futurity, but neither is looked upon as a likely starter.

Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Milky Way farm stable will be seeking its third victory in the Futurity. Dogpatch, which won the first start of his career last Monday, will be Milky Way's representative today. This son of Bulldog which Mrs. Mars purchased for $12,000 at the Saratoga sales last summer, won in impressive fashion last Monday. Case Ace scored for Mrs. Mars in the 1936 Futurity and Tiger followed up by running a dead heat with Teddy's Comet in 1937.

Man's Man Runs for Putnam.

Valdina Orphan, which ran creditably in previous efforts at Arlington, will be the main hope of Emerson F. Woodward's Valdina farm. Valdina Alpha also is in the overnight entries but he is considered a doubtful starter.

Mrs. Alice Sherman's Home Wolf came out of the east with a reputation of great speed, having tied King Cole's Aqueduct track record while winning a six furlong allowance event.

Cleaveland Putnam, who owned last year's Futurity winner, is represented by Man's Man. This horse showed good speed in winning recently at Arlington. He will be coupled in the betting with Raoul Espinosa's Counterbalance, both being trained by B. J. Durnell. Both are looked upon as doubtful starters, however.

Thomas Piatt's Bold Chance, Hal Price Headley's Anticlimax, and Lonnie Copenhaver's Reighzuseven complete the field.

JOE LOUIS DROPS ROBINSON IN 1ST; IT'S EXHIBITION

Minneapolis, Minn., July 11 (AP).—Wearing 14 ounce gloves, Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis tonight knocked out Jimmy Robinson, Philadelphia, in the first round of a scheduled four round exhibition bout. The titleholder dropped his opponent with a left hook to the midsection that was so short most of the crowd of 8,500 persons missed it.

Robinson forced all the action and landed two noisy rights to Joe's chin, but Joe just went ahead with his work. The opening for the final blow came two minutes after the round opened. Robinson fell on his side and rolled over.

NELSON RALLIES TO BEAT HOGAN, IN PGA, 2 UP

Battles Sarazen Today; Mangrum Faces Ghezzi.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Denver, Colo., July 11.—Byron Nelson, the champ himself, and Gene Sarazen, a man who still gets around a tournament golf course in his 40th year, tomorrow will meet in the first 36 hole semi-final match of the 24th National Professional golf tournament over the Cherry Hills course. Fifteen minutes later, Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, a fellow who weighs nearly 150 pounds with an ulster and three sweaters on, will tee off against 6 foot 3 inch Victor Ghezzi of Deal, N. J.

That's the foursome which has come out of five days of bitter wrangling in the match play battle of them all. Messrs. Sarazen, Mangrum, and Ghezzi really deserve only half time credit for the chores in today's 36 hole quarter-finals, so quickly consummated were all of their victories, but Nelson rates a bonus for his 2 up decision over little Ben Hogan, the Vardon trophy holder and leading money winner of both 1940 and 1941. In order to gain his third consecutive PGA semi-final, Nelson had to win the last three holes, two of them with birdies, and was forced to finish with a medal card of 136, six under par for the full distance, for Hogan, his boyhood pal, had 137.

Sarazen Wins on 30th.

Squire Sarazen, who reaped the big harvest in the PGAs of 1922, 1923, and 1933, went only 30 holes in eliminating another former champion, Denny Shute of Chicago, by a 7 and 6 count. All week long, Sarazen has been making and canceling reservations for the trip to his farm in Brookfield Center, Conn. He had promised his hired man to be home to hay with him Wednesday. Yesterday, after routing Bruce Coltart, 9 and 7, the squire hopped on a mounted policeman's horse and rode in from the 29th green. Today, he couldn't even find a cow to bring him home. He admitted a weariness in his limbs, but likes the way he's hitting the ball. He was four under par in today's effort.

Nelson wasn't the only semi-finalist who was six under par. So was Mangrum, making his debut in PGA competition as a representative of the Illinois section. The slender Texas born pro, who was assistant pro at Oak Park last year, and then went into free lance tournament playing, will be 27 come Aug. 1. Yesterday Mangrum applied the chill to the hottest scorer in the tournament, Mark Fry of Oakland, Cal. Today, he was even more ruthless in pushing out Sam Snead, twice a runner-up for the PGA crown, and this year's medalist.

Putter Fails Snead.

Snead still was muttering about his putting in this show as he rammed his clubs into his quiver and headed home. Of course, it's to be doubted if he could have stood up against Mangrum's greens tool. That clicked for 15 one putt holes today, three of them producing birdies on the last five holes of a 6 and 4 match.

Ghezzi, the towering Jersey pro who is numbered among Craig Wood's passel of proteges, had the least difficulty of the quartet in reaching the semi-finals. The handsome Victor, who never has come this far in the pros' biggest production, for all the years he has been a contender, found not too much trouble with his Ryder cup colleague, Jimmy Hines of Great Neck, N. Y. Ghezzi was two under par in the course of eliminating Hines, 8 and 7.

Start With Birdies.

The gallery that arose early to follow the two Fort Worth chums, Nelson and Hogan, was gratified as early as the first hole, where Ben dropped a four footer and Byron one from a yard for mutual birdies. They repeated this performance on the 525 yard fifth, which Hogan reached in My Glamor Girl.

She was my glamor girl long years ago,
And day by day I basked beneath her smile,
Her thoughts were whiter than the morning snow,
Her simple soul was innocent of guile;
But when our school days faded to a close
And we were sundered suddenly apart
Thru all the tumult of my joys and woes
I kept for her a corner of my heart.

Today they laid her slender form away
As two fond daughters watched beside her grave,
They did not weep but only knelt to pray,
For her dear sake they wanted to be brave;
But I who lost her in the changing years
Knew that my ashen cheeks were wet with tears. —T. E. B.

FANS' CHOICES TO FACE BEARS IN AUG. 28 GAME

Balloting Covers 44 States.

BY ARCH WARD.

America's football fans will go to the polls today. There may be other duties to perform, but this is the day Americans in cities, towns, and hamlets begin their annual task of naming the starting College All-American team which will meet the Chicago Bears, National Football league champions, in the eighth annual All-Star game on Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28.

In air-conditioned offices, along the blast furnaces of steel mills booming with defense orders, in army camps, naval training stations and shipyards the names of college football's leading performers during the 1940 season will be under consideration for membership on the All-American squad. The job of selecting the team this summer will require almost three weeks. The deadline for the balloting is midnight, July 29.

Thrill for Starters.

The choices of the nation's fans—two ends, two tackles, two guards, center, quarter back, full back, and two half backs—will receive one of the greatest thrills in American sport. Each will be introduced under the glare of a giant spotlight as 85,000 watch the streak of light pick out the players on darkened Soldiers' field in ceremonies preceding the spectacle on Chicago's lake front. These eleven players chosen by the fans must start the game against the Bears, provided they are physically fit on the night of the contest.

The eleven honored by the fans will be joined by at least 50 others elected to the squad for the training period at Northwestern university starting Aug. 10. The squad's offensive and defensive work will be under the direction of five of the country's outstanding coaches.

44 States Aid in Poll.

The vast network required to collect the thousands of votes from coast to coast again has been set up. The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., sponsor of the event, will have the coöperation of 263 newspapers and radio stations in 44 states and the District of Columbia. Within 24 hours telegraph wires will be clicking the tabulations of votes from all sections of the United States.

Fans have wasted no time in obtaining tickets for the game. The entire allotment of $4.40 seats vanished within one week. However, thousands of tickets are available at $3.30, $2.20, and $1.10. These may be obtained by sending a check or money order to the All-Star ticket manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

Makeup of '40 Squad.

Seven midwestern players were named to the 1940 starting lineup. The squad included Bill Fisk, Southern California, and Esco Sarkkinen, Ohio State, ends; Nick Cutlich, Northwestern, and Tad Harvey, Notre Dame, tackles; Jim Logan, Indiana, and Harry Smith, Southern California, guards; Clyde Turner, Hardin-Simmons, center; Ambrose Schindler, Southern California, quarter back; Nile Kinnick, Iowa, and Lou Brock, Purdue, half backs, and Joe Thesing, Notre Dame, full back.

The professional champions hold a one game advantage over the finest players the colleges have produced in the seven years of competition. The National league titleholders have won three games, the collegians two and there have been two ties. The All-Stars have scored a total of 69 points and the professionals 82.

A Picture for an Artist to Paint!

Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28. . . . Bathed in the light of the moon and man-made rays. . . . The red, white, and blue uniforms of the College All-Stars as they dash from the darkened recesses of the stadium into a spotlight. . . . The Chicago Bears, world professional football champions, every move a picture. . . . Then 60 minutes of spectacular battling. . . . Pageantry between the halves. . . . The cheers of thousands. . . . It could happen only in America.

But Don't Depend on the Artist! See It With Your Own Eyes!

22 LA FOLLETTE SWIMMERS SEEK 100 YARD TITLES

Team Competes July 20 in Whealan Pool.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Twenty-two boys and girls, from 11 to 16 years of age inclusively, will represent LaFollette park in the 100 yard free style swimming races sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities. Preliminaries will be held in four sections a week from today and tomorrow.

LaFollette's team, entered by Ed Schalk, will compete in Whealan pool July 20. Partially balancing the entry is that from the Jewish People's institute, 3500 Douglas boulevard. Ralph Silverstein, swimming director, has chosen California park as the qualifying section. Trials in this park also will be held July 20. One week from this afternoon qualifying races also are scheduled in Sherman park, 52d street and Racine avenue, and Cermak pool, 7600 Ogden avenue, Lyons, Ill.

Only One in Class D.

With the exception of Leo Berk, who is entered in Class D for boys 17 and 18 years of age, the J. P. I. swimmers will compete in the lower age classes.

All contestants reporting for their qualifying 100 yard races will receive bronze souvenir buttons emblematic of their ability. Literally thousands of these have been given away since the races were established in 1930. The winner in each preliminary race in all sections will be awarded a gold qualifying medal and enters the Chicagoland finals which will be held July 27 in California park.

Additional proof of the wide interest in the annual Chicagoland swimming races was received yesterday with the entry of Jim Hassett of Clinton, Ia., who will compete in Class C at Whealan pool. The 100 yard races attract youngsters from a score of near-by communities in addition to the suburban cities of Cook county.

Seek to Develop Youngsters.

No meet offers such an array of prizes, which include 30 medals and two team trophies presented at the finals, but emphasis always is placed on development of the younger swimmers. If you wish to prove your ability to swim 100 yards you are welcome to enter any one of the trials. While it is called a free style race, this literally means any style despite the fact the crawl admittedly is the fastest stroke. Souvenir buttons await those who can finish the 100 yard test.

All entries must be mailed, however, by midnight tomorrow. The clerks require several days to complete the lists and mail the post cards of admission. These also furnish the racing number for each contestant.

Another Girl Champion Enters.

The entry of another of the 1940 girls' champions was received yesterday, Jane Cloyd of Winnetka, Ill., who will swim in Class D. She was winner in Class C last year (which title she can not defend) and in 1938 she won the championship for girls 13 and 14 years of age. Miss Cloyd competed for the Chicago Towers club last year, but is swimming unattached this summer according to her entry blank.

NAME TEN FOR $25,000 RACE AT HOLLYWOOD PARK

Los Angeles, Cal., July 11 (AP).—Turf observers named Staretor, Porter's Cap, and Painted Veil as the big three of the $25,000 Hollywood Derby at Hollywood Park tomorrow, with the first two figured the leaders in the battle over the mile and one-quarter route.

Ten colts and fillies, including two surprise candidates, Yankee Dandy and an ex-plater, Igorette, were named to start, altho one or both might decline the issue by post time.

Here's the field, with weights, in post position order:

1—Transient, 109; 2—Yankee Dandy, 122; 3—Painted Veil, 113; 4—Porter's Cap, 122; 5—Paperboy, 114; 6—Staretor, 114; 7—Battle Colors, 116; 8—Welcome Pass, 114; 9—Igorette, 114; 10—Buckhorn Creek, 114.

Porter's Cap, it was learned today, nicked a cut above a heel in a workout yesterday but the C. S. Howard stable discounted it as a minor injury.

Georgie Woolf will ride Staretor, Buddy Haas will take Porter's Cap and Jackie Westrope will be aboard Painted Veil.

FOHR'S LEAD IN AUTO RACES AT STAKE TONIGHT

Myron Fohr of Milwaukee will have to outdrive Tony Bettenhausen, Pete Romcevich, Ray Richards, and Jimmy Caris to retain his point lead for the season title in the midget auto races tonight in Raceway park, 129th street and Ashland avenue.

Other entrants are Mike O'Halloran, Ted Duncan, Shorty Sorenson, Harry Lewis, Gus Klingbiel, Frank Buraney, Rod Backey, Stan Dyleski, Frank Perrone, Bert Knight, and Warren Erwin.

Forty-eight cars are listed for the seven event program, which will include four reverse order eliminations at 10 laps each, with 12 qualifying for the 30 lap feature. Nonqualifiers will compete in a 15 lap consolation. The eight fastest cars in the trials will be eligible for the 15 lap handicap.

Time trials are set for 7:30 and the first race for 8:30.

DiMAGGIO STREAK REACHES 50 GAME MARK ON 4 HITS

Socks Homer, 3 Singles; Yanks Win, 6-2.

St. Louis, Mo., July 11 (AP).—Joe DiMaggio and the New York Yankees passed several more milestones today as the American league leaders turned back the St. Louis Browns, 6 to 2. For the Yankees, the victory was No. 11 in a row, equaling the Cleveland Indians' record winning streak for the league this season, and, with the Indians idle today, the Yanks' lead over second place Cleveland increased to four full games.

And here's what DiMaggio did:

1. He singled in the first inning, to stretch his hitting streak over 50 straight games, then followed up with two more singles and a homer in four more times at bat.
2. His home run gave him the league lead, with 20, to teammate Charley Keller's 19.
3. With two runs batted in [Red Rolfe was on base when he hit for the circuit], Joe took over first place in this department, with 73 to Keller's 72.
4. The four safeties ran his total to 112, seven ahead of Jeff Heath of Cleveland.

Five of the Yanks' six runs came on home runs. Tommy Henrich hit for the circuit after Rolfe had singled in the first; Joe Gordon's homer in the sixth put them in front again by 3-2, and DiMaggio's accounted for two more. Score:

Dykes May Be on Job Again Against Yanks

Manager James [Doghouse] Dykes again watched his White Sox win from a vantage point in the shadows of the left field stand yesterday. Tho President Will Harridge was said to be resentful of efforts made Thursday to bulldoze him into reinstating Dykes, it was rumored that Dykes might be returned to duty for the Yankee series. There was no official verification of this, however. It was the club's third straight triumph under the guidance of Coach Muddy Ruel.

The Yankees will be here tomorrow to start a four game series with a double header. A capacity crowd is in prospect. All box seats have been sold, but 35,000 grandstand and 8,000 bleacher seats will be put on sale at 11 o'clock.

The Sox will complete the first half of their 1941 schedule in this afternoon's final with the Washington Senators. Buck Ross will pitch for the Sox, but there are no sound clews as to the probable Senator pitcher.

Mrs. Moore Takes County Golf Final, 1 Up

Mrs. Evelyn Moore of Navajo Fields, 1939 champion and finalist last year, won the 27th annual Cook county women's open golf title by defeating Miss Elaine Sorensen of Twin Orchards, 1 up, in their 36 hole final in Jackson park yesterday.

Miss Sorensen set a blistering pace on the final nine, which she traveled in even par 36. She was dormie five going into the 32d hole and carried Mrs. Moore to the final green before being defeated. Her brilliant recovery made the finish one of the most sensational in the history of the tournament.

Takes 3 Up Lead.

Faulty putting on the part of Miss Sorensen enabled the Navajo Fields campaigner to hold a 3 up margin at the turn of the morning round. Mrs. Moore played the first nine holes in 38, two over par, while Miss Sorensen needed 43 for the distance. Miss Sorensen played the back nine in 37, one over par, to reduce Mrs. Moore's lead to 1 up at the end of the first 18 holes. This total included a bogey 6 at the 14th where she missed the green. Mrs. Moore needed a 39 to cover this territory to bring her aggregate to 77, three strokes less than were taken by her opponent.

Mrs. Moore increased her margin during the afternoon by taking the 19th, 20th, 23d, 24th, 25th, and 27th holes as Miss Sorensen's game—which eliminated Mrs. Bernie Sick, the defending champion in the semi-finals yesterday—backed up badly. Going out in 40, Mrs. Moore was 6 up at the final turn.

Sinks 20 Foot Putt.

The Twin Orchards entrant opened her rally by sinking a 20 foot putt for a birdie on the 30th hole. Mrs. Moore gained a half on the 31st, then faltered, and Miss Sorensen took the next four holes. Each took a bogey five on the 36th.

Mrs. Lois Kuehnle of Lincolnshire, who won the qualifying medal, defeated Miss Mildred Wright of Jackson Park, 1 up at 20 holes, to capture the championship consolation final.

Junior Title Captured by Jeanne Cline

Jeanne Cline of Bloomington, Ill., 17 year old high school senior, is the 1941 woman's Western Junior Golf champion. She won the title in a brilliant 6 and 4 final victory yesterday over 16 year old Dorothy Campbell, St. Louis, junior champion, at the St. Charles Country club.

Flashing power on the fairways and then accuracy with her short irons, Jeanne took an early lead and never faltered. She was out in 39, only two over woman's par, to go 4 up at the turn, and clinched the title at the 14th.

Miss Campbell was the champion's third easy victim in her title campaign, only Phyllis Otto, Iowa state champion, giving her a tussle when the pair went 20 holes in the quarter-finals. Jeanne started by winning medalist honors with an 81, and marched thru the field.

Snead to Play Tomorrow in Beverly Hills Match

Sam Snead, eliminated in the quarter-finals of the National Professional tournament in Denver yesterday, will compete in a charity golf match in Chicago tomorrow. Snead and Clayton Heafner, Linville, N. C. pro, will be paired against Johnny Bulla and Ned Jamieson of Chicago in an 18 hole best-ball match at the Beverly Country club. The four pros will give shot-making demonstrations before the match which starts at 1:30 o'clock.

Nelson Rallies to Beat Hogan in PGA, 2 Up

two and where Byron matched his four with an eight footer. Nelson pushed his drive to the ninth, and his second wound up on the first tee, and not even a fine chip could tie Hogan's four. Nelson regained that by sending his third to the long 11th two feet from the flag and then they noied putts of six and eight feet for birdies on the 13th. Hogan kept up the birdie pace and went 2 up with an eight foot try on the 14th, and won the 15th after Nelson, with a partial stymie, hit Ben's ball. Nelson was only 1 down after a birdie at the long 17th and nearly got down another with a 35 foot try at the 18th.

Close in Afternoon, Too.

The Hogan-Nelson afternoon round was every bit as warm as its morning predecessor had promised. Nelson was only 14 inches from the 21st hole for the birdie that squared the match. Hogan then hit the 525 yard 23d in two, to go one up again. Both birdied the 25th, Hogan with a 15 footer and Nelson with one from five feet. Hogan missed the 26th green, but Nelson did likewise at the 27th and they were even going into the last nine. Hogan was on the 29th in two, and held his advantage until Nelson dropped a six footer for a birdie on the 34th. Hogan had a bad break on the 35th, where his drive hit a woman spectator's heel and landed in a tree basin. His third shot thereafter landed in the water. Nelson put an end to the battle with a seven foot birdie putt on the 36th.

Results of the quarter-final matches:

Byron Nelson, Toledo, O., defeated Ben Hogan, Hershey, Pa., 2 up.

Gene Sarazen, Brookfield Center, Conn., defeated Denny Shute, Chicago, 7 and 6.

Lloyd Mangrum, Chicago, defeated Sam Snead, Hot Springs, Va., 6, and 4.

Victor Ghezzi, Deal, N. J., defeated Jimmy Hines, Great Neck, N. Y., 8 and 7.

The semi-final pairings:

Nelson vs. Sarazen.
Mangrum vs. Ghezzi.

FIRE FIGHTERS MEET POLICE AT HINES HOSPITAL

The annual baseball game between the city's firemen and policemen will be played today on the Edward Hines hospital grounds at 2:30 o'clock. It will be the ninth meeting between the two teams and will determine an unofficial baseball championship of the fire-fighting and law-enforcing departments.

Managed by Capt. Chester N. Sullivan, the firemen, seeking their eighth victory and seventh straight over the bluecoats since the rivalry began in 1933, are again heavy favorites to retain the title captured last year with a 16 to 11 victory.

Braves, Tobin Hand Cubs a 7 to 2 Beating grabbed the ball but it suddenly jumped out of his glove, disappearing over his head. By the time the embarrassed Phil discovered where the ball had gone the beneficiary of the error was on second. He was bunted to third by Cooney and Sisti moved him home by booming a single into left. Then Gene Moore walked, but neither Miller nor Phil Masi could prolong the disturbance.

Max West led off in the fourth with a two bagger to left and this proved the start of French's finish. Carvell Rowell bunted with a 3 to 0 count and Stan Hack didn't expect such trickery, so it became a base hit. Tobin walked to fill the bases with none out. Hassett popped gently to Sturgeon, but the enemy attack immediately became violent. Cooney lashed a double down the left field line, sending West and Rowell home. Sisti also doubled, Tobin and Cooney scoring. Pressnell took care of the next two batters.

Cavarretta Gets on Base.

As salve for the wounds received in the field, Cavarretta had the pleasure of becoming the second Cub to reach base. He singled after Johnny Hudson had fashioned his second strikeout in the seventh. Nicholson, whose second inning single entitled him to be the lone Cub base runner for six innings, then tripled to right center, Cavarretta scoring. Nicholson scored while Augie Galan was being thrown out.

The Cubs reached the low point in their defensive labors in the eighth. After two were gone Sisti hoisted a fly to right center. Nicholson and Cavarretta put on something resembling a wrestling match, the ball meantime dropping for a two bagger. Page, who had started the inning, promptly loosed a wild pitch on which Sisti moved to third. McCullough located the wild pitch, gave it a terrific heave into left field and Sisti sauntered across the plate with the final run.

DODGERS POUND PAUL DERRINGER; BEAT REDS, 12-2

Lead Cards by 3½ Games; McCormick Hurt.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 11 (AP).—Even Pitcher Curt Davis chipped in with a home run and a single today as the Brooklyn Dodgers, with every man hitting safely, pounded Paul Derringer and three other Cincinnati pitchers for 16 hits and a 12 to 2 triumph.

With the second place St. Louis Cardinals idle, Brooklyn's National league lead was increased to three and a half games.

Dixie Walker opened the Dodgers' first inning with a home run over the right field screen and closed it by grounding out just after Davis had hit for the circuit with two men on base. In between came singles by Billy Herman, Dolph Camilli, Peewee Reese and Mickey Owen, a double by Cookie Lavagetto, and a base on balls.

Frank McCormick had to be taken out of the game in the second inning because of an injury to his left ankle.

Cubs Call on Claude Passeau in Brave Final

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., July 11.—If the Cubs had won today Manager Jimmy Wilson would have pitched one of his second grade marvels tomorrow, thus saving Claude Passeau for Brooklyn. The seventh place Braves, however, are uncomfortably close to the sixth place Chicagoans, so Passeau will conclude the series here.

Manager Wilson's daily lineup alteration involved the benching of Dominic Dallessandro, the shifting from center to left of Augie Galan, and the return of Phil Cavarretta to center field. Lou Stringer's absence from second wasn't due to a managerial hunch. The young man is suffering with a lame back.

The Cubs are touring on the economy plan. With Hank Lieber and Charley Gilbert absent because of injuries, Manager Wilson's command is reduced to 21 men. Two could be added without violating the 25 player limit.

FATHER-SON TOURNEY.

Lincolnshire's annual Father and Son tournament will dominate golf activities today at the south side club.

2 MAJOR PLANE MAKERS REPORT DELIVERIES SOAR

Lockheed and Douglas Set Output Records.

Two major airplane manufacturing companies yesterday reported vastly increased deliveries of military planes during the first half of this year. The companies were the Lockheed Aircraft corporation and Douglas Aircraft Co., Inc.

Lockheed set an all-time production record in the six months ended June 30 with deliveries of planes and parts valued at $56,900,000, surpassing the total deliveries of $44,936,594 for the entire year of 1940, Robert E. Gross, president, announced.

The bulk of this output comprised Hudson bombers for Great Britain and P-38 Lightning interceptors for the army air corps and the British. During the corresponding 1940 period, sales of planes, parts and assemblies totaled $19,268,434. A combined backlog of $420,169,513 was reported for Lockheed and its affiliate, the Vega Airplane company.

Douglas Aircraft company is rapidly stepping up its military plane deliveries with output in June running 30 per cent ahead of May, the company announced. For the first six months of this year the company has delivered 99.23 per cent more planes than in the corresponding period a year ago.

Douglas manufactures no training planes and is concentrating almost entirely on combat craft.

The company's statement provided no data on the number of dollar volume of deliveries, but a comparison of backlog position and new orders indicated that deliveries for the first seven months of its fiscal year to June 30 last, were in the neighborhood of $61,000,000, or more than for the entire fiscal year ended Nov. 30, 1940, when sales aggregated $60,970,000.

The company's current backlog of unfilled orders has climbed sharply in recent weeks with receipt of new orders. Awards this week of $44,857,248 by the war department brought orders for future delivery to a total of approximately $557,000,000. Unfilled orders as of Jan. 1, 1941, amounted to $347,000,000.

BUSINESS BOOKS

The Stock Market, by Charles Amos Dice and Wilford J. Eiteman. [McGraw-Hill Book company, New York, $4.]

The speculative era of the late twenties and its aftermath, followed by government regulation of the security markets, have occurred since the first edition of this work was published in 1926.

Despite the widespread significance of the security markets, there are few thorogoing and simple expositions of how they operate. Now, after 15 years, the authors submit a revised edition which brings to date the changes that have occurred since the silk shirt era.

The new edition describes the markets, the various securities offered the public, and the function and operation of securities trading. For the lay public unfamiliar with La Salle or Wall streets, it suggests how the financial pages of the newspaper can be read intelligently, explains some of the market analysis theories, and describes how stock transactions are conducted.

Rain Damages Garden

July 11, 1941.

A SEVERE early morning rain in the middle of the week wiped out almost one-third of the vegetable garden. Water was standing four to five inches deep in the low sections of the plot, and the gardener does not hold much hope for the plants that were affected.

The big onion stalks were pounded down and the force of the water washed the dirt away, exposing the white bulbs to the hot sun. The potato plants look as tho they will be almost a complete failure this year. First, they were burned by the hot sun, then insects made large inroads on the leaves before the spray was applied, and now the rain has flattened the plants and covered them with water. Some potatoes were dug before the drenching, but it now appears there will be few potatoes for the root cellar or household bins.

Rat Damage Possible.

The carrots, lettuce, and beets were standing in three inches of water that may cause them a great deal of harm. Altho the lettuce and beets were in the process of being harvested, the excess water may soften the vegetables, causing them to rot.

Where the young celery and newly planted sweet corn were beginning to push up their shoots, there was a large, placid lake covered with water bugs skittering happily about on the surface. The corn was washed out of its hills and drowned. Young corn that was fairly well up is starting to turn yellow from the excess moisture and probably will not survive. The celery is a lost cause.

Toward the edges of the lake a few bedraggled tomato plants showed a few inches above the surface of the water. Their leaves were wilted and looked as tho they had been pounded with a hammer. The younger plants were submerged completely and it is doubtful if they will produce any tomatoes after the soil dries out.

Flowers Shattered by Rain.

The pepper plants disappeared beneath the water, and the cabbages poked a few desolate leaves above the surface but looked as tho they had given up the ghost. Some of the flowers that border the vegetable plot were standing in four inches of water, their blooms completely shattered by the driving force of the rain.

Other sections of the plot that stood on relatively high ground survived and seemed the fresher for the storm. The squash are spreading their big leaves and thick stems over the ground in lush growth, and the beets are being gathered for the farm tables.

Nearly all the spinach has been consumed, and the kohlrabi now is being harvested. Peas and beans are available, and the farm residents are getting them as fast as the pods fill out. Where the excess water has had a chance to run off, the vegetables have responded lustily. The vagrant sunflower now stands a good eight feet high.

RATIONING CUTS OUTPUT OF MANY CHICAGO FIRMS

Aluminum Utensil Makers Hard Hit.

Rationing of raw materials, particularly aluminum, has cut off or seriously dislocated the normal operations of many companies in the Chicago area, inquiry disclosed yesterday.

For some factories the only hope of survival, it was said, is the possibility of revamping plants for production of armament items. Companies making or selling aluminum kitchen utensils are among those hardest hit. For several weeks no aluminum kitchenware has been made, no aluminum being available under priority regulations. This utensil industry is running on inventory alone. For most aluminumware makers, the switch to arms production is said to be difficult and costly, if not out of the question.

Fifth of Workers Laid Off.

How lack of aluminum has reduced employment was indicated by a statement made by utensil manufacturers to the Office of Production Management. Thruout the nation, 3,413 aluminum utensil company employés have been laid off or have quit since the metal shortage developed, the OPM was told. That is more than a fifth of the 16,000 workers which the industry employed on an average in 1940. In terms of annual gross sales, the manufacture of aluminum utensils is a 36 million dollar industry, the statement showed.

Other lines of industry also are feeling the effect of the government's various priority and price fixing regulations.

Many salesmen and factory employés of companies which are being slowly strangled are losing jobs, because distributors cannot get products to sell or because manufacturers cannot get materials with which to produce goods.

Chicago Firms Tell Effects.

Among several Chicago makers of cast or sheet aluminum utensils was one which said that, with its production stopped for lack of metal, salesmen are quitting. The company has received a government contract, but production will not be under way on that for a month or two.

"We haven't made a pot or a pan for three weeks," an official of another company said.

Another utensil maker reported that it had cut 300 persons from its nation-wide employment rolls, some of these being salesmen and others factory workers.

One big distributor of aluminumware reported it is still selling utensils, but only from inventory, with no new supplies coming in. Another distributor has closed its main sales office.

Some suppliers of other types of utensils, such as enamelware, heat resisting glass, and steel, are running into raw material difficulties also, several retailers reported.

Car Dealers Still Busy.

With the output of automobiles slated for a more drastic mandatory reduction than had been anticipated, some automobile dealers said it is possible that their sales forces will have to be reduced, although business up to now has been so brisk that they have been kept intact.

Truck companies said they have not replaced salesmen going into the army or quitting. One has reduced its nation-wide sales staff about 50.

Steel companies are keeping their sales forces unchanged, in spite of the fact that steel customers are so eager to buy that little selling activity is necessary. The companies are using the salesmen "as contact men to keep the customers satisfied," it was said.

In various parts of Illinois the effects of the lack of materials needed by numerous types of industries were being felt as early as May, the latest monthly report of the Illinois department of labor disclosed.

Lamp Maker Lets 135 Go.

Here are specific instances reported:

A lamp manufacturer in Chicago which normally employs 175 persons cut its force to 40 because it could not get materials.

In Sterling a maker of wire fencing put 50 workers on an irregular employment schedule because it could not get as much zinc as it needed for galvanizing purposes.

A pipe manufacturer in Cairo laid off 45 employés. The reason was a lack of material needed for processing iron pipe and fittings.

In Waukegan, a producer of outboard motors was reported to be having so much difficulty getting materials that a cut in its employment roll of 850 persons is in prospect.

Road Machinery Held Up.

In Canton, a more than seasonal reduction in number of employés was made by a farm implement maker because raw materials supplies were inadequate.

The labor department said that an Aurora maker of road building and maintenance machinery reported it could use additional workers if it could get all of the welding machinery and materials it needed. But instead of expanding its force, the company has had to lay off some welders, and transfer others to less skilled jobs. The company's plant expansion program also has been delayed because of a lack of materials.

Chicago Stock Exchange Volume Declines in June

The Chicago Stock exchange reported yesterday that dollar volume of transactions on the exchange for June was 9.3 per cent smaller than during May and 19.3 per cent less than June, 1940. Volume last month was $7,821,796.

Michigan to Appeal for Limit of 20% in Cut of Auto Output

Lansing, Mich., July 11 [Special].—Michigan will make a formal appeal, Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner announced today, against too drastic a curb on the automotive industry which made the state one of the greatest mass production centers in the world.

Gov. Van Wagoner.

The governor conferred today with Lieut. Col. Harold A. Furlong, state defense council administrator. He said later that he would write President Roosevelt urging that the curtailment in automotive production of 1942 models be limited to the 20 per cent agreed to by the industry some time ago.

Furlong had presented statistics to show that a proposed immediate reduction of 38 per cent in production of automobiles probably would throw out of work for indeterminate periods 60,000 to 90,000 employés who could not be absorbed for many months by armament industries.

State Would Lose Taxes.

In addition, he said, Michigan's sales tax receipts would be reduced up to $15,000,000 a year if motor car output were slashed as much as 50 per cent, recommended by some highly placed officials helping direct the armament program. This would completely disrupt the financing of state governmental functions, it was emphasized.

"The amount of raw materials available to the industry," Furlong said, "is limited, whether it is for building cars or airplanes. There is bound to be a lag between declining automotive production and mounting airplane production which will result in widespread unemployment if auto production is chopped off too sharply. There is nothing to be gained by that method. Production should be reduced gradually as armament industries gain momentum and are able to absorb automotive employés."

Embodies Thoro Study.

The governor indicated he would forward the defense council's entire report to the President, embodying results of a thoro study of Michigan's industrial situation.

C. C. Carlton, vice president and secretary of the Motor Wheel corporation, supervised the preparation of the report. It estimates that the 20 per cent production curtailment agreed to will eliminate 96,100 jobs in the automotive industry in Michigan and 155,000 thruout the country. It is anticipated, however, that 36,200 of the Michigan workers made idle would be given armament production jobs.

It was predicted that even the 20 per cent reduction "will result in serious unemployment, even if no further reduction is made, because arms projects will not take up the slack fast enough."

PREDICTS 225,000 JOBS

Detroit, Mich., July 11 (AP).—Ward's Reports, Inc., in a survey of armament activities, said today that in the first six months of this year, direct government contracts to the motorcar industry companies aggregated 1 billion 50 million dollars. It said that 260 million dollars in construction had been authorized and nearly all was under way.

The survey said that 225,000 workers will be required by late winter or next spring for the arms production job.

"Today," it said, "it can be said that we are entered on the production phase of the arms program. The mass volume stage is ahead."

SEC EXPLAINS RULE ON WORKER PENSION PLANS

Registration by the Johns-Manville corporation of its new employé pension plan with the Securities and Exchange commission yesterday brought questions from corporation executives as to whether the SEC required all such programs to be registered.

The Chicago office of the SEC explained that under the federal securities law of 1933 any corporation which invites its employés to participate in a pension plan must file informative statements with the SEC, if the plan embraces employés in more than one state and involves aggregate contributions of more than $100,000 a year.

The SEC has construed voluntary pension plans as an offering of an investment security by the company to its employés and, like any other security offering, must be registered. Compulsory plans may be exempt on the ground that participating is a condition of employment and therefore does not constitute an offering of a security, it was explained.

PICK FURNITURE SHOW DATES FOR FALL AND WINTER

Dates for Chicago's fall and winter furniture shows were selected last night by the board of governors of the American Furniture Mart, who also elected officers for the coming year. The annual fall market will be held Nov. 3 to 8, inclusive, and the big two week winter market will be Jan. 5 to 17, inclusive.

Albert Stone, Gardner, Mass., who has been vice chairman, was elected chairman of the board of governors. Harold F. Coffey, Lenoir, N. C., will succeed Stone as vice chairman, and Frank S. Whiting, Chicago, was re-elected secretary.

Attendance at the Furniture Mart's current show now nearing the end of its first week is running about 50 per cent ahead of a year ago, Lawrence H. Whiting, president of the Mart, reported. Attendance at the Merchandise Mart show of home furnishings is averaging 49 per cent ahead of last year, Percy Wilson, managing director, said.

SEEK METHODS FOR PREVENTING INDUSTRY UPSET

New York, July 11 (AP).—The National Association of Manufacturers today began a study of methods of mitigating dislocations of normal peacetime industry, both during the armament effort and in the readjustment period when it is ended.

Thomas B. McCabe, president of the Scott Paper company, Chester, Pa., in announcing his acceptance of the chairmanship of the association's committee on economic policy, said:

"It is not at all improbable that hundreds or thousands of manufacturing plants will be shut down within the year unless they are able to convert their production to defense work."

McCabe succeeded Gen. Robert E. Wood of Chicago as chairman of the committee on economic policy. Gen. Wood's resignation, a committee spokesman said, took place a month ago. Gen. Wood, who remains a member of the committee, said his duties as chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co., and as acting national chairman of the America First committee, prevented his giving adequate time to the position he relinquished.

U. S. to Supply Tin Cans for Portugal's Sardines

LISBON, Portugal, July 11 (AP).—A three way American, British, Portuguese agreement was disclosed here today, whereby the United States will furnish the Portuguese sardine industry with tin plate and Britain will buy three-fourths of the 1941 tinned sardine output. The deal involves approximately $11,600,000, and is said to be one of the largest in the history of the Portuguese sardine industry.

FROZEN SPANISH CASH 'THAWED' ON PLEDGE IT WON'T BE GIVEN AXIS

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—The treasury today lifted freezing restrictions on the estimated $30,000,000 cash and other assets of Spain and its nationals in the United States. They were frozen by President Roosevelt June 14 in an order covering all of continental Europe.

At the time, the President said Spain and certain other countries would be exempted if they promised not to use the exemption to benefit axis powers.

"Spain," the treasury said today, "has given appropriate assurances to this government consistent with the general license and purpose of the executive order of June 14."

AMERICAN MARACAIBO.

I notice that American Maracaibo on the curb is low priced. Can you give me some details on the company?—G. E.

Answer: The American Maracaibo company owns oil wells in Texas, and, thru subsidiaries, concessions on extensive tracts in the Maracaibo basin and in other oil areas of Venezuela and in Colombia.

Capitalization of the company comprises approximately 2 million dollars in funded debt and 1,778,415 shares of $1 par capital stock. A large block of the stock is held by the Pan-American Eastern Petroleum corporation.

The company has had a net loss each year since 1931. The losses in the last five years follow:

1936, $175,914; 1937, $39,615; 1938, $94,716; 1040, $78,473.

The company has reported no dividend on its stock.

HYPOTHECATION.

What is meant by securities being "hypothecated under circumstances that will permit the commingling with securities carried for the account of other customers?"—G. D. Q.

Answer: When brokers obtain bank loans to finance margin transactions of their customers they usually obtain the customers' consent to pledge the securities in margin accounts as collateral for the loans. The written permission which the brokers obtain allows them to combine the securities of several customers as collateral for a bank loan. Hypothecation refers simply to the pledging of securities as collateral for a loan.

SPORTING GOODS.

I have been told the sporting goods stores of Von Lengerke & Detmold of New York and Von Lengerke & Antoine of Chicago are owned by a New York firm. What is the name of this concern?—R. W.

Answer: The sporting goods stores are subsidiaries of Abercrombie & Fitch company, New York. It also owns a third store, Griffin & Howe, in New York. The stores handle a wide line of quality sporting materials, as well as sports clothing, porch and garden furniture, playground apparatus, games, toys, cutlery, glassware, and related items.

NEW PROCESS.

What is the business of the New Process company whose stock is on the curb?—J. T.

Answer: From headquarters in Warren, Pa., the company sells clothing, luggage, blankets and related goods by mail on a nation-wide basis.

ADD 5 MILLIONS TO CONTINENTAL BANK'S SURPLUS

Directors Declare $2 Dividend.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Directors of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company yesterday voted to add $5,000,000 to the bank's surplus and pay a dividend of $2 a share to stockholders. The dividend, which will be paid Aug. 1, will total $3,000,000.

The addition to surplus, the sixth increase made since the end of 1938, raises surplus to $45,000,000 and brings the combined common capital and surplus to $95,000,000. It was forecast that the bank would probably make a further increase of $5,000,000 in surplus before the end of 1941. This would make a combined capital and surplus of $100,000,000, an objective of the management for several years.

Approaches Desired Ratio.

With 100 million dollars of capital funds the bank would more nearly approach the capital deposit ratio which the national banking authorities have urged in recent years. A 1 to 10 ratio has been suggested as desirable. Actually, few banks approach this ratio because of the tremendous growth in deposits that has occurred in recent years. The Continental reported deposits of more than 1,600 million dollars on June 30.

The semiannual statement of the bank, issued earlier, had shown indicated earnings for the first six months of 1941 were $7,682,000, equal to $5.12 a share, compared with indicated earnings of $8,126,687 in the first half of the preceding year.

The dividend voted by the directors, which will be paid to stockholders of record on July 19, is at the same rate that has been in effect since the beginning of 1940. The bank distributed $4 a share in 1940, $3 in 1939, and $2 in each of the three preceding years.

Hint of Larger Dividends.

With the bank approaching its $100,000,000 capital and surplus objective, stockholders may be in line for larger dividends next year, it is believed in financial quarters.

When the Continental reorganized in 1934 and became a national bank its surplus totaled $10,000,000. This has been increased thru successive additions from earnings. Out of earnings the bank also retired the $50,000,000 of preferred stock issued in 1934. The last of the old preferred was redeemed Dec. 1, 1939. At the same time that the preferred stock was retired the common capitalization was increased from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000.

Walter J. Cummings, chairman, announced the steps taken yesterday after the regular meeting of the board.

RAILROAD WAGE MEETINGS START HERE ON JULY 24

Negotiations between the railroads and the brotherhoods over wage increases and changes in rules and working arrangments will start in Chicago on July 24. More than 1,000,000 railroad workers are involved and the railroads estimate that the wage demands would add $900,000,000 annually to their operating costs.

The first meeting will take place between representatives of the railroads and the five operating brotherhoods. On July 25 the roads will meet with representatives of 14 non-operating unions. Thereafter the railroad representatives will meet with the two groups of unions on alternate days. It is expected the meetings will be held in the Union Station.

The operating unions are asking 30 per cent wage increases and the non-operating unions are asking boosts of 30 cents an hour. The railroads are seeking to revise rules and working conditions which would abolish the "featherbed make-work" rules under which workers are paid for work they do not do or are paid a day's pay or more for trivial jobs.

Whitney to Become Farm Boss After Sing Sing Exit

Boston, Mass., July 11 [Special].—Richard Whitney, former president of the New York Stock exchange, who is to leave Sing Sing prison on parole on Aug. 11, will become manager of the farm estate at Barnstable, on the north side of Cape Cod, owned by former Lieut. Gov. Gaspar G. Bacon, it was disclosed tonight. Whitney will have served the minimum term of three years and four months of his five to ten year sentence for stealing funds entrusted in his care.

Aurora, Elgin Line Will Get Ten New Cars

The Chicago Aurora and Elgin railroad received authority from Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday to buy 10 new interurban passenger cars, each equipped with motors, to cost a total of $400,000. Delivery is to be made by Aug. 1, 1942, unless the arms program interferes.

Col. A. A. Sprague and Bernard J. Fallon, receivers for the road, entered into a novel purchase arrangement. They signed a contract renting the new equipment from Lester S. Cain, representing the La Salle National Bank of Chicago, who in turn will have the cars built by the St. Louis Car company.

Rates of Payments.

Rental payments will be at the rate of $6,500 a month for the year in which the cars are being built and $8,000 a month after delivery. When the full amount due is paid title to the cars will pass to the railroad. Equipment trust certificates, which will be issued by the trustee, will bear 4 per cent interest. A down payment of $90,000 is required, payable out of the equipment depreciation reserve of the road.

Faced with the need of new equipment, the receivers sought for several months to buy cars, but lacking a credit rating, were unable to obtain loans or sell securities in the open market. The renting plan was finally devised, but the road is getting only a half the equipment it wants.

Will Use High Tensile Steel.

The new cars will be built of high tensile strength steel. They will have a free running speed of 70 miles an hour and will be able to receive their power either from overhead wires or third rail. The maximum weight will be 75,000 pounds.

With the exception of eight used steel cars purchased since it went into receivership and some cars leased from the North Shore, the Aurora and Elgin has added no passenger equipment since 1927 when it bought 15 new steel cars.

NEW READING COAL PLAN IS GIVEN TO COURT

Philadelphia, Pa., July 11 (AP).—A new plan for reorganization of the Reading Coal and Iron company under section 77B of the bankruptcy act was submitted today to United States district court by three of four committees named to revamp the firm's financial structure. The plan provides a reduction of nearly $50,000,000 in the present capital.

The groups joining in today's petition to the court also asked that a plan presented to the court in April, 1939, be scrapped. All four committees had agreed to that plan.

The New York bondholders' committe, represented by Arthur Garfield Hayes, did not participate in the new plan. It was reported this group was dissatisfied with a proposed method of distributing securities. The New York group is expected to file its own plan later.

The new plan gives holders of $1,000 refunding bonds $100 in cash, $300 of new income bonds, and 30 shares of the new common stock. Holders of $1,000 debenture bonds get $110 in income bonds and 11 shares of common stock.

MORE ILLINOIS CONCERNS GET ARMY AWARDS

Award of contracts totaling several million dollars to companies in Illinois was announced yesterday by the war department.

The largest of the orders, for $2,526,700 of cartridges, was placed with Western Cartridge company, of East Alton. International Register company, Chicago, received a contract to make $1,593,700 of shells. Fuses costing $901,529 were ordered from Chicago Flexible Shaft company.

Other companies receiving orders were the Superior Sleeprite corporation, Chicago, bedsteads, $313,000, and Harris-Hub Bed and Spring company, Cicero, folding cots, $256,750.

JONES BEGINS DEFENSE SAVINGS AT 10c, ENDS WITH A $10,000 BOND

Washington, D. C., July 11 [Special].—Jesse H. Jones, secretary of commerce and federal loan administrator, started his support of the national defense savings campaign by buying a 10 cent stamp, it was disclosed today. He also bought stamps and bonds of each denomination, ending with a $10,000 bond. Jones is a millionaire in his own right as well as the biggest disburser of United States funds.

Meanwhile, the treasury announced that plans have been made for voluntary participation of more than 1,251,000 federal employés in the national defense savings campaign. Employés on each pay day will purchase a designated amount of defense savings bonds or stamps thru the means of pledge cards which have been distributed to them.

Miners Taxed $1 to Build Up Big Union Fund

Washington, D. C., July 11 [Special].—The United Mine Workers' Journal disclosed today that a special $1 assessment has been levied on members of the CIO union, payable 50 cents each in July and August, to increase a union war chest already containing more than $3,000,000. The stated purpose was to bring the war chest to such a point that "no enemy will dare attack us to take away the gains we have already achieved for our membership."

It was estimated that the assessment would provide approximately $400,000, as not all of the UMW's claimed 600,000 members will be working enough days a month to be required to pay it.

Long Shutdown Cuts Fund.

The last detailed financial report of the union, as of Dec. 1, 1940, showed a treasury balance of $3,418,000, but the expensive month long shutdown of the Appalachian bituminous mines in April redueed this total.

The assessment, ordered by the UMW executive board on June 25 but not revealed publicly until today, was described by officials as a defensive measure regarded essential by the union's leaders, John L. Lewis, Philip Murray, and Thomas Kennedy, to avoid a repetition of the union's decline after the World war.

Statement to Members.

"While the trend of the times indicates wage increases and the rise of commodity prices, every economist is of the opinion that the pendulum in due time, following the national emergency, will move in the opposite direction," said an official circular to the membership.

"If you take a page from our own history following the World war you will find that the United Mine Workers of America was compelled to fight in every coal district in this country to protect its wage standards in the face of falling prices and wages. Very costly strikes were engaged in after the last war and the finances of our organization were dissipated as a result of those troublesome times."

MEAT PACKER, RAILROAD FINED FOR RATE DEAL

Wausau, Wis., July 11 (AP).—The Milwaukee railroad and Armour & Co., Chicago meat packer, were fined $3,000 each by Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone today after pleading guilty of violating regulations of the Interstate Commerce commission.

The court was informed that the violations occurred in this manner:

Armour & Co., which recently took over the Carroll Packing company at Prairie du Chien, would ask the railroad for double deck live stock cars. The railroad, reporting that double deckers were not available, would supply two single deck cars.

Under this arrangement, the court was told, the packing company saved $3,400 in freight charges. It was forced to reimburse the railroad.

AGREE ON LAKE SHIPYARDS PACT; BIG AUTO WORKER TIEUP ENDED

Settle Strike That Forced 40,000 Men Into Idleness.

Detroit, Mich., July 11 (AP). — A United Automobile Workers [CIO] strike at the National Automotive Fibres, Inc., plant, which had closed departments in Chrysler corporation and Briggs Manufacturing company and left an estimated 40,000 men idle, was settled tonight. Federal Conciliator James F. Dewey, who announced the agreement, said it was subject to ratification by a union membership meeting scheduled for Sunday. Terms of the settlement were not announced.

The strike, called July 1, gradually forced the closing of Chrysler units, with the Briggs and Plymouth plants affected today. The Fibres company manufactures upholstery for automobiles. Dewey said if the agreement was ratified the plants probably would reopen Monday.

The union had demanded increased wages when the present contract expires Aug. 1.

OTHER STRIKE NEWS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Sealed Power corporation at Muskegon, Mich., whose three plants have been closed since Tuesday by a strike of AFL-United Automobile Workers, charged yesterday the union had blocked shipment of finished piston rings needed at the Brooklyn navy yard.

Paul C. Johnson, company vice president, said the navy had asked—thru the company—release of the piston rings but that the union rejected it. Earl Falconer, president of the UAW local, acknowledged receipt of the request via the company but said the navy had made no direct appeal to the union.

The union is demanding that Sealed Power grant wage increases and a union shop contract. Wage scales were not disclosed.

Auto Line Is Closed Down.

At Toledo, Joseph Fraser, president of the Willys-Overland company, said his firm's automobile line had been closed for two days due to lack of pistons supplied by Sealed Power, but that the army reconnaisance car assembly line was still in production, and that arrangements for additional pistons for them had been arranged.

At the Keasbey and Mattison company's asbestos manufacturing plant at Ambler, Pa., where United States marines twice crossed picket lines to remove navy materiel, 1,000 workers voted unanimously to end a 16-day-old strike. The workers, members of the AFL Textile Workers and Teamsters unions, will receive wage increases from 5 to 17½ cents an hour.

Fail to Reach Accord.

Defense mediation board officials at Washington said that efforts to reach an agreement between the Federal Shipbuilding corporation of Kearny, N. J., and a CIO union had failed in direct negotiations and the company and union delegations had returned to their homes. The board panel considering the case will reconvene early next week, officials said, to prepare recommendations for settlement of the dispute. About 16,000 workers are involved.

The labor board approved a plan under which the issue of representation for the 21,000 employés in six Youngstown Sheet and Tube company plants will be determined by comparing the company's pay rolls and the dues paying memberships in the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee [CIO].

Plan Seeks to Keep Labor Peace; Pay Boosts Provided.

Walter T. Fisher, chairman of wage conference.

An agreement for stabilizing labor and raising wages in the shipbuilding industry on the Great Lakes was approved yesterday by delegates to the Great Lakes shipbuilding and repair stabilization conference in the Morrison hotel. The plan is subject to ratification by the participating government agencies, shipbuilders, and labor unions.

The agreement provides for an hourly wage of $1.12 for first class standard skilled mechanics. This compares with the current average of $1 an hour. Other hourly paid employés are to receive corresponding percentage increases in pay. Overtime rates are set at time and a half, with double pay for Sundays and holidays.

Bar Strikes or Lockouts.

Aiming at industrial peace, the conference adopted the provision that there shall be no employers' lockouts or employés' strikes.

Adjustment machinery and arbitration for complaints and disputes are established. The agreement calls for a training program to insure an adequate labor supply. Adjustment of wages after a year to coincide with advances in living costs is provided.

An estimated 5,000 shipyard workers in the Great Lakes zone will be affected should the plan go into effect. If ratified, the standards will become effective retroactively to June 2 and will be in force for a year.

Approval Seen Certain.

Walter T. Fisher, Chicago attorney, who was requested by the Office of Production Management to act as chairman of the conference, said he was "optimistic and certain" the agreement would be ratified without delay.

Under arrangements made in Washington by various labor unions, the conference negotiations were conducted by American Federation of Labor representatives.

The conference was called by the shipbuilding stabilization committee of OPM and had been in session in Chicago since June 30. Similar agreements already have been drafted for the Pacific coast, Atlantic coast, and Gulf coast regions.

OPM CONCILIATOR WILL TRY TO END CAR FIRM STRIKE

Maj. James P. Holmes of the Office of Production Management conciliation service has been assigned to try to settle the strike which interrupted production Thursday at the American Car and Foundry, 2417 South Paulina street, CIO officials said yesterday.

The strike, involving about 1,000 employés, was called by local 805 of the United Automobile Workers of America to enforce demands that the piecework rate be changed, union spokesmen said. Ed Hall, UAW international representative for Chicago, said that he had received a wire from Dr. John R. Steelman, commissioner of conciliation, saying that Maj. Holmes would arrive today.

The union, which signed a contract with the company in March, demanded changes enabling workers in various classifications to earn $7.92 to $9.18 a day. They said the company refused to put on enough men to turn out cars fast enough so workers could make this scale.

FARM MACHINERY STOCKS RISE IN UNEVEN MARKET

Steels, Motors and Plane Shares End Lower.

New York, July 11 (AP).—Specialties, led by farm implement shares, moved upward in today's stock market while most leaders suffered from neglect.

Prices were irregular thruout the session. Advances outnumbered declines at the close, but most steels, motors, coppers, rubbers, and aircrafts were off minor amounts.

A handful of favorites finished with advances of 1 to more than 3 points but for the list as a whole fractional variations were the rule.

Tax Doubts Revived.

Part of the selling was attributed to reports of an intensified Nazi drive in Russia. Tax doubts also revived as a clouding influence when Presidential requests to congress for additional appropriations in the last two days aggregated some $ billion dollars.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks managed to hold a net advance of .1 of a point at 43. Transfers amounted to 806,525 shares, compared with 838,095 yesterday.

New 1941 tops were posted for J. I. Case, International Harvester, Deere, Oliver Farm, Western Union, Chicago Great Western preferred, International Paper, Savage Arms, Pepsi-Cola, Warner Brothers, Pathe, and United Rubber preferred.

CHICAGO LIST HIGHER.

Two new highs for 1941 were reached on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Prices continued upward on transfers of 28,000 shares. Of 90 issues traded, 43 advanced, 24 declined, and 23 closed unchanged.

The new peaks were set by Raytheon Manufacturing common and preferred at 2½ and 1½, respectively.

The following dually listed stocks showed changes from the New York exchange close-in trading from 2 to 2:30 o'clock, when only 860 shares were transferred:

HOG PRICES FALL FOR FIRST TIME IN ELEVEN DAYS

Break Is Associated with Lard Market Dip.

The market for hogs declined yesterday for the first time in 11 days, losing 10 to 25 cents of its recent rapid advances. The break was attributed indirectly to the official threat of a price ceiling on cottonseed oil which has caused price declines in the lard markets and resulted in an unsatisfactory "cut-out" in hogs for the processor.

Prices for the session averaged 15 cents lower, at $10.75 a hundred pounds, but this price still showed a gain of 40 cents compared with last week's close.

Top loads fell 15 cents in value, to $11.35, and compared with $10.85 a week ago and with $6.85 a year ago.

Packers bought the lamb supply on a steady to 15 cents lower basis, giving $11.85 a hundredweight for top range stock from Washington.

There was a brisk demand for steers and yearlings at stronger prices, with some sales showing 10 to 15 cents advance. Strong markets also prevailed for most heifers, bulls and calves. Beef cows, canners and cutters were steady.

TVA FUNDS BILL AWAITS ACTION BY PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—Only President Roosevelt's signature was lacking today to release a $40,000,000 appropriation for a Tennessee Valley authority construction program. Congressional action was completed yesterday when the house accepted two minor senate amendments.

The money will be used to start a $51,000,000 development which will include two new hydro-electric dams and two storage dams on the Hiwassee river and its tributaries in North Carolina and Tennessee. The dams will provide 117,000 kilowatts of continuous current, most of which will be used by the Aluminum Company of America at Alcoa, Tenn.
